CHARTER GOOD, SENATORS TOLD BY STETTINIUS

Supporters First on Hearing List

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 9 — With an admission that the plan cannot be expected infallibly to abolish war but with confidence that it is an effective step toward maintenance of peace former State Secretary Stettinius today inaugurated the hearings by the senate foreign relations committee on the charter of the new league of nations produced by the San Francisco conference.

The handsome, ruddy faced, white haired chairman of the American delegation to the San Francisco conference, whom President Truman has appointed American representative in the peace league, received a tremendous ovation when he appeared before the committee in the jammed senate caucus room. He read a 6,000 word statement explaining the provisions of the peace league charter and submitted a 265 page volume containing the American delegation's report to the President on the deliberations of the conference.

Hull Hails Results

The appearance of the former state secretary opened the presentation of testimony favoring ratification of the charter by the senate which will continue another day or two. The numerous opponents of the charter will present their views. After a senate debate lasting possibly three weeks the charter will be ratified the latter part of August, Sen. Connally [D., Tex.] chairman of the committee, predicts, with fewer than 10 votes against it.

Former State Secretary Hull, one of the chief architects of the charter tho he was too ill to go to San Francisco, sent a statement hailing the results of the conference as epochal. Sen. Connally read the statement to the committee and pronounced Hull one who "will always be looked to as a great figure in the world peace and a great statesman."

Praises Stettinius

As Stettinius, who was not questioned by the committee, stepped from the witness chair, Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] said the former secretary "made a brilliant record" at San Francisco and "deserves the respect of the country."

Committee members and other senators displayed a lively interest in the power of the United States to withdraw from the league, in case of necessity, during a technical explanation of the charter by Leo Pasvolsky, state department adviser.

Sen. Vandenberg gave his assurance that the United States may withdraw at will, but would be expected to make public its reason, and said the only penalty would be adverse public opinion if the reason did not satisfy the rest of the world.

Withdrawal Possible

The charter is silent on the right of withdrawal, but Pasvolsky said the organization has no intention of preventing withdrawals.

"Wasn't mention of withdrawal

Truman Two Days at Sea on Berlin Trip

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP)—President Truman today was two days out of Newport News, Va., headed for Europe and the Big Three conference.

Mr. Truman left Saturday aboard ship. He was accompanied by a group of advisers, including Secretary of State Byrnes.

He will meet Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill in the Potsdam area, near Berlin, for their discussion at an unstated date.

Prepare 'Little White House'

Preparations neared completion for the President's arrival at the "Little White House" in the Potsdam area. A network of cables and wires was set up by American army signal experts to enable the President to keep in touch with Washington during the meeting.

Additional American and British sentries were stationed in the area and guards from elite Red army regiments were increasingly in evidence.

In London, a foreign office spokesman said it was pretty likely that Mr. Truman would visit London after the Big Three meeting. "He will stop on his way back to America, I suppose," the spokesman said.

Altho Mr. Truman is absent from the United States, he still functions as President. When a cabinet officer leaves Washington, his second in command becomes acting secretary, but this is not true in the case of the President.

Bid by Parliament Seen

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 9 — If President Truman comes to London while parliament is in session he probably will be invited to address a joint assembly of the houses of lords and commons in the royal gallery of parliament building, political sources said tonight. Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts of South Africa and Prime Minister King of Canada have spoken at such an assembly but there is no precedent for an invitation to a foreign statesman to address parliament. The state opening of the new parliament takes place Aug. 8.

Churchill Paints and Golfs

MADRID, July 9 [Reuters]—Prime Minister Churchill, who is staying at the Chateau de Bordaberry near Hendaye, France, rested today, but he devoted some time to painting and playing golf, said a Spanish news agency. He received no visitors.

The agency asserted Churchill would not cross the frontier to visit San Sebastian, Spain. Mrs. Churchill will make the trip.

SIXTY-FOUR DOLLAR QUESTION

BABY BOY VANISHES AFTER WOMAN AGREES TO KEEP HIM 2 DAYS

North av. police last night were investigating the disappearance of William Lee Arnold, 17 months old, who was taken from his home at 1246 N. Bell av. last Friday night by a woman stranger. She gave her name as Mrs. Richard McDonald and her address as 106 Sheridan rd. —a nonexistent number.

The child's mother, Mrs. Velma Arnold, met the woman last Friday evening while going to work as a "26" girl at a Clark st. tavern. The woman volunteered to take Billie for two days. Mrs. Arnold wrote a note authorizing this and two hours later, the woman, dressed almost entirely in black and accompanied by a man, presented the note to Mrs. Arnold's mother, Mrs. Frances Mefford, and was given the child.

She promised to return the boy Sunday but didn't. Police have found a witness who saw the woman, child, and a soldier at an amusement park Sunday night. Mrs. Arnold, now 21, was a child bride, having married at 13. She came to Chicago from Springfield, Ill., six weeks ago after separating from her husband, Kelly Arnold, a painting contractor. Her mother joined her here later.

BRITISH WOMEN RALLY TO 'QUEUE BUSTING' DRIVE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 9—British housewives pushed ahead today with their campaign against waiting in line to make purchases. Mrs. J. H. Lovelock, wife of the vicar of Holy Trinity church in the south London suburb of Selhurst, continued to spearhead the attack by circulating a petition of protest.

Mrs. Lovelock, who opened the "queue busting" movement last week, said she had obtained hundreds of signatures to her petition which complains against a distribution system which makes it necessary to stand in line for two or three hours daily to obtain food, shoes, clothing, and nearly everything else that housewives buy. The petition will be presented to parliament, the ministry of food and local authorities.

Mrs. Lovelock said she had received letters from all over London asking how to start similar movements and in Neasden, a northwest London suburb, Mrs. Ignatz Landau, a minister's wife, was consulting with church leaders with a view to supporting the campaign.

Lady of Liege Probes Past of GI Wooer

St. Louis, Mo., July 9 (AP)—A Belgian mother whose daughter, an only child, is in love with a St. Louis soldier, has written the mayor of St. Louis for information about the boy's family.

Mayor A. P. Kaufmann said today he had received a letter addressed "To the Burgermaster of the Town of Sint Lewis," written in French and signed "Mme. J. Olivier" of Liege, Belgium.

The letter said the soldier's parents were a Mr. and Mrs. Baker who live on Minnesota av. The mayor's assistants said they had located a Baker family at a Minnesota av. address who have a son, Sgt. William M. Baker, in Europe.

A Tender Affection

Mrs. Baker said her son had not written of the romance, but that she believed the letter referred to her son.

The letter to the mayor explained: "We have been receiving the son of this family in our home for several months and a tender affection has developed between my young daughter and this soldier.

"Since we have only this one child, we would like to be sure of her well-being and to know to whom we are entrusting her care.

"This soldier has left for Germany, but he continues to return on leave to our home and this week he has asked for our daughter in marriage.

Young People Anxious

"Evidently she is going to accept, but she is young and does not consider that we know nothing of his antecedents. So we have thought of you, Sir, hoping you will be able to give us this information as soon as possible, if you please, as you understand that our young people are anxious. My daughter is 20, and he is 23."

Sgt. Baker is 23. "I'll write the mother right away and tell her it's all right," his mother said. "My boy is a good boy. He's due to come home soon and it looks like he'll bring a bride."

Wants to Be Mr. Truman —Court Turns Him Down

St. Louis, Mo., July 9 (AP)—Martin Weisenberg may change his name but Circuit Judge Edward M. Ruddy can see no reason why he should choose the name of the President of the United States. In denying Weisenberg's petition to call himself Martin Truman, Judge Ruddy advised him to take a name "not so prominent in public life." Weisenberg, who explained his choice reflected his admiration for the President, said he hadn't decided on another name.

MANY FEARED DEAD IN MUNITIONS DUMP BLAST AT DUNKERQUE

PARIS, June 9 [Reuters]—Explosions were still taking place at a late hour this evening at the large munitions dump in the center of Dunkerque which first exploded this afternoon. Wreckage was falling over a wide area, including the port and railway station. Piles of debris were being thrown into the air and covering the town with a huge pall of smoke.

The Jean Bart barracks, recently repaired after the damage done during the German occupation, were wrecked and many lives are feared to have been lost.

It is known that at least 30 civilians and 80 German prisoners and their guards were working in the barracks and it is believed few escaped.

MOSQUITOES CUT 83 PCT.; MALARIA DANGER LINGERS

The birth rate among mosquitoes has fallen 83 per cent in the last three weeks, but danger still lurks in back yard and rock garden pools, J. Lyell Clarke, sanitary engineer of the Des Plaines valley mosquito abatement district, said yesterday.

These pools, unless stocked with fish, present excellent breeding ground for mosquitoes. The anopheles, or malaria carrying mosquito family, needs only to bite a service man who has suffered from malaria, to become a carrier of the disease, Clarke said. He suggests fish be put in the pools to eat the mosquito larvae.

The presence of more malaria victims with the return of service men from the South Pacific has increased the menace of the mosquitoes, Clarke said. He urged residents to take every precaution that water pools do not become breeding places. Clarke is conducting experiments with dichloro-diphenyltrichlorethane, DDT, a powerful insecticide, to check its effectiveness on mosquitoes.

All Overseas Under ½ Year Going Across

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP)—The army ordered today that all personnel who have less than six months' overseas service be given foreign assignments if they are qualified and can be replaced in their present tasks.

Returning veterans will step into their places as fast as the program can be carried out. The order called for their replacement by May 1, 1946.

The announcement said that while all physically qualified male military personnel are affected, "special emphasis" will be placed on those under 35.

Some Specifically Exempt

A war department order to ground, service, and air forces said that as rapidly as possible all operating jobs in the United States are to be filled by returnees, civilians, personnel physically disqualified for overseas service, over-age personnel, female military personnel, and those specifically exempt. Service in Canada and Alaska is rated as overseas service.

Men not included in the order are special groups specifically exempted by the war department; enlisted men over 38 unless they request overseas assignment in writing; physically disqualified officers and enlisted men, and those covered by the policy exempting members of families from which two or more persons have been killed, prisoners, or lost.

Follows Truman Order

The army said the order is in line with the statement of President Truman in his message to congress that "it is our plan that every physically fit soldier in the United States who has not yet served overseas be assigned to foreign duty when he completes his training or, if he is fulfilling an essential administrative or service job, as soon as he can be replaced by a returning veteran.

In June the army had a total of about 8,300,000 of which 5,500,000 were overseas.

Of the 2,800,000 in the United States, 1,300,000 already had been marked for overseas duty and put into training. About 200,000 were in army hospitals. The remaining 1,355,000 were in administrative or service jobs, with 750,000 of this group designated for limited service.

YANK REJECTS OFFER OF HOME FOR YOUNG SON

Master Sgt. Floyd Pittard said last night in his home in Aurora that any offers to provide a home for his motherless son will be refused. He made the statement after receiving a proposal from Capt. and Mrs. Paul W. Perry of Bakersfield, Cal., offering a home to 26 month old Floyd Jr., whose mother died June 19. Because of her death, Pittard was granted an emergency 30 day furlough from duty in the Philippines.

"He's my son and I intend to keep him," Pittard said. He added that he had made no definite arrangements for his son's care, but hoped to keep him in Aurora after he reports to Fort Sheridan upon completing his furlough.

The Perrys sent their offer after seeing a wirephoto of the boy.

NIMITZ NAMES 26 SHIPS IN SURPRISE RAID ON JAPS

VICTORY WITHIN YEAR PREDICTED BY ADM. BARBEY

M'Arthur: 'Late 1946'

LONDON, July 9 [Reuters]—Gen. MacArthur thinks the war in the far east will be over toward the end of next year, said Air Vice Marshal H. V. Satterly on his return to England today by air from the Philippine Islands.

"I think Gen. MacArthur is an extremely fine man, who looks much younger than his years," he added. "He is the most impressive American I have met."

San Francisco, Cal., July 9 (AP)—Vice Adm. Daniel E. Barbey, who has directed 56 amphibious landings—more than any other man in the world—said today American forces "can land anywhere in the world," and predicted victory over Japan by next summer.

Vice Adm. Barbey.

"Whenever we choose to land, we can land anywhere on Japan or China," said the commander of the 7th amphibious force, known as Uncle Dan.

Barbey, who has put MacArthur's troops ashore all the way from New Guinea to the Philippines and Borneo, arrived by air today from Manila. He is going to Washington for conferences.

Can Win in Year

The 56 year old admiral told a press conference "we can get 'em ashore," and win final victory in a year's time.

Recognized as one of the founders of modern amphibious methods, he has landed more than a million men and 1,500,000 tons of cargo as Gen. MacArthur's amphibious officer.

"The kamikaze suicide attacks are serious," he said. "Anything is serious in war that causes damage. They have damaged our ships and killed our men. Altho they have hurt us, the question is whether we haven't hurt their air force more.

Naval Power Astounding

"No loss we have suffered to date has been commensurate with our gains, nor have the kamikazes delayed us one day."

"The tremendous naval power of the United States in the Pacific is astounding," he said.

"Japan is a pretty big place and so is the coast of China," he went on. "We are on the offensive—we can choose our spot to land. It's impossible for the defenders to be strong everywhere."

Barbey laughingly recalled the D-day incident at Balikpapan when Japanese snipers fired at him and Gen. MacArthur.

"The navy beat the army to the foxhole," he said. "I jumped in but Gen. MacArthur stayed upright." He said the general has great personal courage.

2,000 Aircraft Sent Over Islands in Single Day

GUAM, July 10 (Tuesday) (AP)—Nearly two thousand American planes, ranging from B-29s to naval carrier planes and Mustang fighters, piled destruction on the Japanese homeland today, the greatest single day air assault of the Pacific war.

Virtually all land-based air forces in the western Pacific collaborated in preparing the way for a surprise 1,000 plane dawn raid on Tokyo by the fast carrier force of the 3d fleet, which steamed close to the home island to launch an attack that is still in progress.

Reporters radioed from the fleet that the assault was continuing into its ninth hour and that not a single Japanese plane had been sighted. They said targets were 80 air fields.

Up to 550 Super Fortresses opened the attacks with 3,500 tons of fire and demolition bombs hurled on five cities. The B-29 strikes carried as far north as Sendai, 180 miles north of Tokyo.

Mustangs Hit Tokyo

The army's Iwo based Mustangs made their fifth strike at Tokyo area air fields in six days on Monday, pinning down Japanese search planes. Other forces of Corsairs, Mitchells, and Thunderbolts swept over the southern home islands and ranged as far as the Yellow sea. Also in preparation for the strike, Gen. MacArthur's 5th air force Mustangs from Okinawa hammered at Kyushu Island air fields.

When Adm. Nimitz released his daily bulletin the navy planes were still over Tokyo. They achieved complete surprise, the admiral said. He shattered precedent by naming 16 of the ships and 10 of their admirals.

Adm. McCain Commands

Vice Adm. McCain is in command of the fast carrier force, the first to strike Tokyo since 5th fleet planes under Adm. Spruance and Vice Adm. Mitscher scored what Nimitz called a "decisive victory" over the enemy capital Feb. 16 and 17 and 25.

Nimitz named these flag officers in command of units of the fleet:

Rear Adm. J. F. Shafroth, Rear Adm. O. C. Badger, Rear Adm. L. E. Denfeld, Rear Adm. J. C. Jones, Rear Adm. L. J. Wiltse, Rear Adm. G. F. Bogan, Rear Adm. A. W. Radford of Chicago, and Rear Adm. T. L. Sprague.

Ships named as participating include:

Carriers: Lexington, Essex, Independence, and San Jacinto.

Urges Britain Keep Pledge; Fight Japs

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 9—A demand that Great Britain start fulfilling its pledge of full support to the United States in the fight against Japan was made in the house today by Rep. Allen [D., La.].

"We all know of Britain's promise to fight the Pacific war to the limit," Allen told the house. "But I have looked in vain for reports that a single British foot soldier has landed in the Pacific area.

"It is time for President Truman and the American people to demand the fulfillment of the promise made by Prime Minister Churchill that England would do its part in fighting Japan."

English Paper Critical

The congressman noted that even the London Times, influential British daily, warned yesterday that "the time has come to make amends" for the lack of effort in the Pacific war.

Allen's remarks also recalled the offer of Churchill to the late President Roosevelt to make a written pact pledging England to help fight the Pacific battle until final victory over Japan. Churchill publicly reported that Mr. Roosevelt rejected the offer of a written promise, but that Roosevelt said the prime minister's word was enough.

Says British Willing

Rep. Engel [R., Mich.] told the house that, while he was not defending England's position, he believes the British are anxious and willing to do their part in the Pacific. Gen. Marshall, army chief of staff, Engel added, recently told the house appropriations army subcommittee that Britain is expected to give its full support against Japan.

uel N. Moore, John Schroeder, Cogswell, Heerman, Southerland, Ault, John W. Weeks, Colohan, Wedderburn, Rowe, Caperton, and Frank Knox.

Japan's dwindling air force and her air field installations were priority targets for the Hellcat strafers and the Avenger and Helldiver bombers that ripped into the Tokyo area at dawn.

Since they lost more than 4,000 planes in futile support of their Okinawa garrison, the Japanese probably have pulled back most of their available planes into bases on Honshu and possibly as far north as Hokkaido, northernmost of the major home islands.

The Kanto plain area around Tokyo, however, is the site of Japan's greatest single concentration of air fields and aircraft installations.

Nimitz' bulletin disclosed for the first time that Liberator heavy bombers of the army's tactical air force also were operating over the Japanese islands, where yesterday they bombed Omura air field on Kyushu, starting large fires. Thunderbolt fighters of the some force shot down 10 Japanese training planes as they escorted the Liberator mission.

B-29s Hit Five Cities

The Super Fortresses rained fire bombs on four Japanese cities and rocked a fifth with high explosives on the longest mission of the war. The cities are:

Sendai, largest city of northeastern Japan, 180 miles north of Tokyo.

Yokkaichi, oil refining center east of Osaka and the center of the largest Japanese plan still turning out aviation gasoline.

Sakai, industrial suburb of Osaka, Japan's second city.

Sendai, Gifu, Wakayama, and Sakai were hit by incendiary bombs. It was the first fire raid for each. Returning B-29 crews reported excellent results over all targets except one. One B-29 was lost but its crew was saved.

The raiders who took on Sendai made the longest mission of the war, a round trip of 3,960 miles from Marianas bases. The farthest north the big bombers previously had traveled was Koriyama, 110 miles north of the Japanese capital.

Site of Radio Station

Choice targets at Sendai, a government seat and commercial center for the Kitakami lowlands to the north are military barracks, railways, and two power plants. It also is the site of the largest radio station in northern Honshu.

Gifu, with a population of 172,340 and covering 44 square miles, has eight large textile mills, railroad yards, and repair facilities for most small types of machinery.

Wakayama, 40 miles southwest of Osaka, and Sakai each have a population slightly less than 200,000. Wakayama produced heavy aircraft parts, chemicals, ordnance, high quality steel, and dyes. Sakai produces machine tools, textiles and chemicals, and also is the site of ordnance and marine engine plants.

The Utsube oil refinery at Yokkaichi, the target of high explosive bombs, was damaged in the two previous raids.

Super Fortresses smashed targets with at least 42,250 tons of fire and demolition bombs and flew 6,500 individual sorties thru June and the first days of July. Sixty-nine missions were flown in the 39 day period, including 27 fire raids.

With damage yet to be assessed in four cities, 36.297 additional square miles of urban and industrial areas were burned out, bringing to 130.342 square miles the total destroyed.

35 Plants Bombed

Thirty-five war industry and oil plants were hit with demolition bombs as the weight of the Super Forts was shifted from Tokyo and other major cities to Japan's less populated centers.

Thirty-nine B-29s were lost, a ratio barely more than one-half per cent.

In June, B-29 gunners shot down 138 Japanese planes, bringing the total thru June 30 to 752.

The grand total of Super Fort missions was 341. Of these, 41 were incendiary raids against cities and four were demolition attacks on industrial areas. Sixty-three were demolition attacks on individual and military targets, 31 were mining missions and 102 were strikes on air fields.

In the June 5 fire bombing raid of Kobe, Super Forts met their last major fighter opposition. In the aerial battle 86 Japanese fighters were shot down and 31 were probably downed. Eight Super Forts were lost.

Raid Formosa Again

MANILA, July 10 [Tuesday] (AP)—More than 100 Liberator and Mitchell bombers of the 5th air force struck some of the strongest neutralizing blows of the war at the Japanese island of Formosa Saturday.

The northern Formosa air fields of Matsuyama and Takiouku and the west coast field of Rokko were hit by the Liberators and Mitchells.

Bomb Borneo and Java

The aerial blockade of the Asiatic coast continued. Large fires were set among Canton military installations, an enemy housing area in Amoy was bombed, and a freighter transport left aflame and sinking off Hainan island.

Other American and Australian planes ranged thru the East Indies, hitting at Borneo, Celebes, and Java.

Russian Hand Seen in Pacific

'Surrender Now!'

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP)—The office of war information today broadcast to Japan an argument by David Lawrence for unconditional surrender.

Taking note of a broadcast by Adm. Nomura, last Japanese ambassador to the United States, who was quoted as having said the unconditional surrender policy of the allies will cost them higher casualties, Lawrence, Washington publisher and columnist whose writing on casualties were referred to by Nomura, declared:

"It is true that the unconditional surrender policy will cost heavy losses to both sides, but the American people have not made huge sacrifices already only to agree now to a compromise peace.

"They are determined to see it thru no matter what the cost.

"Japan's only chance for survival as an economic factor in the world lies in surrender, not a year or two hence after allied losses have been heavy—but now—in the next 30 to 60 days—before the political and international situation in the far east grows complicated by the demands of other powers besides the United States."

'Soviet-American War'

San Francisco, Cal., July 9 (AP)—A Tokyo radio propagandist said today that "the day the Okinawa battle finished must be recorded by future historians as the first phase of the Soviet-American war."

"No battle beyond Okinawa can be planned by America without expecting some collision, in one form or another, with soviet interests in Asia," said the propagandist, identified as Suo Oya, chief of the Tokyo radio's editorial department.

Oya predicted "America's difficulties in the Pacific in relation to the soviets" would produce a "dramatic turn of events."

"How the United States government," he added, "will survive this deadlock in the Pacific and in what complexion the American delegation will come out of Potsdam after a direct deal with the soviets is worth waiting to see."

The tenor of the broadcast was similar to several heard recently, including one of the Japanese radio at Shanghai that Russia's "standing desire" was to "crush the ambitions of the imperialistic Americans to control East Asia."

DUTCH TROOPS STORM ASHORE AT BALIKPAPAN

MANILA, July 10 [Tuesday]—(AP)—Dutch colonial troops made two amphibious landings and secured positions in the swampy inner limits of Balikpapan bay in southeastern Dutch Borneo Saturday, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters disclosed today.

The Dutch forces were mostly Indonesians led by Netherlands officers, but included volunteers from the West Indies.

They met small arms fire and gun fire from small Japanese boats as they went ashore on the east coast of the Teaktebang peninsula, but quickly secured their beachhead. Simultaneously another Dutch force crossed the 150 yard mouth of the Soember river and occupied the Kariango peninsula.

Aussies Push On

These operations, first official word of Dutch troops' participation in the Balikpapan campaign to free the great oil producing island, extended and solidified allied control of the bay that is Borneo's chief oil outlet.

Australian troops who invaded Balikpapan on July 1 continued to push northward beyond captured Manggar air field, 13 road miles northeast of Balikpapan, and encountered blazing oil drums in their path, adding to generally stiffening Japanese resistance.

The fiery road blocks were the latest effort of the enemy to delay allied seizure of the prized Sombodja oil fields in the swamps to the northward. Japanese coastal guns also had been turned inland to rake the Australian line of advance.

U. S. Bombers Pound Foe

More than 40 13th air force Liberator bombers came to the Aussies' aid, pounding enemy gun positions in the Manggar area, while American Lightning fighter-bombers strafed westward from the Australian held Sepinggan air field in the dense Borneo rain forest.

Other units of the Australian 7th division pushing south and west across the bay from Balikpapan crushed an enemy counter-attack 15 miles north of the Sesoempore river. Still other Australians fanning out north from their positions on the south side of the bay captured a Japanese supply dump.

NEW AND MIGHTY CHICAGO HELPS ATTACK TOKYO

The cruiser Chicago, officially identified as a unit of the current fleet action off Tokyo, is one of the navy's newest warships and for size and class one of the mightiest afloat.

She carries main batteries of 8 inch guns, secondary batteries of 5 inch guns, and numerous anti-aircraft guns.

The Chicago was built from funds raised thru a special war bond drive in Chicago to avenge a previous U. S. S. Chicago sunk by the Japanese Jan. 30, 1943. The goal was 47 million dollars, and it was oversubscribed by 4 million.

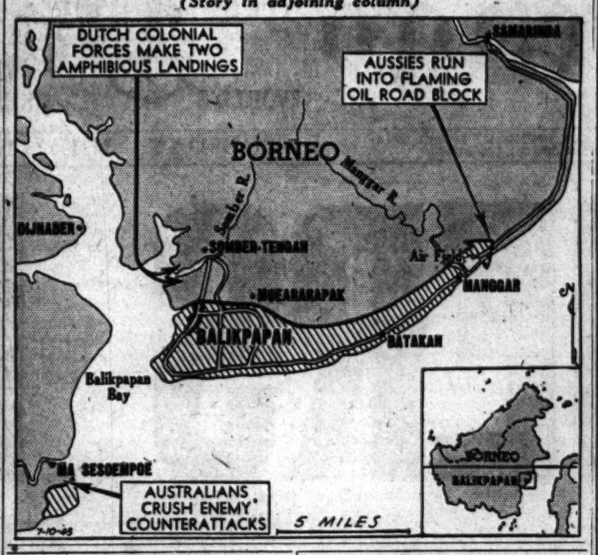

The new cruiser was launched in Philadelphia in August, 1944, with Mrs. Kelly, wife of the mayor, christening the ship. The Chicago was commissioned in January this year, and soon afterward began preparations for its war job.

SUPPLY SHIPS POUR MEAT TO MEN IN PACIFIC

Yanks to Get 25 Meals of Beef a Month

BY WALTER SIMMONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., July 9—Growing fleets of refrigerator ships will enable the army to feed its men 25 meals of fresh meat this month, Col. William Barksdale, Abbeville, S. C., chief of Gen. MacArthur's quartermaster supply division, said today.

Last year the men in the Pacific received fresh meat only eight to 10 times during July.

Fresh eggs every other day and daily meat with potatoes also will be on the menu.

These are some aspects of the brightening supply picture as the Pacific war ceases to be a kid brother to the war in Europe. Things have been improving every month since January, when the first substantial meat supplies began to arrive.

Fresh Fruits Arrive

The arrival of 30,000 cases of oranges, apples, and grapefruit will provide 10 issues this month. Huckster ships will deliver them from island to island.

"When it's available," said Col. Barksdale, "we furnish food in accordance with the wishes of the men themselves. Our surveys show that meat, butter, and fresh eggs are demanded in that order. They turned thumbs down on Australian canned spinach and cabbage, so we cut that out entirely."

About 25 per cent of the food for the rapidly growing Pacific army will come from Australia thru lend-lease this year. This percentage has been declining since March, 1944, when Australia furnished 95 per cent of the food for the army, which was tiny in those days.

Australia still offers more canned beef and carrots than the army wants. It is short, however, of peas, corn, and tomatoes, which the Yanks like. This month the army will get 15,000,000 pounds of meat from Australia, and expects to get 12,000,000 pounds more in August. About 60 per cent of the butter used is Australian.

Other Products Listed

Other products included 100,000,000 pounds of sugar, all the army's jams and jellies, much of the canned meats, salt, vinegar, canned vegetables, peanut butter, macaroni, and cereals. Formerly Australia furnished all the Pacific fighting front with flour. This year, due to the drouth, it will provide only one-fifth of the supply.

Cargo ships now go directly to Tasmania for potatoes, and bring them back unrefrigerated, with only 1 per cent loss. Shipments of fresh tomatoes, cabbage, and string beans have been restricted because of heavy losses. Fresh carrots keep well, but are relatively unpopular.

The army now has a 600 acre vegetable farm under cultivation at Tarlac in central Luzon. Expanding at the rate of 100 to 150 acres weekly, it will soon sprawl over 5,000 acres to provide fresh eggplant, tomatoes, corn, string beans, and other vegetables. Papayas, pineapples, and avocadoes, purchased from native growers, are available only for hospitals.

Up to now, Col. Barksdale said, the shipment of fresh fruits and vegetables from the United States had been restricted because a daily issue occupies three times as much reefer space as an issue of fresh meat. "But at last we are getting the priorities we want, and we are going to town," he said.

JAPS DUG IN ON COAST AWAITING INVASION: TOKYO

San Francisco, July 9 (AP)—Japan disclosed new moves today to mobilize its people and its resources against allied assault.

"The enemy is making a serious and calculated attempt to raze the Japanese mainland thoroly before invasion and thus try to weaken all resistance before the decisive battle of the mainland is fought," said Domei news agency.

Japanese troops, Domei said, are "entrenched in fortifications along the coast of Japan awaiting the enemy landing." They spend their idle time distilling salt from the sea.

LAKE FERRIES WITH LSTs MAY GIVE VETS JOBS

War Weapons Able to Carry Autos

BY GEORGE TAGGE

Lake Michigan ferry service for automobiles may provide jobs for hundreds of navy veterans when LST's [landing ships, tanks] become available for civilian use after the war, shipping men said yesterday. More than 1,000 LSTs have been built and after the war the government may sell most of them at bargain prices.

Navy Capt. Paul S. Goen, who supervised construction of LSTs at Seneca, Ill., said yesterday these ships are natural ferries. They may provide the answer to the problem of designing a combination lake-river carrier, he said.

"Shallow, but seaworthy, they have crossed oceans and will certainly stand any weather on the Great Lakes," he said. "Unlike many craft designed for war, they are not overpowered from the standpoint of commercial use. Each has two 900 h. p. diesel engines.

More Operators to Be Available

"This country will have tens of thousands of additional skilled diesel engine operators after the war. It is easy to visualize automobiles hauled by trailer from Detroit to

Muskegon or St. Joseph, where the trailer would be pulled onto an LST and transported to Chicago and on down the waterway to St. Louis and other river ports."

James Simpson Jr., founder of Industry for Veterans, Inc., predicted that LSTs will be suited to the lake job. Recently discharged as a captain of marines he experienced his first bombing in an LST en route from Guadalcanal to Munda Point. His young brother-in-law is skipper of an LST.

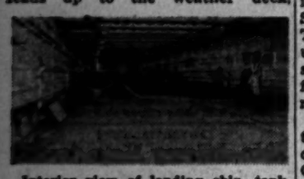

"The LSTs should be put to work to serve the people after the war," Simpson said. "If we plan it right, they should be manned 100 per cent by war veterans. A provision to this effect could be written into the government sales contracts."

New Vigor for Great Lakes

Simpson said that a fleet of LSTs and young navy veterans could infuse fresh vigor into lake shipping.

An LST is a medium size freighter with unusual features. Models of the ship first were made late in 1942. The bow opens wide to receive or discharge cargo on ramps that may be lowered to beach or dock.

Automobiles, like tanks at present, would be driven into a garage-like interior 225 feet long and 32 feet wide. The headroom is 16 feet. On each side of the garage section are double tiers of quarters. A ramp leads up to the weather deck, where more vehicles could be carried or accommodations provided for passengers.

An LST is provided with a traffic signal system to avoid confusion in loading and unloading vehicles.

Over-all, an LST is 327 feet long and displaces 5,500 tons. At least 100 automobiles could be carried on a trip.

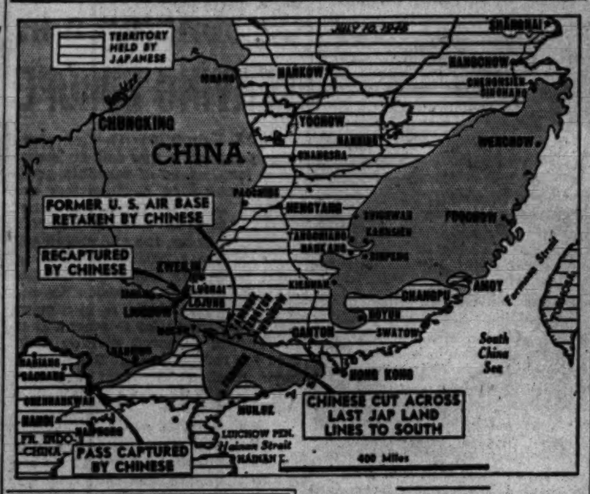

Chicago Service Inadequate

Car ferry service from Chicago is provided on one trip a week by the Milwaukee Clipper to Muskegon, Mich., leaving here 11 p. m. Fridays, and not returning to Chicago until Monday. Meanwhile, this lake liner with a capacity of 68 cars makes two round trips between Muskegon and Milwaukee.

Because Chicago gets only one-third of the car ferry service, many Chicagoans drive to Milwaukee to take their automobiles aboard the S. S. Milwaukee Clipper. No cars are transported on the ship's daily round trips between the two west lake coast cities Mondays thru Fridays.

The Pere Marquette line reports a tremendous demand for its automobile ferry service between Milwaukee, Manitowoc, and Kewaunee, and cities across the lake. L. P. Messmore, assistant traffic manager, said there were 1,800 cars out of Manitowoc in the period June 16-30, 300 from Kewaunee in the same period, and 3,000 from Milwaukee. There is a government limit of 50 cars a trip.

BRITISH SOLDIER DIES RESCUING A GERMAN BOY FROM DROWNING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WEIMAR, Germany, June 29 [Delayed by censor] — He had fought the Germans from Egypt to Thuringia and was counting on a discharge in the near future in order to be at home with his wife for the birth of their baby in the fall. But when he heard a German child yell for help in a pool at Weimar, Gunner Albert Lippard, London, jumped after him and passed him to a pal, Pfc. Frank Giordano, East Newark, N. J., of the 3d mobile radio battalion. Then the weight of his boots dragged him to the bottom.

Giordano, Pvt. Gordon Allen, Fullerton, Cal., and Pvt. Joe Congress, Cleveland, O., both of the 759th railway operations battalion, dived to the rescue of their English comrade. When they finally got him out there was only a flicker of life left. For two hours nurses and doctors worked over him in vain.

The soldiers had put a fence around the pool to keep the children out, but the youngsters just smile when caught, and the soldiers are disarmed. The pool was drained today.

REPORT GERMAN PRISONERS WILL REBUILD MANILA

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, July 9—An authoritativ source reported tonight that Manila will be rebuilt in part by German war prisoners.

The plan, under which several thousand Germans would be sent from the United States to Manila, was said to have been worked out in Washington between United States and Philippine authorities. The Germans will be sent to Manila, under a guard of American Negro soldiers in groups of 500, and the first batch is scheduled to leave this month, it was said.

The Yalta agreement recognized the right of European countries devastated during the war to have German labor rebuild some of the devastation. The United States and Britain have said they want none of this labor for themselves, but they have approved of it being used by other countries.

Big 3 Asked to Set Up Jewish Commonwealth

LONDON, July 9—Dr. Israel Goldstein, president of the American Zionist organization in London, today called for a Big Three decision that Palestine be set up as a Jewish commonwealth as soon as the Jews constitute the majority of its population. He also recommended that the Jewish agency for Palestine be given simultaneous authority to regulate immigration so as to achieve that majority in the nearest time possible.

CHINESE ROUT JAPS FROM 4TH BIG AIR STRIP

Chiang Seizes Pass to Indo-China

CHUNGKING, July 9 (AP).—Chinese forces have thrown the Japanese out of the former American air base of Tanchuk in south China, the fourth big airstrip recaptured from the Japanese in recent months, the Chinese command announced tonight.

A Chinese bulletin said that other troops of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's armies had captured the rocky Chennankwan [south guard] pass between China and Indo-China 85 miles northeast of the French colony's capital city of Hanoi.

All of southern Kwangsi has been cleared of Japanese forces by the Chinese occupation of the strongly fortified border pass, the Chinese command said.

Chinese Capture Tengyun

Tanchuk lies 270 miles northeast of the Indo-China frontier in the western part of Kwangsi. Simultaneously with the fall of Tanchuk July 1, Chinese troops recaptured Tengyun, 25 miles to the east, and Mosun, 57 miles to the west, the bulletin said.

[If the Chinese report is true, the capture of Tanchuk, Tengyun, and Mosun indicates that Gen. Chiang's forces have cut a corridor across Japan's last flimsy land lines to southeasternmost Asia and have established a link between Chungking and the south China coast.]

Tanchuk, on the Si [West] river 500 miles southeast of Chungking, was destroyed and abandoned by Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's 14th air force flyers Sept. 21, 1944.

Liuchow air base, 100 miles to the northwest, was recaptured a week ago. Two others which have reverted to Chinese-American control are Yungning [Nanning] in southern Kwangsi, and Suichwan in Kiangsi province.

Aided by Local Militia

Tengyun, which has changed hands several times in recent weeks, was reoccupied by Chinese regulars with the help of local militia. Its capture put the Chinese within 38 miles west of the important former treaty port of Tsangwu [Wuchow] on the Si river.

Chinese forces striking from Liuchow along the Hunan-Kwangsi highway and railroad toward their northern termini at Hengyang yesterday recaptured Lojung, 20 miles northeast of Liuchow, the high command said.

Headquarters said that the Chinese stormed and captured Chennankwan pass on the Indo-China frontier Thursday, and soldiers under Gen. Chang Fah-Kwei were believed battling at the gates of the border town of Dong Dang.

BRITISH STEP UP DRIVE ON JAPS IN BURMA TRAP

CALCUTTA, India, July 9 (AP)—British troops, stepping up assaults against pocketed Japanese forces in south-central Burma, have captured nine villages in the Irrawaddy river valley northwest of Rangoon, Adm. Mountbatten's headquarters said today.

Six villages were overrun by British 14th army troops in an area 42 miles southeast of the river town of Prome. Three others were wrested from the Japanese 12 miles east of Letpaden, 73 miles northwest of the Burmese capital, a bulletin said.

Swarms of allied planes meanwhile spearheaded a combined air-ground assault against attacking Japanese forces in the Sittang river bend some 70 miles northeast of Rangoon.

MIDWEST YANKS CITED; KEPT 'EM ROLLING IN INDIA

BY ALFRED WAGG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WITH U. S. TROOPS IN INDIA, July 9—Members of a United States army heavy automotive maintenance company, many of them from Chicago and Illinois have received a plaque commemorating their work. The award was made by Lt. Gen. Dan Sultan, India-Burma theater commander, just before departure for the United States.

In two years the unit handled 28,000 job orders which called for the repair and rebuilding of thousands of vehicles. In May, 1943, when the outfit arrived in India, the men were greeted at Calcutta with 2,000 vehicles that showed the results of hard driving over miles of Indian and Burma "roads." They tackled that job and have been turning out repaired vehicles in an endless stream ever since.

Chicagoans Among Them

Tech. Sgt. George Kalina, 1414 Wicker Park av.; Staff Sgt. Stanley Macmarski, 3635 S. Wood st.; Staff Sgt. William Kresain, 6810 Elizabeth st.; Staff Sgt. Frank Kuntz, 720 W. 62d st.; Staff Sgt. At an army railway base in Assam there were more Chicagoland men working on India-Burma railways. They include T/5 Rhodes Blanford, 400 W. Madison st., Chicago, former conductor and yardmaster for the Chicago & North Western railroad, and Lt. Ralph Fowler, Lombard, Ill.

Also in Assam was William Bussa, 1801 North av., Chicago, who was promoted to technician 5th grade. Bussa is with a quartermaster trucking outfit and has spent 22 months overseas in which he won a bronze star for service in combat areas of Burma. He is looking forward to returning to Chicago soon.

Built China-India Phone Line

In New Delhi, T/5 George Hrisinke, 9724 Ewing av., Chicago, is serving with the signal corps and is one of the enlisted men who helped construct the vast network of telephone lines that now links the China and India theaters.

First Lt. Herbert Stoquist, 36, a chemist of Mikana, Wis., is a member of the 45th chemical laboratory company, which also received a merit service plaque. One of Stoquist's jobs has been to see that India's germ ridden water is purified for GI consumption.

Herrin, Ill., is well represented along Stilwell road. Among Herrin men of the 967th engineer maintenance company, who helped build a land link from India to China, are Pvt. John Jacobs, Staff Sgt. Lawson Smith, Corp. Kenneth Trent, Corp. Paul Hillman, Sgt. Eugene Filapak, Corp. Lloyd Yates, Corp. William Hopper, Sgt. William Calcaterra, and Sgt. William Peebles.

All the Herrin boys have battle stars. They began their service out here in April, 1944, when the Stilwell road was being blazed by the sweat and guns of American engineers and troops.

Stars on Harmonica

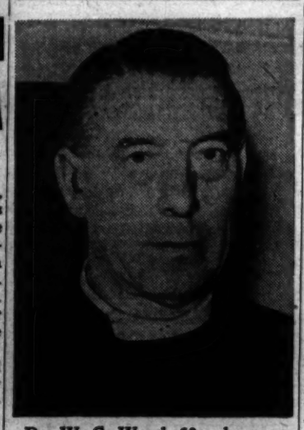

Corp. Leonard Rozanski, 1414 Greenview av., Chicago, got credit for putting on the best act in an air transport command show in China a few days ago. Rozanski played "Chinatown" and "Clarinet Polka" by switching to a dozen harmonicas. Rozanski sports two theater ribbons, a Presidential citation, and a bronze star.

Down in Calcutta, India, we ran across a Chicagoan serving with the signal supply base general depot. He is Staff Sgt. Edward Ledwon, 5428 Melrose st. Ledwon is a repairman of radio equipment. In civilian life he was a camera repairman.

FRANCE OPENS WAR AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS

PARIS, July 9 (AP)—The ministry of public health is waging a vigorous defensive warfare against tuberculosis in France, spurred by the fact that large numbers of men returning from German camps are carrying the disease.

Wide publicity is being given to two volunteer campaigns—in Montreuil-Sous-Bois, outside of Paris, and in Marseilles—where all residents are submitting to chest X-rays. It is hoped that other cities will follow this lead and aid the government which is handicapped for the fight thru lack of doctors, nurses, medicine, equipment and sanitoria.

Jean Bioux, attache of the ministry of public health, has said that the tuberculosis rate among returning prisoners of war was believed to be a little lower than the civilian rate because the men had received Red Cross packages during their imprisonment.

BRAZIL CRUISER SUNK BY BLAST; HUNT SURVIVORS

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 9 (AP)—The Brazilian navy department announced today the loss of the 3,150 ton cruiser Bahia in an explosion in the mid-Atlantic and said "reports indicate" the ship struck a drifting mine.

Some United States navy radio operators were reported to have been aboard the vessel, which had a complement of 28 officers and 355 enlisted men. There was no announcement of casualties.

The navy said tonight that 33 survivors had been taken aboard the English packet ship Balfe and about 100 others had "arrived at Fernando de Noronha," an island off the Brazilian coast. American and Brazilian ships were searching for other survivors.

CARPENTER FOUND DEAD

Ernest Rylander, 61, a carpenter, 3158 N. Halsted st., was found dead in the washroom of the Gustafson tavern, 3270 Clark st., yesterday, apparently the victim of a heart attack.

REPORT BRITISH TO LIFT BAN ON FRATERNIZATION

21ST ARMY GROUP HDQ., July 9 (AP).—Speculation that the nonfraternization policy might be lifted by the end of July flared anew among British troops today after Berlin dispatches reported open fraternization among Russians and Germans.

High medical authorities in the British zone support the nonfraternization rule at present, but one specialist said "it is impossible to carry it on indefinitely."

"Troops, for their own well being, must be made to look forward to the time when the ban will be lifted so they can have normal relations with the German people," he said.

A British psychiatrist said "no one is harmed by doing something he knows to be right." He said soldiers know that until the German army is demobilized and the nation is disarmed, nonfraternization is the right policy, "otherwise the Germans will play on our sympathies to gain their own ends."

Girls Put Selves in Way

German girls seem willing to fraternize. At Lake Hannover, soldiers are restricted to one side and Germans the other. Girls have a habit of lolling on the lake's only diving board, making soldiers step over them if they want to take a plunge.

The majority of German girls, however, are not believed to be deliberately trying to sabotage the morale of troops by going about clad mostly in just atmosphere. This seems to be an old German custom, as is that of undressing down to their bathing suits in full view of troops.

Medical records show that the incidence of venereal diseases among British troops has nearly doubled since the crossing of the Rhine.

End Marriage Loans

Meanwhile, the British military government ordered discontinuance of German marriage loans and subsidies for large families—a Nazi sponsored scheme to promote a higher birth rate in the "master race" program.

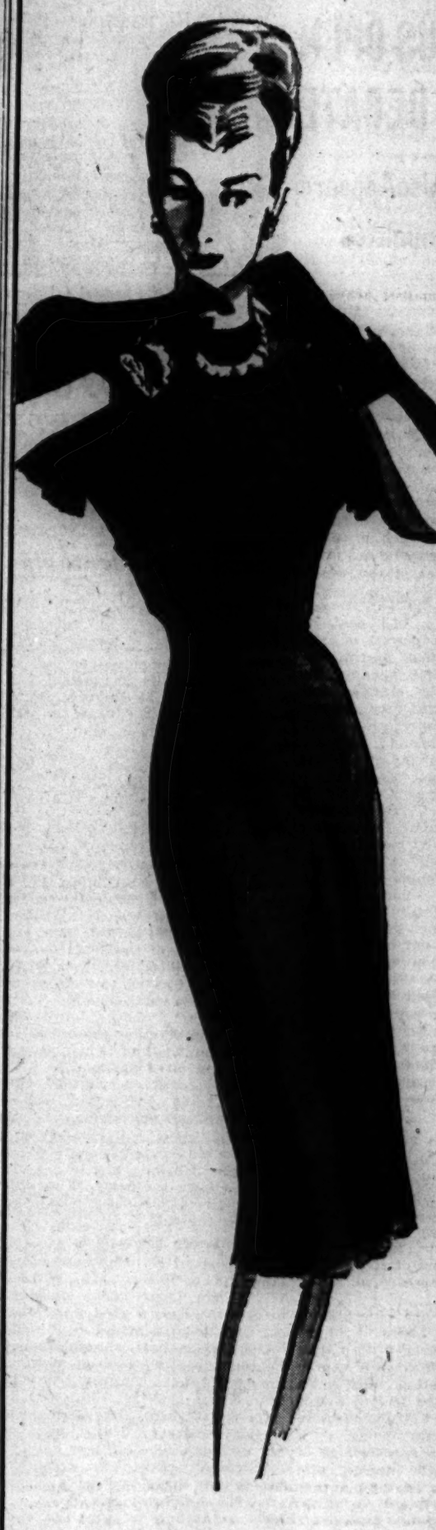

Under this system, the German birth rate increased from 14.7 per cent 1,000 in 1933 to 20.3 per 1,000 in 1939. In England and Wales, during the corresponding period, the rate increased from 14.4 to 14.9.

LONDON HOMES LOST TO MANY CHILD EVACUEES

LONDON, July 9 [Reuters]—Thousands of London children, evacuated to the country during the time of the air attacks on this capital, now have no home or parents to whom to return, the newspaper Star said today.

A census is disclosing that in some cases the parents have died, some have been victims of the bombs in London, and some children have been abandoned. On good authority, said the Star, it is believed that these "orphans" from London alone run into thousands.

At the offices of the London county council and at the ministry of health it was affirmed that from the official point of view these children are not forgotten. Their welfare, it was said, will be considered as a whole.

SENATORS HEAR STETTINIUS OPEN CHARTER DEBATE

VandenbergAlsoAppears Before Committee

"Yes," Pasvolsky replied.

Sen. Millikin [D., Col.] announced his intention of seeking further clarification of the withdrawal right after drawing from Pasvolsky the admission that withdrawal might in some cases constitute a threat to peace, and that such a threat would be treated as would any other danger to the peace of the world.

Austin Asks Separation

Sen. Austin [R., Vt.] said he would ask that the powers of judgment and enforcement of the new league's enforcement agency, the security council, be clearly separated. Pasvolsky said they are, but Austin expressed concern over Stettinius' report to President Truman, which Austin said indicated that these powers are not separated.

Stettinius had reported that if disputing countries failed to accept the council's recommendations for a peaceful settlement, and the failure brought a threat to peace, the enforcement provisions would become effective.

Austin said that forcing nations to carry out a council ruling might thus lead to war that could otherwise be avoided and warned that the uncertainty must be removed.

Stettinius described the charter as "a binding agreement to preserve peace and to advance human progress and a constitutional document creating the international machinery by which nations can operate to realize these purposes in fact."

World State Possible

He viewed the league to enforce peace as the beginning of an evolutionary process that may be expected to lead to a more effective agency of international government, perhaps a world state, in time, but representing the utmost step in that direction that nations are willing to take at present.

"The charter is not, of course, a perfect instrument," he said. "I am sure it will be improved with time as the united nations gain experience in its application. But I believe it offers to the United States and to the world a truly effective instrument for lasting peace.

"The purposes and principles of the charter are those in which the great majority of the human race believe. The principal agencies which it will create—the agency for law enforcement, the public meeting, the court of justice and the center for economic and social progress—are those which all self-governing peoples have developed and learned to use in their own affairs. The powers given to these instruments in the international field are those with which the most thoro possible consideration has shown the nations are now ready to endow them.

"In short, the course which is charted by this document is one which I believe to be within the capacity of the nations at this period of world history to follow."

Trusteeship Problem

One of the most compelling reasons that the veto power will not be abused, Stettinius thought, is the "compelling desire and need" of the Big Five to "work together for peace" in furtherance of "vital national interest." Moreover, he argued, the veto power is what "a majority of Americans believe the United States should have in view of the great responsibilities our country must inevitably assume for the maintenance of world peace."

The American chief delegate hastened to reassure the committee that under the trusteeship arrangements it will be possible for the United States to annex for defense purposes the Pacific islands wrested from Japan or to commit them to a league trusteeship as it may see fit to do.

The former secretary also sought to allay apprehensions that other countries and the Communists, Socialists, and other collectivists in our own country plan to exert the power of the league thru its economic and social council to effect the "redistribution" of America's store of gold, to break down the protective tariff, to establish a collectivist economy in the United States ostensibly for the promotion of "full employment" and lower American immigration bars.

Sees Human Gains

"Like the general assembly, the economic and social council has no power to impose its recommendations on the member states," he said. "But, as I reported to the President, this 'power to study and report and recommend — and the power to call conferences and prepare draft conventions and require reports of progress — is a power which can be counted on to go a long way towards translating humanitarian aspirations into human gains.'"

The subordination of the Monroe Doctrine to the world security machinery except in case of actual attack, Stettinius, in his report to the President, pronounced "a useful and effective integration of regional systems of coöperation with the world system of international security."

CHICAGOANS GET 3 DAYS' LIBERTY IN GAY BRUSSELS

New Diversion Steers Boys from Brothels

BY HAL FOUST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 9—Twenty-four hours from the monotonous labor and exactions of an infantry camp in Germany, Pvt. James F. Smith, 21, Davison, Mich., shuffled his combat boots on the polished dance floor and spun a blonde Belgian girl in a jive step that whirled her calico skirt, exposing her long bare legs.

Watching and grinning at a nearby table and sipping 6 cent glasses of beer were Corp. Donald Reise, 23, and Pvt. Robert H. Rosenek, 22, both of Milwaukee, Wis., and Corp. Edwin Luckvitz, 22, Clinton, Ia., a trio of ordnance hands overseas for the last year. Infantry Sgt. William L. MacKinlay, 324 N. Ridgeland av., Oak Park, Ill., of the 1942 class of Iowa's Cornell college, was more serious. He wanted to talk about why American youth should remain in Europe.

Four hundred other young United States soldiers, all on 72 hour leaves in Brussels, were listening to a 15 piece jazz band, or dancing with some of the 80 or 90 young Belgian girls sponsored and chaperoned by the committee of Brussels matrons. This is a GI Joe hotel, operated by the United States army, to provide holidays from the army of occupation in Germany where non-fraternization is the rule.

Keeps Them Busy

It's part of an elaborate entertainment and facility setup, without World War I. precedent, designed to give the boys a good time without their being tempted by the clip joints and brothels countenanced in Belgium's capital. It keeps most of the 6,000 American military visitors busy.

On arrival here from Germany a soldier receives a leaflet warning him against vice conditions here.

"Soldier," reads the preamble, "these are the actual facts. There are 2,080 registered prostitutes and 3,000 to 5,000 other prostitutes in Brussels. Every day almost 200 of these are in special V. D. hospitals for treatment. All of them are potential sources of venereal disease, and their sanitary card is no guarantee."

Brussels, like Paris, is a leave center for both British and American troops, and from the plant developments here it would seem that the United States army is preparing for many years of occupation.

Dormitory for Soldiers

The inner walls of three abutting old hotel buildings are being removed to make a single dormitory with 2,000 additional beds for soldiers on leave. A modern school building, a former hospital for the blind, and two other hotels are now remodeled for billets. Two theaters, and three nights clubs are operated by Uncle Sam exclusively for soldiers on leave.

Lt. Col. Frederick J. Kraschel, son of former Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel of Iowa, is in command of Brussels as an American leave center, with a permanent staff of 17 officers, 120 enlisted men, and 22 civilian employes.

Building rentals and reconstruction are paid by the Belgian government, and charged to reverse lend-lease.

Time Is Their Own

The men arrive in groups of trucks from their units, and report to a receiving center on the outskirts of town for assignment to billets. Thereafter their time is their own for 72 hours before heading back to camp.

One group arrived from the 12th armored division which had hard fighting for seven months.

They included Sgt. Willard Gould, 19, Sterling, Ill., who won the bronze star by leading a company into a German village; Sgt. Debert McCulley, Champaign, Ill., decorated for a patrol 12 miles behind enemy lines in Germany, and Corp. Marco Pratola, 2813 Monroe st., Chicago. Tech. Sgt. Arthur Hall, who has two bronze stars; Sgt. Piuneas Clemmons, Negro, Indianapolis, Ind., who received a Purple Heart for a shrapnel wound, and Sgt. Harvey Kovars, Racine, Wis. Among the staff registering arrivals was Corp. Walter Skvorc, 1824 S. Throop st., Chicago.

Still others met from Chicagoland were Pvt. Lonnie F. Stafford, Benton Harbor, Mich., who has been away from the United States for 15 months in a light pontoon company, and Pvt. Robert S. Ham, Dubuque, Ia., a 19 year old infantryman who has been overseas six months. At a hotel billeting 40 WACs on leave were Master Sgt. Helen M. Davis, Alton, Ill., and Pvt. Evelyn S. Behrens, 4349 Maypole av., Chicago.

In a club for 200 officers on leave were Capt. Joseph Hurley, 456 Winneconna pkwy., Chicago, of the 9th armored, and Capt. Nicholas Latkovic, Gary, Ind., of the 3d armored, a West Kentucky football player of the class of 1940 who has a Purple Heart, bronze medal for gallantry, and five campaign stars to the theater ribbon.

Many Disappointed

Overcast skies disappointed most Chicagoans who were up early yesterday hoping to view the first solar eclipse here since April 7, 1940.

Forecaster O. T. Lay in charge of the Chicago office of the weather bureau said the overhead gloom prevailing at 6:08 a. m. when the moon was scheduled to take its first "bite" out of the sun, made the phenomenon generally invisible to most sections of the city.

Only for interrupted periods, he reported, could the celestial show be observed here thru momentary breaks in the bad weather.

Some north siders, however, reported they saw the obscuration plainly. It was a 73 per cent blackout for Chicago. It reached its height at 7:02 a. m. and was all over [behind the clouds] at 8:02 a. m. Astronomers say it will be the last total eclipse of the sun to be seen until June 30, 1954.

The total shadow started at sunrise near Boise, Idaho, and moved at 1,000 miles an hour along a 25 mile wide pathway northeast thru Montana, Manitoba, Hudson Bay, Greenland, and into Russia where it disappeared at sundown.

AMG ARRESTS 100 LEADERS IN BAVARIA ZONE

Called Part of Area's De-Nazification

MUNICH, Germany, July 9 [Reuters]—Mass arrests of German business men, financiers, industrial leaders and bankers have been carried out thruout Bavaria in the last few days by the American military government.

With 102 already in custody, Col. Charles E. Keegan, Bavarian military governor and former New York city councilman, said "this will show the German small fry we really mean business in the de-Nazification of Bavaria."

Keegan said it was assumed that the men had had some association with the Nazis because of their leading positions.

Their Cash Frozen

All the arrested men have had their bank accounts, safe deposits and liquid assets "frozen" by order of Col. Keegan. Their families, however, are being allowed 300 marks a month for living expenses—about $37 by present rates.

The arrests are being carried out by military police, the counter intelligence corps, criminal investigation department and public safety authorities. They were begun about June 15. A total of 123 men are to be seized.

All the arrested men have been put in jail for 30 days. At the end of that time they will be released if no charges have been preferred against them. They will be unable to return to their normal businesses, however, for their assets will remain frozen until a definite decision on the matter is taken by the allied military government.

Linked to Goering Firm

Many of the prisoners were associated with such enterprises as the Hermann Goering concern, tied up with various Nazi industrial groups, or were commissioners under Germany's four-year plan. Others were connected with the administration of occupied territories. All were residents of Bavaria.

A partial list follows:

Fritz Hentzen, Rakan Kokothaki, Josef Mayr and Konrad Markel, all of Messerschmitt; Dr. Heikury, control commissioner of the Rustgerswerke joint stock corporation of Berlin — an armaments combine; Herman Mierzinsky, manager of the Junkers works, Munich.

Dr. Victor von Rintelen, business manager of the Deutsche bank, Munich; Alexander Rosenstock, owner of the Rosenstock optical works, Munich; Dr. Carl Roechling, control commissioner of the Roechling iron and steel works at Voelklingen; Dr. Otto Schniewind, partner of the banking house of Seiler and company, Munich; Karl Suttner of the Deutsche Rentenbank Kreditanstalt, Berlin.

Wilhelm Thelemann, partner of Merck, Finck and company, bankers of Munich; Rudolf Weydenhammer, president of Deutsche Magnesit A. G. of Munich; Jakob Werlin, manager of the Daimler-Benz joint stock corporation, Stuttgart and Unter-Turkheim; Alfred Hannemann, owner and manager of the Hannemann iron and steel corporation; Dr. Carl Knott, manager of Siemens Schuckert Werke joint stock company, Berlin-Siemenstadt.

PRIESTS BARRED FROM PLOTTERS BY HITLER ORDER

Jail Chaplain Tells of Berlin Hangings

BERLIN, July 9 (AP)—The Rev. Peter Buchholz, Catholic chaplain at the Berlin Ploetzensee jail, said today that Adolf Hitler personally ordered religious ministration denied to the junkers generals and others who were hanged for the bomb plot of July, 1944, on Hitler's life.

Only as they walked to the gallows, Father Buchholz said, were the condemned men allowed to hear a few comforting words from him and his Protestant colleague, Chaplain Poelscher.

Among those that Father Buchholz or Pastor Poelscher accompanied to the gallows were Gen. von Feligiebel, Lt. Gen. Paul von Hase, Maj. Gen. Erich Hoeppner, Gen. Otto von Stuelpnagel, Count Helmut von Moltke, Count Peter Yorck von Wartenburg, Ambassador Ulrich von Hassell, Mayor Karl Goerdeler of Leipzig, Count von Schulenburg, Consul Gen. Otto Keipt, and Prussian Minister Otto Popitz.

Hitler Forbids Comfort

When the first group of condemned, headed by Field Marshal Erwin von Witzlben, arrived at the Ploetzensee death cells, the two pastors mingled with them, Father Buchholz said. Suddenly a warden told the pastors they must desist "by direct order of the fuehrer, who has decreed denial of spiritual comfort as a supplementary punishment."

Father Buchholz said:

"Everything possible was done to humiliate these men as they arrived [on Aug. 8, 1944]. They were put in striped clothes and wooden slippers, which made them stumble. They were unshaven, many were bruised from blows, and all were more or less emaciated from hunger.

Photos Gleefully Snapped

"Nazi photographers gleefully snapped pictures, later exhibited to young officers to impress them with the fact that 'criminals' had tried to take the fuehrer's life. In the execution room special lamps were installed so photographers could take movie and still pictures of the men in their death agony."

At Ploetzensee there were eight gallows and the men were hanged in groups of eight.

ALLIED ACCORD ON BERLIN RULE BELIEVED NEAR

BERLIN, July 9—The "kommandatur," which will direct the government of Berlin for the Americans, English, and Russians, holds its first formal working meeting Wednesday, Maj. Gen. Floyd Parks, chief of the American military forces in the German capital, said tonight.

He will represent the United States on this board. England will be represented by Maj. Gen. L. O. Lyne, and the Russians by Gen. Gerbatov. Later, after the French sector has been fully defined, the French also will be represented on the kommandatur.

Parks expressed confidence that this body will be able to perfect a working agreement without referring its problems to the Big Three when they reach Berlin.

WAR WRITER'S EXECUTION TOLD BY WITNESSES

LINZ, Austria, July 7 [Delayed] (AP)—German officials now in custody and former inmates of the Nazis' notorious Mauthausen concentration camp assert that Joseph Morton, Associated Press war correspondent, and 13 American and British companions were shot to death by the Germans last Jan. 24 after their capture in Slovakia.

Morton accompanied the group—nine Americans and four Britons—on a flight into Slovakia to help bring out stranded American aviators.

All 14 were killed in the Mauthausen camp 10 miles east of Linz, and their bodies were cremated, these witnesses said.

Captured Dec. 26

Morton, 34, of St. Joseph, Mo., who wrote some of the war's outstanding stories, including the first interview with King Michael of Romania last year, was captured near Plomka, in Slovakia, last Dec. 26. Subsequently he was taken to Bratislava and in January arrived at Mauthausen, a major nazi extermination camp where thousand of men and women were executed or starved to death. Mauthausen is on the Danube 10 miles east of Linz.

One of the Germans held, an interpreter, who was present at the interrogation of Morton and his companions in Mauthausen, said some were beaten and tortured in an effort to make them talk, but Morton "underwent the interrogation without difficulty of hardships."

The interpreter said the camp commandant, Standartenfuehrer Franz Ziereiss, who attended all the executions, was shot while trying to escape the allies and later died.

The interpreter declared the executions were ordered in a telegram to Ziereiss signed by Ernest Kaltenbrunner, who was Heinrich Himmler's right hand man and chief of the German security police. He added Morton had insisted that he was a reporter and tried to get permission to send a message to the Associated Press.

Not Aware of Fate

The interpreter said that the day the telegram arrived and before the interrogation of Morton and his companions was completed they were marched toward an execution chamber in the basement of a long, stone building, but were not informed as to their fate.

The interpreter was called into an ante-room where Zeireiss was trying to get one of Morton's group to sign a paper. Ziereiss was holding a half sheet of paper on which there was typing over a blank sheet and was demanding that the prisoner sign the blank sheet.

The interpreter, whose identity can not be disclosed, asserted the typewritten sheet read: "I have been informed that I am being transferred to a prisoner of war camp and that if I try to escape, the guards have been instructed to use their weapons."

The commandant apparently wanted signatures of all members of the group on blank sheets upon which he could write later anything he wished. The blank sheets finally were signed by all members under protest.

Pretends to Examine Them

At the same time an SS doctor was pretending to examine men in another room and the prisoners were told to remove their uniforms and put on prison clothing. Later they were lined up and marched out, accompanied by Ziereiss and four other SS officers.

William Ornstein, a Polish Jew, who was a prisoner at Mauthausen and whose duty it was to remove the bodies from the execution room, said the 14 were shot about 4 p. m. Jan. 24. He removed the identification tags of two of the Americans [not Morton's] and turned them over to American investigators later. The bodies were cremated.

After the shootings, the sadistic and swaggering Ziereiss laughed and said: "I am glad to be rid of them. They were here too long. I need the cells, and I need some of their things for my men, especially shoes."

A gas chamber and three incinerating furnaces were found in the basement where Morton and his companions were executed. Inmates of the camp said more than 500 bodies were burned daily in the last three weeks of the war.

The gasroom where thousands went to death resembled a shower room with sprays on the ceiling. Persons condemned to death were told they were to take a bath, but gas, instead of water, came from the sprays above.

SPECIAL GROUPS TO AID STATE ON TAX UNIFORMITY

Director Rosenquist of the state revenue department said in a statement yesterday that he will appoint special committees and issue voluminous instructions before the Butler bills for state-wide uniformity in tax assessments become effective next year.

Rosenquist pointed out that the new program, evolved by a committee headed by Sen. Walker Butler [R., Chicago], doesn't apply to 1945 assessments on which taxes will be paid in 1946. The effective date is Jan. 1, 1946, giving plenty of time for assessors and county clerks to become familiar with the program and for the start of possible court proceedings.

Rosenquist said he would appoint committees of assessors, county treasurers, county clerks, and state's attorneys to work with his department.

GREECE DENIES PERSECUTION OF MACEDON SLAVS

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP)—A denial of Yugoslav reports that Greeks are persecuting Slavs in northern Greece was reported from Athens today by the Greek office of information in Washington.

"On the basis of data put at my disposal by all local military and civil authorities, I am able to deny most emphatically everything reported about persecutions of the Macedonia 'Slavs,' and about their fleeing from Greek territory," said a statement from Denis Zakythinos, undersecretary of the press in the Greek capital.

Premier Tito of Yugoslavia charged in a broadcast from Belgrade yesterday that thousands of Macedonians were fleeing from Greece and that Greek forces had fired machine guns across the Yugoslav border.

200,000 POUND FLYING BOAT BUILT BY NAZIS

Destroyed by U. S. Planes Before End of War

BY FRANK STURDY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

HAMBURG, Germany, July 5 [Delayed]—Altho never able to make use of it, Germany built a 200,000 pound flying boat, the world's largest, two years before the end of the war.

Lake Schaal [arrow] flying boat hideout.

Until a few weeks before Germany surrendered, the huge plane was hidden on Lake Schaal, near Hamburg, carefully camouflaged. One of six Mustang fighters' pilots, flying at low altitude late in March, penetrated some fault in the camouflage, strafed the spot, and set an engine on fire.

The other fighters joined him, and soon the parts of the plane not consumed by flames went to the bottom.

Gives History of Plane

Dr. Richard Vogt, who designed the plane for Blohm and Voss, one of Hamburg's largest industrial companies, gave the history of the plane and its specifications, in an interview today.

The plane had a wing spread of 200 feet, Vogt said, was powered by six 2,000 horse power water cooled Daimler Benz engines, and could carry fuel for a range of 6,000 miles, in addition to 40,000 pounds of cargo. It was known by the project number 8V238.

Soon after the BV238 was completed, Field Marshal Gerhard Milch, minister of aircraft production for the luftwaffe, told Vogt production was to be concentrated on fighters to attempt to stop the devastating bomb attacks.

Vogt, one of the world's leading seaplane designers, said he regretted the BV238 was demolished, and he had hoped it would fly for some country.

Vogt designed other outstanding planes, including the Nordwing float type seaplanes, which flew mail over the North and South Atlantic several years before the war.

Planning long ago for bigger flying boats, Vogt has a model of a 400,000 pound craft.

Gasoline Chief Target

Seven oil refineries marked Hamburg for the first concentrated air raids by the American strategic air forces in the over-all campaign to cripple Germany's armies by denying them weapons and transport. Gasoline was the primary target.

The goal was to reduce production to 500,000 tons a month in the expectation that the Germans would be forced to surrender within six weeks. The objective was reached in March, less than two months before the peace.

Next in importance to gasoline were the submarines, of which Hamburg was one of the principal producers.

Inspection of the targets today showed all the refineries from which the Nazi air force and armies drew their major gasoline supplies to be in ruins.

Special Target of 8th

The refineries and submarine docks were the special target of the 8th air force. The British assignment was to destroy the commercial and residential areas of the city.

There were 22 planned attacks. During the 22 raids, culminating in March this year, when there was almost nothing left worth hitting, the 8th air force dropped 34,208,000 pounds of bombs and the British 50,584,000.

German officials say more than 200,000 in Hamburg were killed and 400,000 were casualties.

The Blohm and Voss shipyards, which built the battleship Bismarck, is a shambles. Not even the 10 feet of steel reinforced concrete covering the sub pens stood up against the British 22,000 pound bombs.

An aerial survey of the other cities of the great industrial valley from Cologne north tells the same tale of devastation and industrial wreckage in such places of secondary importance as Wuppertal, Duesseldorf, Dortmund, Osnabruck, Munster, Bremen, Hanover, and Braunschweig.

Tried Glide Bombs

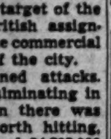

HAMBURG, July 6 [Delayed] (AP)—The German aircraft industry had tried unsuccessfully to replace buzz bombs with cheaper glide bombs, and had at least one new high altitude fighter ready for production when the surrender came.

Dr. Richard Vogt, chief designer for Blohm and Voss, said the glide bomb was developed when the Nazis were experiencing numerous difficulties with buzz bombs. It was a torpedo shaped affair with narrow wings about 23 feet long, and with small twin rudders, weighing about 1,650 pounds. Launched from a bomber or even a fighting plane at an altitude of 23,000 feet, it could strike a target 130 miles away at a speed of 300 miles an hour, he said.

The designer said the glide bomb required only about one-third the materials, labor, and fuel needed for a buzz bomb, but that it traveled 50 per cent slower, thus making it an easier target.

The new high altitude fighter bu it by Blohm and Voss before Germany surrendered was unusually large for German design, weighing more than 14,000 pounds.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

July 10—Wyoming's Anniversary

Fifty-five years ago today Wyoming was admitted to the union, becoming the nation's 44th state in the order of admission. Just a week before, Idaho had been granted statehood. Wyoming had been a territory for 22 years before becoming a state.

Its nickname is "The Equality State"; its motto is "Cedant arma togae [Let arms yield to the gown]; its flower is the Indian paint brush, and its bird the meadowlark. In area Wyoming, with 97,914 square miles, ranks eighth in the nation. In population, with 250,742 [1940] it ranks 47th. Its capital and largest city, Cheyenne, has a population of 22,474 [1940].

Wyoming contains land from all of the four principal annexations which made up the territory of the United States west of the Mississippi river. Except for a small area, the land in Wyoming east of the continental divide was acquired from France thru the Louisiana Purchase of 1803. The excepted small area formed the northern tip of the Texas annexation of 1854. The northwest corner of the state formed a part of the old Oregon country, held jointly by the United States and Great Britain until 1846. The portion of the state which drains southwest into the Colorado river and the Great basin was obtained by the Mexican cession of 1848.

The first white man known for a certainty to have visited what is now Wyoming was John Colter, a member of the Lewis and Clark exploration party, who left the expedition to trap in the wilderness and visited the regions south and east of Yellowstone park and the park itself in 1807. Four years later an expedition under Wilson Price Hunt explored the country which now is Wyoming.

For more than three decades thereafter Wyoming was known first hand only to trappers and fur traders. Not until 1842 did it become part of the route of overland migration to the Pacific coast. In 1847 a large number of Mormon emigrants passed thru Wyoming, and in 1849 came the first of the gold seekers on the way to California. The "forty-niners" followed the Oregon trail thru Wyoming, branching off southwesterly after entering Idaho.

The first stage coach line thru Wyoming was established in 1851, the first pony express route in 1860. The following year the first telegraph line was built across what later became the state of Wyoming. Indian wars in the early '60s kept down the movement of settlers into the region, but in 1867 the Union Pacific railway began construction of its line there, and the towns of Laramie and Cheyenne were founded. It was a year later that the territory of Wyoming was organized, altho territorial officials were not appointed until 1869.

At the first territorial legislature, which met in Cheyenne in December, 1869, women of the state were granted the right to vote in all elections. This right was confirmed by an equal suffrage clause in the state constitution which was drawn up a year before the state was admitted to the union. Gold discoveries brought a number of settlers to Wyoming in the late '60s, but it was not until it became a great cattle country that settlers began to enter in appreciable numbers.

The influx of homesteaders in the early '90s roused the cattlemen and there followed what was known as a cattle war. The cattle owners took steps to drive the settlers out of the country and it was only thru the intervention of troops that order was restored. With the decline of cattle raising, sheep raising became an important industry in Wyoming. Since 1900 it has been one of the leading wool producing states of the union.

FIND GERMAN PLANE OUTSTRIPS FASTEST AMERICAN FIGHTER

MUNICH, July 9 (AP)—Americans have found a German war plane which has propellers in the nose and tail and easily runs away from our fastest fighters. The plane, which did not see action, was nearing the production stage necessary for combat.

About 40 of the craft, some in flying condition, were seized by the Americans at one air field after Germany's surrender. Others, partly destroyed, were found at other fields. The plane was built by Dornier and was designated the DO-335.

Flight tests by United States pilots showed the cruising speed to be 450 miles an hour above 25,000 feet altitude. Its top speed is considerably higher. Using only the nose engine, the plane made 350 miles an hour at 19,000 feet. In a test flight across France the German plane landed 40 minutes ahead of a P-51 Mustang supposed to be escorting it.

Another feature of the DO-335 which a group of visiting aviation writers inspected at the Riem air field near Munich is its versatility. It is usable as a fighter, bomber, night interceptor, or scout plane.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, July 9—Three thousand Danes had volunteered today to fight in the war against Japan.

GIANT CAMERA USED BY GERMAN NAVY LOCATED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WITH THE U. S. 80TH DIVISION IN GERMANY, July 9—The German naval high command's giant camera used for reproducing maps and naval charts of world wide waters has been located at Kaufbeuren, Germany, and is now under guard by the 80th division's attached 753d tank battalion.

The camera was discovered in a garage like photo laboratory in the rear of Kaufbeuren's United Art Works. It is 250 cubic feet in size. The camera is mounted on rails, and is shifted by elevating wheels. It has a 130 centimeter lens which took a year of polishing and grinding in the Zeiss works at Jena, and cost $7,000.

The camera was ordered in 1936 and completed in Berlin after three years' work.

ORDER DOUGLAS OUTPUT OF B-17S HALTED AT ONCE

Santa Monica, Cal., July 9 (AP)—Douglas Aircraft company said today it had received notification from the army air forces that its production of B-17s at Long Beach was to be halted immediately.

The cutback will release 3,000 men and women who have been making the Flying Fortresses, but Frederick W. Conant, vice president in charge of manufacturing, said the parent plant at Santa Monica needed 1,500 additional workers on A-26 attack bombers.

6,000 PARIS GIs GRIN; 1,000 WACS MOVE NEXT DOOR

BY ANNE BRUYERE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, July 9—Cupid got a break today when a thousand WACs moved into Argentine hall at the Cite Universitaire [university city, where, in normal times, students at the University of Paris live] right in the front yards of 6,000 grinning GIs billeted in the Franco-Belgian and United States buildings as well as in the picturesque Chinese and Greek temples set among lakes and surrounded by trees and gardens.

Neighborly Bill Stased, 1711 N. Menard av., Chicago, brought a whole, juicy apple pie to Lucille Thrush, 1209 Summer st., Pekin, Ill. Other Yanks followed his example and by noon the GIs and WACs, along with a couple of majors, were having a first class picnic.

Among other happy Chicagoans glad to be billeted near their boy friends at the famous Cite Universitaire were Helen Srocznski, 2037 N. Kostner av., and Sgt. Stella M. Hill, 3601 W. 58th pl.

Like to Be Near GIs

Sgt. Hill, who is a graduate of Northwestern university and formerly a teacher in Central Park High school, Eagle Grove, Ia., said she felt as tho she were back on the campus.

"All the WACs like being billeted near the GIs," she asserted. "The reason we came overseas was to be with our boys. They like having us around as much as possible, and the best way to keep their morale high is to be on the spot all the time."

The Yank officers stationed at the Cite Universitaire are planning a dinner dance to welcome the WACs. They already have put at their disposition a large library, ping pong and tennis courts, a swimming pool, and a baseball field. There will be mixed assemblies, choruses, dramatic groups, and student circles.

Prefer the Army

Wearing a khaki shirt and slacks, curly haired, hazel eyed Sgt. Hill snuggled comfortably on an exquisitely carved Chinese bench set in a landscaped oriental garden.

"The army is full of surprises and adventures," she confided. "That's why many of the 3,000 WACs possessing more than 44 demobilization points prefer to continue in overseas service rather than return home.

"Of course the work is hard and the drilling is tough, but we never felt better in our lives. We enjoy immensely everything we do. The best thing is the perfect camaraderie existing not only between the GIs and us but between the girls, too. The finest women I've ever met are all WACs."

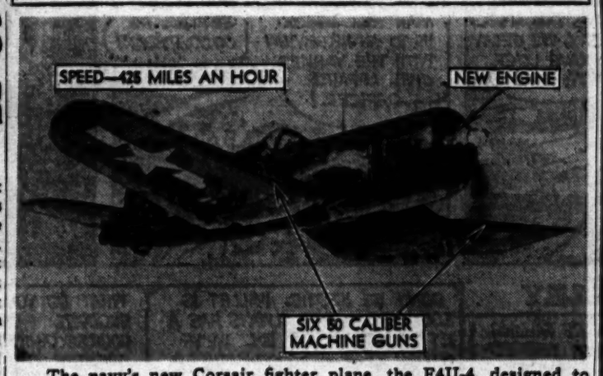

TRAP $3,000,000 COUNTERFEITING RING IN ITALY

ROME, Italy, July 9 (AP)—A $3,000,000 counterfeiting ring has been smashed by United States 5th army agents, it was announced today. Seven of its operators were arrested at Milan. The ringleader was described as a Milan resident who said, "I outwitted the rich so I could give to the poor."

An investigation disclosed that the gang printed counterfeit money six months before the allied occupation of Milan and began unloading it the day the allies arrived.

Two Italian speaking criminal investigation division agents disguised as Italian hoodlums tracked the gang down. One was Alfred Passaglia, 814 N. Springfield av., Chicago.

Navy's New Fighter Plane

NAVY'S CORSAIR CHEWS UP SKIES AND BITES JAPS

New Motors Step Up Plane's Power

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP)—The first Japanese pilot to get a glimpse of the navy's new Corsair fighter never got home to tell about it. He was shot down in two minutes flat by Marine Lt. Douglas M. West, Excelsior, Minn., off Amami.

The navy told the story today in describing for the first time its powerful new aerial weapon, the Chance Vought F4U-4, which has already left the assembly lines by the hundreds.

Enemy airmen were all too familiar with the earlier versions of the gull-winged Corsair with which marine and navy flyers rolled up stunning records.

The F4U-4 is a composite, improved model of all the earlier Corsairs. Its four blade propeller, driven by a 2,100 horsepower radial engine, measures 13 feet 2 inches from tip to tip and literally "chews holes in the sky" in flight, the navy said.

Power Is Increased

It has tremendous speed and maneuverability, lands easily, and carries six 50 caliber machine guns in its wings. Its radio equipment has "push button" receiving and transmitting sets which enable the pilot to change frequencies in combat.

The major change in the new plane, designed by Chance Vought aircraft and to be built also by Goodyear aircraft, is the incorporation of the Pratt & Whitney double Wasp 2800-C engine in the design. The new power plant gives the already speedy Corsair considerably more power both for normal flying and in combat emergencies, the navy announcement said, and its rated 2,100 horsepower can be increased substantially.

Little weight has been added, so that nearly all the added horsepower has been transformed into increased speed, climb, and ceiling. It is in the 425 miles an hour class. Climb has been increased nearly 1,000 feet a minute, and the ceiling has been increased to give it advantage over high flying, land-based Jap aircraft.

Fly 271 Missions

In their first 10 days of use by Okinawa-based marine pilots, the new Corsairs literally "tore up the skies," flying more than 3,000 combat hours in 271 missions totaling 883 individual sorties, the navy reported.

Lt. West, flying with a squadron of the second marine air wing commanded by Maj. Gen. Lewis E. Woods, Fredonia, N. Y., was in a fighter sweep over the Jap home islands when an enemy airman appeared 1,200 feet below.

West spotted the enemy plane thru a break in the clouds, pushed over, followed him down to 300 feet, and opened fire with his six 50 calibers. The enemy plane went into frantic evasive turns, but the second burst bracketed the cockpit, and a third sent him spinning over on his back and he crashed into the ocean from 300 feet. West had expended only 100 rounds from each of his six guns.

Increase in Efficency

Marine engineering officers said the design of the Corsair greatly increases its operating efficiency at high altitudes and at the same time insures greater safety to the pilots because of tighter fuel induction which reduces the possibility of gasoline and oil leaks.

The navy said the new craft would become an important part of increased fighter complement of carriers and would have the dual purpose of fighters and bombers. They can carry 2,000 pounds of bombs or rockets. Freed of this load, they become the navy's fastest fighters.

SENATE GROUP ASKS 15 YEAR EYE ON REICH

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP)—A senate committee proposed today that the United States congress keep an eye on German disarmament for at least 15 years, warning that the defeated nation is in better shape to fight than she was in 1918.

The report, submitted by the military subcommittee which visited European battle fields and conducted hearings, urged:

1. Complete analysis of records of the German government and its industrial setup.

2. For the next three or five years, quarterly reports to congress by the allied control council on the progress of steps to prevent the German war potential from getting a start again. Annual reports for at least 15 years on the same subject.

MORE OF FOAMY BREW TO CHEER YANKS IN PACIFIC

Case of Beer a Month for Each Philippine GI

BY WALTER SIMMONS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., July 10 [Tuesday]—Any old bottles today?

The army already has collected 50,000 cases of empty beer bottles on Luzon preparatory to the reopening of the world known San Miguel brewery which, beginning in August, will furnish 100,000 cases of beer monthly for Pacific troops. The new source of supply will help relieve the shortage in the United States and will free several supply ships for other purposes.

Case Per Man Per Month

Army supply officers had other cheering news today for troops in the Philippines. Supplies now on hand guarantee an established ration of one case of beer monthly per man. Stocks have been building up slowly—in April the allowance was only six bottles and in May, 12.

The cigaret situation, which has been tight at times, also is bright. From now on combat men will get a standard free issue of a pack per day, and troops in the rear areas may buy up to 40 packs monthly. The ration for the Philippine army troops has been set at 30 packs monthly. Guerrillas and civilian workers are not permitted to buy American cigarets.

Error Causes Shortage

Temporary shortages of cigarets in the Philippine campaign have been caused in a few cases by the inexperience of divisional supply officers. The troops ran out of smokes at the height of the Leyte campaign because of some one's error in the loading of resupply ships.

POLISH OFFICER ARRESTED FOR WARSAW TIE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 9—Capt. Waclaw Kostecki, a lecturer at the Polish training center at Catterick camp, Yorkshire, was arrested by Polish military authorities Saturday while attempting to leave for London to discuss with Warsaw government representatives questions concerning the repatriation of himself and his men to Poland, it was announced today by the Polish press agency.

The day after his arrest, Kostecki was sent to a Polish court-martial at Edinburgh, and, after a preliminary hearing, was released on his own recognizance to present himself for a possible trial at the request of the court.

"Kostecki since has stated that he wishes to recognize the new Polish government and obtain a release from the Polish forces," a headquarters statement declared, adding that he had been relieved of his duties and placed in a dispersal center in Scotland pending a decision regarding his request.

FRANCE VOTES OCT. 14 TO FORM LEGISLATURE

If the proposed constitution is rejected by the voters, the council said, the assembly will "elect a chamber of deputies and proceed to the election of a senate conforming with the constitution of 1875," by which France is now governed.

SHANGRI-LA WAC TELLS MEETING WITH SKULL MEN

Recounts Adventure in Hidden Valley

Hamilton Field, Cal., July 9 [Special]—WAC Corp. Margaret Hastings, 30, of Owego, N. Y., sipped an ice cream soda here today while she told reporters the natives of New Guinea's hidden valley are friendly and happy folks but said she was badly worried when she first encountered them until one offered to shake hands.

Margaret, who weighs 100 pounds and stands five feet, one and a half inches tall, arrived here today with the two army men with whom she was marooned in the unexplored valley—"Shangri-la"—after a plane crash May 13 which killed 21 others.

The other survivors are Lt. John S. McCollom, 26, of Trenton, Mo., and Sgt. Kenneth Decker, 34, of Kelso, Wash.

Back Home for Leave

The trio, who were rescued from the valley by gliders, were flown here from New Guinea in an army transport plane and will be taken to army process centers nearest their homes for leaves.

Margaret said they got their first glimpse of natives in the valley when 25 or 30 "wild looking men" filed out of a wilderness path and confronted them.

The men wore nothing but gourds, she said. While the three Americans waited apprehensively one of the older men walked closer to them and held out his hand to shake. "We certainly were relieved," Margaret said.

She said some of the natives were nice looking, with good features, but that they didn't wash very often.

Skulls In Sight

There were a few skeletons and skulls lying around as evidence of tribal wars but no trouble between tribes took place while they were in the valley.

Margaret denied reports that any romantic attachments had developed as a result of her adventure. She has none, she said. She also denied reports that the natives had offered her a throne.

Lt. McCollom said that during his leave he intends to visit Dayton, O., to take care of some unfinished business but he refused to give the girl's name.

Margaret said she was sending a message to a boy friend whose name, she said, was a "military secret."

Wounded Veteran Called in Draft

[Associated Press Wirephoto]

Former Lt. William K. Dobson with his wife in Atlanta, Ga., where a local draft board called him up for basic training despite his record of 14 months overseas service and two battle wounds.

Has 82 Points

Atlanta, Ga., July 9 [Special]—Draft board officials here confirmed today that a newly drafted rookie undergoing basic training as a buck private at Camp Blanding, Fla., is former 1st Lt. William K. Dobson, twice wounded in action on the western front and honorably discharged from the army last January.

Except to say that many veterans are being reinducted, draft board members refused to comment on the case. From Camp Blanding it was reported Dobson had commented that basic was just as tough as it ever was. Under the army's point system he holds 82 points. He has the Purple Heart medal with one oak leaf cluster and the bronze star medal.

Dobson had basic training at Camp Blanding after he enlisted in the army in 1942. He was graduated from the officers' training school at Fort Benning, Ga., and was commissioned in December, 1943. On D-day, plus 1, he was wounded in the leg in Normandy, and in September, 1944, he was wounded in the same leg in the spearhead attack on Aachen.

SIX RED CROSS GIRLS BEAT WAC UNIT TO BERLIN

BERLIN, July 9 (AP)—Six Red Cross doughnut girls claim the distinction of being the first women in American uniforms to enter Berlin officially, even ahead of the WACs. They are Martha Stengel, Newton Square, Pa.; Betty Gross, Minneapolis; Libby Wooddell, Green Bank, W. Va.; Janet Zimmerman, Maplewood, N. J.; Areta Kelble, University of Chicago and St. Joseph, Mich., and Patricia Teague, Fort Worth, Tex.

Areta Kelble

The first four are in charge of the 2d armored division's clubmobile while the other two operate the first Red Cross "doughnut center" for service men in Berlin. They arrived with the 2d armored division July 3 while the first United States WACs came a day or two later.

Areta Kelble, 26, of St. Joseph, Mich., was graduated from the University of Chicago in 1940 with a bachelor of arts degree. She was prominent in campus activities, and was a member of the Senior Women's Honorary society.

SEAMEN'S UNION TO PICKET 45 OFFICES OF WSA

New York, July 9 (AP)—Picketing of war shipping administration offices in 45 cities in the United States will begin at 8 a. m. tomorrow in protest against proposed reductions in merchant seamen's bonuses, Howard McKenzie, chairman of the National Maritime union's negotiating committee, announced today.

The picketing was voted yesterday by the CIO union at its fifth biennial convention.

McKenzie said seamen would not leave ships in port to picket. Pickets will be seamen on furlough earned by sea time, or wives of seamen, he said.

The pickets will carry signs reading "We have not struck. We will not strike. We'll keep 'em sailing. But don't let Adm. [Emory S.] Land [war shipping administrator] torpedo us with wage cuts while we're carrying war materials to your boys," McKenzie said.

Find SS Uniforms Shed by Nazis in Berlin Homes

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, July 9—Many owners of homes on the outskirts of Berlin, who were away at the time of Germany's surrender, later found piles of S. S. [elite guard] uniforms left behind by troopers. The Nazis had masqueraded as civilians in an effort to escape arrest by the Russians. The S. S. burned their uniforms in a tavern garden and donned suits of American correspondents who had left them with the tavern owner when war was declared.

REPORT INDIAN MOSLEMS BALK AT NEW REGIME

LONDON, July 9 (AP)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Simla today said Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem league, had told Viceroy Wavell that the league would not submit nominees for posts in the proposed new Indian interim government.

The dispatch added the reason for Jinnah's refusal was absence of assurance from Wavel that the league would be given the exclusive right to nominate Moslem members of the executive council.

The Congress party and minor parties previously agreed to submit nominees.

GUARD 'DISLIKES' GERMANS, SO HE SLEW 8 IN CAMP

Drank Beer, Turned Gun on Sleeping Prisoners

Ogden, Utah, July 9 [Special]—Col. Arthur J. Ericsson, commander of the prisoner of war camp here, said tonight that the only reason given by Pvt. Clarence V. Bertucci for spraying machine gun bullets into tents where German prisoners were sleeping is that he "just didn't like Germans."

The shooting occurred yesterday at the prisoner camp near Salina, a branch of the Ogden camp. Bertucci fired 250 bullets from a guard tower where he was on duty, killing 8 Germans and wounding 20.

"Bertucci told us that several times while on guard duty he had thought about turning his gun on a group of prisoners, and that last night he made up his mind to go thru with it," Col. Ericsson said.

He Just Disliked Them

"He said he didn't like Germans because they were enemies of this country. As far as we have determined, he had no special or personal reason for disliking Germans. He was never a prisoner of the Germans and never had contact with Germans in combat. He has no relatives who were killed or mistreated by Germans."

The colonel said Bertucci expressed himself firmly as not being sorry for his act. He said that Bertucci drank "several beers" in Salina about two hours before the shooting but there was no evidence he was intoxicated when he was taken into custody.

Bertucci was taken to the hospital at Fort Douglas, Salt Lake City, for mental observation following preliminary investigation of the shooting, the colonel said. He added that charges will be preferred against him and will be followed by a court martial.

Twice Court Martialed

Reporters were not allowed to see Bertucci. He was described as dark haired and of slight build. He is 23 and his home is New Orleans, La. He served eight months with a field artillery unit in England but was never in battle.

Twice in his army career Bertucci has been court martialed. In January, 1944, while in England he was convicted of "leaving his proper station" and restricted to the company area for two months as a penalty. In January of this year he was sentenced to three months' confinement at hard labor for failure to do guard duty at Camp McLean, Tex.

Men Rush from Tents

Bodies of the eight German dead were taken to a hospital near Brigham, Utah, and the 20 wounded were taken to Bushnell and Kearns hospitals, near Salt Lake City. Karl Altkrueger, 31, of Leubben, Germany, one of the wounded, told hospital officers he and other prisoners dashed from their tents at the first rattle of shots.

He said bullets were flying thru tents and kicking up dust, and an instant after he left his tent he was struck in both feet.

Men in 11 tents were killed or wounded.

ASSERTS FBI AIDS RED PROBE IN HOLLYWOOD

Rankin Asserts Other U.S. Agencies Helping

BY WILLARD EDWARDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 9—Acting Chairman Rankin [D., Miss.] of the committee on un-American activities, told the house today that the federal bureau of investigation, military and naval intelligence units and other government agencies were coöperating with committee investigators in an inquiry into subversive propaganda in the Hollywood film colony.

The committee, under the chairmanship of former Rep. Dies [D., Tex.], was refused the aid of government investigators by the late President Roosevelt. Rankin's disclosure apparently signaled a change in policy under the Truman administration.

Several leading motion picture producers are also lending their aid, Rankin said, because they "are very much disturbed by having to take the responsibility for loathsome, filthy, un-American undercurrents that are running thru various motion pictures."

Uncover Communist School

Rankin said investigators already have uncovered a school run by Communists for the express purpose of indoctrinating motion picture script writers and teaching them how to write subversive lines into the lines spoken by actors and actresses. He declared the purpose is plain—the glorification of sovietism.

"We are going to the very bottom of this dangerous situation in Hollywood," Rankin said. "All attempts of such persons as Walter Winchell and Drew Pearson [two syndicated columnists and radio commentators] to smear this investigation as a 'witch hunt' cannot stop us.

Poison Minds of Children

"The smear bund would have you believe that this committee is getting ready to take a joy ride to California. That is not true. We are gathering information in Hollywood not only thru out own investigators but thru other governmental and state agencies in that area. The FBI and military and naval intelligence are helping us.

"We are not trying to hound legitimate producers or writers but we are out to expose those elements that are insidiously trying to spread subversive propaganda, poison the minds of the millions of children who attend the movies, distort the history of our country and discredit christianity."

SENATOR BLASTS OPA 'STUPIDITY'; DEMANDS PROBE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 9—Charging that the office of price administration "reeks with incompetence," Sen. Morse [R., Ore.], today blamed congress for "ma ladministration" of the OPA and proposed a permanent congressional committee as a watch dog over the agency.

Sen. Morse

Morse, a slight, wiry man with a big voice who was a college professor and war labor board member before coming to the senate, accused the OPA of making "stupid and asinine" proposals, of issuing "phony statistics," and of "buck passing, stalling, and procrastination."

"One of the serious threats in the administration of the American government in recent years has been the trend of congress to pass a bill which creates an executive agency and then to forget about the activities of that agency until the next year when its representatives ask for a new appropriation," Morse said in a senate speech.

Bowles' "Promises" Cited

"O, they are very reasonable when they are before us asking for appropriations. They make promises, just as we found Mr. Bowles [OPA administrator] making promises when the OPA bill was before us this year.

"I serve notice that I am going to continue to call attention to the incompetency of the OPA in the handling of the food problems of this country."

"Cheap Politics" Charged

Morse told the senate his remarks were prompted by OPA's "stupid and asinine" proposals to increase the marketing of Oregon "soft" lambs. Soft lambs, he explained, are a type of live stock peculiar to the northwest which cannot stand long distance shipment to market. They must be slaughtered and marketed locally, he said.

"The cheap little politicians of the OPA," Morse shouted, "apparently think they would embarrass the Oregon senators by getting such a proposal accepted, in that after solving the problem of the sheep men we would have the cattle men on our necks!"

WILEY DEMANDS END OF EUROPE'S NEWS BLACKOUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 9—Abolition of censorship in all areas occupied by the allied nations was demanded today in a senate resolution introduced by Sen. Wiley [R., Wis.].

In a senate speech, Wiley made it clear that his resolution was designed to lift the black-out in eastern European countries occupied by Russian forces. His resolution, he said, would implement the international freedom of the press resolution adopted by congress last year.

"Since the resolution was adopted," Wiley said, "the news black-out in western Europe has lifted considerably. The end of the European war made this possible.

"The news black-out in eastern Europe remains as dark as it ever was. There, in areas occupied by or under the domination of our Russian ally, journalists of the united nations are denied even the right of entry. . . ."

HOUSE GROUP PUTS U. S. FOOD DEMANDS FIRST

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP)—A policy of placing American civilian food needs ahead of those of foreign countries will be followed by the house committee investigating food shortages, Chairman Pace [D., Ga.] declared today.

Pace, who took over leadership after the former chairman, Clinton Anderson, became secretary of agriculture, said in a statement the committee would:

"Try to secure adoption of the principle that the armed forces have the first claim on our food supplies, that the next claim rightfully belongs to the American people and that their needs should be met before any shipments to foreign countries are made, except such as are absolutely necessary to meet the calls of humanity."

SUPER-HIGHWAY TURNS CHICAGO INTO A LANDLORD

Will Collect Rent from Hundreds

BY WILLIAM STRAND

Acquisition of property for the proposed Congress st. widening has taken the city into the real estate business on a big scale, it was disclosed yesterday. Purchases of west side property along the proposed super-highway route, thru use of the city's share of state motor fuel tax funds, is already nearing the 5 million dollar mark and destined to go higher before a right of way is assured.

The city, besides acquiring the land thru condemnation cases, also has acquired hundreds of tenants occupying the condemned premises. The city, instead of the former owners, now will collect rent, because the new landholdings are municipally owned the properties have been automatically removed from the tax rolls, a loss to the county estimated at approximately $185,000 per year so far.

Engage Real Estate Firms

Another development has been the employment of private real estate firms to manage the new properties. They are paid for their services at the usual rate of 5 per cent on the gross rent collections.

It is a situation unique in the city's history, because war time shortages of materials and labor preclude any accurate prediction as to how soon work on the Congress project will be started. Meanwhile, the city will continue in its expanded landlord role, holding the properties and collecting the rents, less, of course, the amounts taken by the real estate firms.

Rentals thus taken are being held in a separate fund, Ald. Bowler [25th] explained, pending decision by the state on whether the money can be used by the city for corporate purposes or whether it must be returned to the gas tax coffers.

No Competitive Bids Asked

This money, which otherwise would be going to the former owners, already amounts to a "considerable" sum, said Bowler, who is chairman of the council finance committee. He explained that outside realty firms were hired to handle collections because facilities of the city government were inadequate. No competitive bids were asked for, he added, because the 5 per cent rate is the usual amount charged for this service and the council left the matter to the discretion of Controler Upham.

Inquiry disclosed that the companies which were managing the $2,874,000 worth of property taken by the city between the Chicago river and State st. have been left in charge. West of the river, between Desplaines st. and Ashland av., all the condemned properties, costing $1,925,000, have been placed under the management of the George S. Lurie company, 160 N. La Salle st. A spokesman for the company said yesterday that it was "requested" by Upham to take over the collections.

Woman Makes Complaint

The property acquisition in connection with the controversial Congress st. project brought a complaint from Mrs. Mary Stuber, 61, a widow, over the manner in which the city's operations are affecting private holdings. She said she has not received payment for a lot and a three story building at 1145 Van Buren st., but the city has begun collecting rents from her tenants.

Under a condemnation judgment entered before Superior Judge Denis J. Normoyle, she is entitled to $4,400 for her property, records show, but transfer of the deed has been delayed by a $746 lien against her held by the state finance department. Meanwhile, the money to pay the judgment has been deposited by the city with the county treasurer. City officials contend that under the law this gives them possession of the house and lot.

Mrs. Stuber said she is arranging to clear the title but cannot surrender her deed until this is done.

"Maybe they're right, technically," she said. "I'm not trying to stop the highway. But until they pay me, I think I am still the owner of my property."

Five More to Be Acquired

Her lot is one of 230 parcels acquired by the city between Desplaines st. and Ashland av. along the proposed highway route at a cost of $1,925,000. Five more parcels are to be acquired and are expected to cost approximately $450,000. East of the river, the city has paid $2,874,000 for 46 parcels between State and Canal sts. These include office buildings, printing plants, and structures housing manufacturing tailors. The county is required to secure the right of way from Canal st. west to Des Plaines st.

1ST HEARING SET IN COUNTERFEIT COUPON DRIVE

In a concerted effort to stop the flood of counterfeit red ration coupons in Chicago, the Chicago area office of price administration yesterday announced that suspension hearings on 29 cases filed in the last two weeks will begin Monday. OPA has asked suspension of business for the duration for all 29 grocers, who are charged with turning in large amounts of counterfeit stamps to their ration bank accounts.

The first hearing Monday will be against Benjamin A. and Al Taubin, operators of the Clark Food Mart, 720 N. Clark st., charged with turning in 95,000 fake red points, before OPA Chief Hearing Commissioner Kenneth Lemmer. Other cases are scheduled thru Aug. 23.

At the same time James F. Riley, acting director of the Chicago area OPA, said his office has sent out 16,000 letters to food retailers in the area, asking them to post signs that they will not accept loose ration stamps. If the retailer accepts only stamps that he sees torn from a ration book, he can protect himself almost infallibly against counterfeit stamps and the danger of resultant OPA action which may put him out of business, Riley said.

AN ACT OF MERCY

Our navy permitted the Japanese to send a hospital ship to Wake Island to pick up about a thousand sick and wounded men and take them back to Japan. This was an act of mercy not required of us under any of the so-called laws or customs of war. The Japanese had taken the island from us in the first weeks of the conflict. Meanwhile our advance across the Pacific has made it all but impossible for the Japanese to supply, reënforce, or relieve their garrison.

By and large, the war in the Pacific has been the most ferocious in modern times. The sneak attack on Pearl Harbor set the key. The no-surrender doctrine of the Japanese military has meant war to the death wherever battle has been joined. Racial differences have aggravated hatred and contempt on both sides. Thruout the war of white men against white men in Europe there was no year in which the number of prisoners did not vastly exceed the number of killed and wounded. In the Pacific these proportions have been reversed. The extensive use of flame and fire to destroy Japanese soldiers and Japanese cities has been one of the most striking aspects of this war. The technique was employed in Europe, also, but not to the same devastating extent.

It would have been in full accord with the spirit of this war if the Japanese soldiers on Wake had been condemned to die of wounds, disease, and starvation. We are glad our navy reached a different decision. Obviously the removal of a thousand suffering men from the island could do us no harm and the Japanese no good. Only men obsessed by a blind hatred could have refused passage to the hospital ship.

We may hope that the act of mercy will help the Japanese to realize that this nation, tho it fights relentlessly, is not merciless. Sooner or later this war will end in a Japanese surrender. It will end sooner if the Japanese are given reason to hope that their yielding will not mean their utter ruin.

The facts as they stand today are made to order for diplomatic action. When each of the opposing sides in a war thinks it has a good chance to win, the diplomats cannot hope to end hostilities. Today the people of the United States know they cannot lose and the people of Japan know they cannot win. America has recovered the Philippines, destroyed the Japanese navy, avenged Pearl Harbor a hundred times over. The Japanese have been taught the lesson we set out to teach them; with most of our attention until now concentrated on Europe we have imposed defeat after defeat on the emperor's forces on land, on sea, and in the air.

For their part, the Japanese know they have not won a significant victory in three years. Every campaign in that time has gone against them, in spite of the admirable discipline of the Japanese soldiers and sailors and in spite of their disregard of danger and death. There can be very few Japanese who do not realize that the war for them is irretrievably lost. Day by day, the odds against Japan are lengthening as our planes reduce more of their resources to ashes and as more of our troops move from Europe toward Asia.

Several church publications, led by the Christian Century, are publishing a petition to the President suggesting a "basis on which peaceful relations will be restored with Japan after the unconditional surrender of that nation." The first five points differ only insignificantly, if at all, from the Cairo declaration of our aims. The sixth point promises the Japanese that if they will accord full civil liberties to their people under a government responsible to the people, they will be readmitted to the society of nations. The seventh point is a pledge against economic discrimination.

Technically speaking, perhaps, this is not unconditional surrender, but what of it? We do not intend to withhold recognition forever from a liberalized government of Japan if one is established, and in our own interest we do not mean to deprive Japan of commercial relations with us and the rest of the world. The effort of the Christian Century is to be commended. We hope our state department will take advantage of all such suggestions to bring this war to a speedy and satisfactory conclusion. It is for such purposes that we have a state department.

SEND THE PRISONERS HOME

A soldier on guard duty at a prisoner of war camp at Salina, Utah, emptied his machine gun at a group of tents in which prisoners were sleeping. Eight of them were killed and 20 others wounded.

When the investigation has been completed we may know what prompted this crime and where the responsibility may be placed. Meanwhile the incident serves as a reminder that the prisoners of war held by our army here and in Europe should be returned to their homes at the earliest moment. The war is over. Germany has been utterly defeated. There is no conceivable military reason for holding German prisoners any longer. An exception can be made of those Russians who fought in the German army and face execution if they return home.

In Europe it has been the custom to hold prisoners until a definitive treaty of peace is signed, with a view to persuading the vanquished to accept terms which they otherwise might reject. Even that excuse doesn't apply to the present circumstances because there isn't any German government to sign a treaty and there is no prospect of one capable of resisting the will of the allies.

Unlike the European governments, ours has never been distinguished for oppression and tyranny toward a defeated foe. The American way to end a war was described by President Lincoln in the noble phrases of the Second Inaugural and was revealed in action by Gen. Grant at Appomattox. That is our tradition and, applied to the present circumstances, it calls for a prompt return of prisoners to Germany and a rapid withdrawal of our forces from Europe. Americans have no place in an army of occupation. The task would be distasteful at any time and is doubly so now when we have a war against Japan to fight. Any of our soldiers who are not needed across the Pacific should be returned as promptly as possible to civil life where they are needed.

So far as the German and Italian prisoners are concerned, the real but seldom expressed reason for holding them, is the desire to get work out of them. In truth, they are being held in bondage, as slaves, in violation not only of the letter of the Constitution but of the spirit of our institutions. It cannot be pretended that the shipping shortage is responsible for holding them here. The transports which are carrying our men home from Europe could take all the Germans and Italians home in a month or two. There is no overcrowding on the eastward passage.

OVERSEAS AVIATION FLEES COMPETITION

The designation of three air lines to engage in air traffic over North Atlantic routes avoids the stifling effect of a chosen instrument policy but can be appraised as a flirtation with cartel organization in international aviation. The plain fact is that 11 applications for North Atlantic routes were filed with the civil aeronautics board and that only six routes were distributed by the board among three companies.

Ever since the civil aeronautics act was drafted in 1938 the government has discouraged the principle of competition. That act provided that the CAB "shall consider competition to the extent necessary to assure the sound development of an air transportation system properly adapted to the needs of the foreign and domestic commerce of the United States, of the postal service, and of the national defense."

For a nation which stakes its existence upon competition, this is a strange principle. The phrase "to the extent necessary" could hardly be more ambiguous. Why shouldn't any line that wishes to begin overseas operations, which it would not want to do if there was not a reasonable expectation of profits, be assigned the routes it desires?

But the government has adopted the principle of restriction, and the CAB order follows. The senate subcommittee on aviation for a time dallied with the idea of limiting overseas traffic to a single flag line in which any interested company might participate. This proposal would, in effect, have created a virtual government monopoly in world aviation. The CAB has not gone quite that far, but the authorizations to a mere three companies do not represent much of an improvement.

Rep. Shafer has demanded that congress investigate the circumstances under which Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., was recognized as one of the favored companies. He said that the ubiquitous Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt had "consorted with officials of TWA while the company's application for ocean routes was pending," and that, despite recommendations by a CAB examiner that the line be denied routes, the board gave it preference.

Gen. Roosevelt's penchant for getting involved in business adventures is well known. In them he has had support from the White House on occasion and from federal departments and agencies. The RFC has acted for him in one personal deal, and the treasury department has shown a reluctance to inquire closely into his affairs. He has influence and no sense of delicacy restrains him from using it. His association with the TWA seems to have had a certain effect, for the examiner had recommended that the applications of eight other lines in addition to TWA be denied. The other eight lost out with the CAB, but TWA did not.

Such conditions are to be expected when government lends itself to cartelization, as it is doing in the allotment of ocean flying routes. The cartel system not only discourages competition, but it makes certain that insiders with a whispering privilege in Washington will clean up. If the gates were thrown wide to every line that wants to compete, the situation would be far more healthy and there would be less chance of scandalous advantages being allowed to favorites.

The other lines assigned routes are American Export Airlines, which is being taken over by American Airlines, and Pan American Airways, which has pioneered many of the international routes and without which America's position in world aviation could probably not be developed with success. Pan American was the principal proponent of the flag line plan. We did not agree with its position that to meet foreign flag line competition this country would have to subscribe to cartelization itself, but no one will dispute that the line is a capable operator.

One other detail of the CAB program which is being used as a talking point is that Chicago is to be the western terminal of the trans-Atlantic routes. If this city really were the terminal, all of the routes to northern Europe would run directly from Chicago thru Labrador. Instead, only one route traverses Labrador, and it originates in fact at Boston.

The CAB would be advised to review its whole plan and to open up international traffic to the entire field.

It may be possible for some American general to ride Hirohito's famous white horse thru Tokyo, but a good old sure-footed Missouri mule would be more practical for picking his way thru the debris.—Washington Evening Star.

Able-bodied poets without dependents will be required to increase their output at least 12½ per cent. Poets in retirement must give up their soft way of life and return to the field of conflict for the duration. Miss Winn will be glad, no doubt, to lend-lease her Halifax Gadley II., whom she recently described as a poetaster, the lowest form of literate life. And an assessment of 14 lines, which may be a sonnet if he pleases, will be levied against Autolycus if we can catch him.

* * *

These measures will perhaps suffice for the immediate emergency, but for the long pull we may have to call upon our Department of Education to supply a course of free lessons for apprentices. The curriculum should include: "How to Be a Poet," "How to Be a Major Poet," "How to Be a Major Poet Emeritus," "How to Be a Modern Poet," and "The Rich Rewards of Poetic Effort."

Any bright student giving diligent attention to these lectures should find it easy to produce three poems before breakfast and two more on the boss' time before lunch.

To show how simple it is, here is a Sample Poem:

If this Linemaster fails to print
Your stuff, withhold your hisses;
Perhaps [and this is just a hint]
He's full of prejudices.

* * *

A final word of encouragement. Poets should have no fear that their endeavors will be wasted. Works bearing the unmistakable stamp of genius will be used. All other manuscripts will be packed snugly into the bin [or a bin annex if necessary] to await the return of Dr. Collins.

And poems that even he refuses to print will eventually be neatly baled and stacked along the curb, where Boy Scouts will shovel them up on the next collection day. Nothing is useless.

PASS BY MY DOOR

Pass by my door, or pause a moment there.
Your presence holds some rare felicity
That sheds a quick enchantment on my care;
Some talisman of comfort, coined for me.
Pass by my door, with words, or silently.
For whether the hour be dim, or rimmed with light,
Strangely you walk between me and the night.

Coffeepot Reverie

Why are folks so reluctant to discard old coffeepots? Our family history is associated with three. The first was a huge, gallon size affair. It was a dark gray, mottled enamel kind with a generous pouring spout. We kids marveled at the amount it held and the amount of coffee that our family could consume.

The coffee ritual started at 6 a. m., before Pa went to work. At 10 the womenfolk had their midmorning cup, plus coffee cake. Noon found the pot, brewing for lunch, on the wood-burning range. By midafternoon the familiar aroma announced to the ladies that it was time to cease their labors and refresh themselves again. At supper Ma filled Pa's mustache cup twice. Later on, at 9 p. m., the family gathered 'round the pot to enjoy a small sip before going to bed.

Our second pot was only a two-quart size. Its light blue color harmonized with Ma's new gas stove. The womenfolk still had their midmorning and afternoon cups, but we kids were then old enough to work in the city, therefore two quarts were ample.

The third coffeepot held only a quart. Ma says the aluminum certainly looked quite modern on her new electric range. But Pa still uses the gallon pot to water the garden, and the two-quart pot has been adopted by the nephews; it's the whitewash container when they mark out the prairie baseball diamond.

Thanks for a Stamp

The V formation and win-the-war catch phrase, as publicized by our 3 cent postage, tend to give us office workers the jitters. One can never be sure just for whom the ambiguous message is intended. To help mitigate this uncertainty, our stamp-licking department always affixes these 3 centers upside down, so that the eagle design reads capital "A" for America.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

W. L. D. asks: "How much time is granted to military personnel to file income tax returns after reassignment to the United States from duty overseas?"

Until the 15th day of the sixth month following the month of return to the United States, according to a new treasury department ruling.

V. S. asks: "Are air force reserve officers entitled to mustering out pay?"

Not if entitled to lump sum payment of $500 for each complete year of active service.

F. H. asks: "Why are some soldiers given civilian clothing by the army upon discharge and others sent home with only the uniforms they are wearing?"

Only honorably discharged men are permitted to wear the uniform of their country away from their place of discharge. Those discharged without honor get civilian outer clothing at a cost not to exceed $15. The uniform outer clothing must be retained for military use, according to law.

O. F. asks: "What extra pay is given to members of the crew of a submarine? Do they also get foreign service pay in addition to the extra pay?"

Enlisted men serving aboard a submarine get 50 per cent of their base extra plus 20 per cent of the base plus extra pay for sea duty.

THE PREVALENCE OF "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

"ATHLETE'S foot" is one of our common disorders and probably results in more disability than we realize. How long this fungus infection has existed is not known exactly, but my guess is that we became aware of it when we began to wear shoes, which provide the warmth and moisture necessary for the organism to thrive.

It was only in 1916 that the first large American series was reported. At this time the "bug" was isolated from the lesions and studied microscopically. Caro is of the opinion that the last war may have added to its dissemination thruout the United States. The doughboy picked up the invader in various camps and training centers and, after demobilization, brought it home to every city, town, and village.

This may explain in part why it is more prevalent in men. They are more likely to frequent gymnasiums and swimming pools which must also be considered a factor. Now that the girls are so active in industry and other war efforts, possibly they will share in playing host to the nuisance. Some people seem more predisposed than others. Certain individuals may never fall victim. But we have no test to determine susceptibility and consequently it behooves all of us to be on guard. The fungus is contracted by exposure to contaminated bathmats, floors, socks, and shoes.

Altho it is noted during the entire year, this is the season when it flourishes. Apparently the organism needs dampness and heat to grow but unhealthy tissue resulting from lowered general resistance or circulatory disturbances is fertile soil. This is the main reason why potential sufferers are always cautioned about keeping the feet clean and dry.

The initial warning of its presence is the appearance of a few tiny, watery blisters on the sides or undersurface of the toes. Spread may occur spontaneously or by scratching. The lesions may dry up and be replaced by scales but, more often than not, they enlarge, and rupture follows irritation. Ultimately the area becomes covered with dead, thickened, cracked, or macerated skin. Secondary infection produces swelling, redness, and evidence of extension to the lymph channels. The nails are not immune. When they are involved they become opaque or yellowish in color.

There are as many treatments as there are patients. Every one has his pet remedy. Most victims do not realize that each phase of the eruption demands a special type of medicine. The fungus is easily killed in a test tube by any number of chemicals but the story is different when the ringworm has burrowed beneath a few layers of skin.

In early cases, antiseptic dusting powders such as borated talc, may be all that is necessary. Dilute solutions of potassium permanganate in a footbath may also be of value. In later or chronic stages stronger measures are advised. We must be careful to protect the healthy surrounding tissue or severe reactions may arise. The use of preparations which burn the skin, such as the camphor-phenol mixture, is hardly worth the chance. In extremely stubborn outbreaks, X-rays—given skilfully—may be required. But even this therapy fails at times and the victim must be content to live with his affliction. Fortunately, this form is frequently minimal and usually not disabling.

The World Changes Little

The end of the war surely is near. Another daredevil has shot the Niagara Falls rapids in a barrel, the first since the Japs invaded Manchuria. It is nice that he and the barrel came out whole, but we can't help thinking of Bobby Leach, who did the same thing in 1898. The feat left him unaffected physically, but gave him that mental affliction common to all daredevils—a desire to beat his own record. This forced him to go over the great Horseshoe falls in a barrel in 1911. That, in turn, gave him a broken jaw, two broken knee caps, and 23 weeks' meditation in a hospital. He died in Australia when he slipped on a banana peeling.

As far as is known, only three persons and 25 wild geese have gone over the great falls and lived. The first was Mrs. Annie E. Taylor, a school teacher, who did it in a padded barrel in 1901. Her sole motive was to make her fortune, and she died in a poorhouse. The next was Leach, who used a steel barrel. The third was Jean Laussier, who in 1928 used a rubber ball 11 feet in diameter. He emerged with sense enough not to try it again and went to work as a traveling salesman. The geese were swept over in 1935, revived with brandy, and flew away in the well-known V shape, then ignored by Europe.

Ever since the Erie canal opened western New York state to tourists, Niagara has been the focal point for as many daredevils as lovers. The former have tried every conceivable means of mastering the water. They have dived into it, parachuted into it, walked over it, manacled hand and foot [a lady did this], on tightropes, tempted the whirlpool in boats with such fitting names as Fool Killer, and bobbled over and under it in barrels. A Philadelphia cooper, Carlisle D. Graham, the first to ride the rapids in a barrel, did it five times in the '80s. A girl, Martha Wagenfuhrer, then borrowed his barrel and made it twice. In 1886 a man and a woman wedged themselves into a single barrel and came up smiling. This induced an actress, Maud Willard, to take her dog for the ride. The dog blocked the air hole with his nose and survived. The lady did not.

Our own candidate for the bravest Niagara goof is neither any of these, nor Charles Blondin, the French acrobat, who in 1859 first crossed the falls on a tightrope, but Harry Colcord, the man who crossed on Blondin's back. Blondin already had crossed, with world shaking effect, blindfolded, trundling a wheelbarrow, with his feet in baskets, standing on his head, dancing jigs, pausing in midstream to eat his lunch, and in complete darkness. He did it for money and when great bets were offered to prove he could not carry a man on his back, he roped in his assistant, Colcord.

The rope was 1,100 feet long, anchored on the Canadian side to axletrees imbedded in the rock and on the American side by a horse powered windlass. Guy ropes every 20 feet, weighted with salt bags, held it taut except for a 50 foot stretch in the center which no rope could reach. Across this Blondin set forth, Colcord on his back. A third of the way out, he held up his hat so a pistol expert could shoot a hole thru it. After two misses, the expert made it. Then, hat on head, Blondin raced across the slack area prepared to rest at a pause spot beyond. But when he reached the spot, the rope was limp: some one had cut the guy rope at its anchor. Blondin began to puff, to stumble, and in a last burst of strength reached the shore. Ladies wept and men fainted.

It didn't bother Blondin a bit. A year later he crossed on stilts in the presence of the prince of Wales. In 1888, when 64, he came back to America, set up his tightrope 170 feet above the ground of Staten Island, carried a stove out on the rope with him, and cooked an omelet.

Colcord was never again the same. Forty years later he wrote: "The thought of that day still haunts me. . . . I look down at the swirling river far below. I feel Blondin stumble and sway as the ruffians try to upset us and he breaks into a wild run for life. . . . I jump up in a cold sweat."

WHERE BRETTON WOODS FAILS

Chicago, July 6—THE TRIBUNE of June 21 published a report about my testimony on the Bretton Woods agreements before the senate committee on banking and currency which unfortunately gave the impression to some of my friends that I had become an advocate of the international monetary fund provided under those agreements. In reality, my point was that bad as the fund is, the International Bank for Reconstruction, provided under the same agreements, is even worse.

Will you permit me to correct any misunderstanding by a very short summary of the relevant points in my testimony?

1. The bank is less desirable than the fund because the statutes of the fund propose at least in principle that the debtors should stabilize their currencies, while the bank is to pour out dollars with no such string attached.
2. In practice, the fund will not bring exchange stabilization either, altho it promises to do so. Its statutes permit, if not actually encourage the members to maintain and even to introduce the Nazi type of foreign exchange restrictions. These restrictions strangulate international trade and cause retaliations in kind. Consequently, the plan of the fund accomplishes the exact opposite of stabilization — it unstabilizes. It legalizes foreign exchange restrictions, which are the most vicious method of economic warfare.
3. A country under foreign exchange restrictions is not credit-worthy. It cannot get capital for reconstruction unless for political reasons or by charity. Maintenance of those restrictions means therefore that no reconstruction of a business-like nature can be undertaken in the international sphere. Instead of restoring the free flow of capital and goods, the Bretton Woods plan will perpetuate an artificial structure and will make more and more management of the world economy imperative.
4. The statutes of the fund also permit the members to indulge in devaluations of their currencies, if only occasionally. But this is a minor shortcoming compared to the promotion of exchange restrictions which are self-perpetuating in effect.

DODO DEWEY

Mount Vernon, Ill., July 2 — Tom Dewey's appearance at Mackinac Island in 1942, plus his international political views, wrecked his Presidential possibilities for 1944 because he was willing to sell his party and his country short. Dewey again appears at Mackinac in 1945, more determined than ever to betray our country and the Republican party into the hands of the international gangsters by forcing the fake San Francisco Charter on sovereign American citizens.

Some loyal and patriotic Republican governor should take Mr. Dewey to one side and explain to him in a manner he will understand that he as a political leader is as dead as a dodo.

ESSENTIAL WITH A BROOM

Fort Custer, Mich, June 29—I hear something of an 85 point system on the discharge of soldiers. I am a returned veteran of 35 with three years in the Pacific jungles and four and one-half years of service behind me. I was wounded twice and have been back in the States seven months of which five were spent in hospitals. After drawing a verdict of "permanent duty in the States," I was placed in a casual outfit.

Come this so-called "point system." I was all worked up, having collected 122 points along the way. But what happens? First they stall us off with "you'll have to wait for replacements" and now they tell us we are essential. For the last two months I have been cleaning up an orderly's room. If this is essential and they can't find any one to fill this important position, I'll apologize and finish my 30 years of service.

Being a railroad man prior to the service, I think I could be doing myself and everybody else concerned a lot more good, and at the same time be saving the taxpayers from paying my board.

PRAIRIE STATES PAINTED BY OWI AS BARREN LAND

Industry Lags in Area, Russians Told

Omaha, Neb., July 9 [Special]—The Omaha chamber of commerce today protested to the OWI and to Nebraska's delegation in congress the publication of an OWI magazine which the chamber charged implies that the rich prairie states of America are a "drouth stricken, poverty ridden territory with little hope of economic salvation."

The magazine, entitled America Illustrated, was published by the OWI for distribution in Russia for the avowed purpose of "helping the Russians understand America."

The magazine, which is illustrated, is published in Russian by the OWI's New York office. About 20,000 copies are issued bi-monthly and sent to Russia, selling for the equivalent of about 90 cents each.

A Blunder Admitted

In Washington a spokesman for the OWI who refused use of his name acknowledged that publication of the article was a "blunder." He said he would consult with OWI executives tomorrow and a formal statement would be issued. He said he had been deluged with complaints about the article, and suggested it might have been written by a "Broadwayite" who was unaware that the United States extended beyond the Hudson river in New York. He said he would apologize to the offended states.

This is what the magazine had to say:

"This prairie land includes the following states: Kansas, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Wyoming, Montana, Colorado, and Utah.

"This region, covering almost one-quarter of the whole territory of the United States, supports only one-twentieth part of the population of the country.

Tells of Great Scarcity

"The people are almost exclusively farmers. Livestock raising is carried on only in the mountainous parts of Montana and Wyoming. Industry is almost nonexistent. Raw materials and fabricated goods must be imported from other states. The rich natural resources of the region are as yet untouched.

"The climate of the region is very dry and it sometimes happens that a drouth lasts for 10 years in a row. Atmospheric precipitation does not exceed on the average of 44 centimeters [17 inches] during the year.

"The agronomists are working hard to find new plants suitable for this arid land. As a result of their labors, hundreds of thousands of hectares [a hectare is 2.47 acres of land] have already been turned into fertile fields."

O. W. Roberts, manager of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, denounced the publication for presenting a false picture of the prairie states.

"This magazine, designed to help the Russians understand America, goes wide of its mark in describing the prairie states," said Roberts.

Food Output Overlooked

"While correctly describing the midwest as primarily an agricultural region, the magazine fails to give emphasis to the importance of this region in supplying the food for our own people as well as our allies. The OWI description implies that the midwest is a drouth stricken, poverty ridden territory with little hope of economic salvation.

"In stating that 'industry is almost nonexistent' it gives no thought to the important contributions Nebraska has made to the winning of the war. Nor does it take into consideration the rapid industrial expansion of the midwest in recent years.

"A check with the department of commerce, the bureau of census and the department of agriculture would have corrected many of these misstatements before the magazine was published."

Assailed by Congressmen

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP)—Two Kansas congressmen today denounced an OWI article which depicted a large area of the prairie states as drought ridden and undeveloped.

Rep. Rees [R., Kas.] told the house that the account is "wrong, unfounded, and untruthful," adding that the magazine had been sent to 20,000 "key Russians."

Rep. Hope [R., Kas.] in a letter told Elmer Davis, director of the OWI that one of his writers showed something close to "a genius for ignorance" in the article.

Hope said his Kansas district alone last year produced over 100 million bushels of wheat.

ARMY JACKETS BY MILLIONS, BUT MORE ARE MADE

Production of woolen field jackets for the army is still under way in the Chicago clothing industry despite disclosure that 3,000,000 are stored in warehouses in Europe, it was learned yesterday.

The Kilgore subcommittee in the United States senate last week charged the jackets were ordered last year on a rush basis that disrupted the production of civilian clothing in the United States.

WAUKEGAN CITY COUNCIL REBELS AGAINST MAYOR

Waukegan's city council last night voted, 8 to 4, against confirmation of Mayor Frank G. Wallin's reappointment of Corporation Counsel J. E. Bairstow, central figure in a controversy over proposed city annexation of land formerly owned by Bairstow. Bairstow challenged the votes of Aldermen Hough, Poglayen, and Tannahill as illegal. Mayor Wallin upheld the challenge and then the mayor cast a vote to make the result a tie. The question of Bairstow's reappointment will be submitted to special counsel for an opinion.

SEEK FBI TO AID KIDNAP HUNT OF HOSPITAL BABY

Marion, O., July 9 [Special]—Police Chief William E. Marks announced tonight that Tech. Sgt. John L. Creviston, overseas veteran has been "separated from any responsibility" in the disappearance last night of his infant daughter from her crib in City hospital.

Tech. Sgt. J. Creviston

Creviston, now stationed at the Lockbourne army air base near Columbus, O., was absent without leave from last Friday until 11:30 a. m. today when he appeared at the air base and said he had been visiting friends in Fostoria, O., 46 miles north of here.

FBI Aid Is Sought

Verification of Creviston's story that he was in Fostoria from Friday until today leaves police free to proceed on the theory that the baby is the victim of a criminal kidnaping, the chief said. He added that the federal bureau of investigation, which so far has remained aloof from the case because of the possibility of family complications, will now be invited to participate in the investigation.

The chief admitted that police have a description of a person believed to be the kidnaper but refused to state whether this person is a man or woman.

He said this person, carrying a baby, appeared last night at a home on the west side of the city and asked permission to enter for the purpose of changing the baby's diaper. Permission was granted and the person brought the baby in and made the change, leaving the diaper behind. The chief said the diaper has been identified as property of the City hospital.

Mother Issues Appeal

Mrs. Creviston, 24 and a Marion society woman, left the hospital today for the home of her father, Roscoe D. Mezger, former safety director of Marion. She issued an appeal, "Whoever took my baby, be kind to her."

Disappearance of the baby from her crib in the hospital's second floor nursery was discovered about 8 p. m. yesterday a short time after she had been returned to the crib after feeding. The baby was born Tuesday.

Creviston told authorities at Lockbourne he had no knowledge of the kidnaping prior to his return there. He was married in May, 1944, three days after his return to this country from European service during which he had been a prisoner in Germany. He is an aerial gunner and holds the distinguished flying cross and air medal.

NEGRO HOUSING BANS ANALYZED AT PARLEY HERE

The legal committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People opened a two day conference yesterday in the Hotel Sherman. Lawyers from 12 states described litigations in courts in their cities involving restrictive housing covenants. Analysis of similar cases in high courts was presented later.

At a dinner session last night, Oscar W. Brown, president of the Chicago branch of the N. A. A. C. P., told the committee that the Negro population in Chicago increased by 20,000 last year, and that in 1943 the Negro community already had 70,000 more residents than its housing would accommodate. Brown deplored the actions of 70 federated city neighborhoods in behalf of restrictive housing.

The committee's conference will continue thru today. The N. A. A. C. P. has a membership of 520,000. Enrollment in the Chicago chapter is 12,000.

POLICE RECOVER MISSING BABY; ARREST COUPLE

Eight weeks old Florence Maydon, 3247 E. 91st st., who was taken from her home Saturday, was found unharmed last night in a room at 1919 Monroe st., where police seized Mrs. Eleanor Toney, 26, and her husband, Wayman Toney, 30, Negro.

Mrs. Toney, former radar factory worker, who had been engaged to care for the baby during the absence of her mother, Mrs. Dolores Maydon, vanished after saying she was taking the infant for an airing.

Detectives said Mrs. Toney explained that she had telephoned the Maydon home several hours after she left to inform the family of her whereabouts with the baby. She said Mrs. Maydon's brother, Pvt. Jesse Tovar, just returned from Germany, threatened to punish her and she was afraid to return it.

Charles A. Scheidt, 59, was found hanged yesterday in the basement of his home at 8008 S. Justine st.

WILMETTE BEER LEGALITY PUT TO COURT TEST

Wilmette's legal right to enforce its village dry law was challenged in an injunction suit filed yesterday in Circuit court on behalf of Raymond Meier, part owner of the Wilmette Ice company, 733 Green Bay rd.

The suit, filed by Atty. Harry C. Kane, charged that William H. Alexander, village president, threatened to prosecute the ice company owners unless they discontinued sales of beer in case lots. Meier said the sales total $40,000 a year.

The village voted dry in a referendum election in 1934, and in 1937 enacted an ordinance prohibiting the retail sale of alcoholic beverages. Atty. Kane asserted that the referendum proposition did not provide against the sale of packaged liquors.

CARRY SERVICE MEN FIRST, CAB DRIVERS TOLD

M. M. Sokoll, president of the Checker Cab company, yesterday announced that for the next 90 days Checker cab drivers have been instructed to give preference to men in uniform over civilians.

Sokoll said that in order to give good service to men returning to their homes from Europe for a vacation before going to the Pacific a larger percentage of cabs has been assigned to railroad depots.

He said: "It is only fair to the service men, who may be carrying heavy luggage, to get them to railroad stations without delay, so that they may enjoy the maximum of their vacation with relatives."

Mother to Face Court for Deserting Children

Mrs. Harriet Bechstahler, 26, of 1904 Warren av., who abandoned two of her three daughters Saturday, was ordered yesterday by Municipal Judge Victor A. Kula to appear July 17 in Domestic relations court with her parents. She is charged with contributing to the dependency of minors. The children, Ida Mae, 7, and Carol Ann, 5, were placed in the Juvenile home.

GRAHAM-PAIGE!

Graham-Paige has also charted a bold course in the farm equipment field. Plans include a line of modern tractors, direct-attached implements, and Rototillers in a wide range of sizes. These machines will be produced and marketed by our rapidly expanding Farm Equipment Division, at Warren, Ohio.
Behind the carefully-guarded doors of Graham-Paige's engineering laboratories in Detroit, waits the most exciting secret in America. 'DON'T FENCE ME IN' LEADS ALL RADIO SONG HITS

Heard by 700 Million on 4 Networks in Year

BY LARRY WOLTERS

Cole Porter's "Don't Fence Me In" was the top song hit of the 1944-'45 season, according to the annual survey of the Office of Research—Radio division, which is directed by Dr. John G. Peatman of Columbia university. This song, from the movie "Hollywood Canteen," received a rating indicating 700 million "listenings" by way of the four major networks during the year. Cole Porter also led the parade in favorite standard tunes. His perennially popular "Begin the Beguine" led this list.

366 IN NIGHT FLYING GROUPS RETURN TO U. S.

New York, July 9 (AP)—The Felix Grundy docked today with 366 members of the 84th and 85th bombardment squadrons of the night flying 12th air force.

Most of the passengers, bombardiers, gunners and ground crew men, had been overseas two and a half years. Their main fighting job was the night bombing of enemy positions in the Po valley.

Maj. C. N. Bowen of Oakland, Cal., executive officer and adjutant of the 47th bomb group, said 82 per cent of the men aboard had more than the necessary 85 discharge points and that most of them were eager to fight in the Pacific.

Four transports carrying more than 11,000 United States troops, including Maj. Gen. Harold W. Blakeley, commander of the 4th infantry division, and Maj. Gen. Warren F. P. Draper, chief of the public health branch of the civil affairs division, are expected to arrive here tomorrow from Europe.

OPA SWINGING AT BANK NOTES; MUSIC MEN BLUE

Called Out of Groove in Price Policy

BY GLADYS PRIDDY

Swing it high or swing it low, the office of price administration makes only sour notes, not bank notes, for the National Association of Music Merchants—the retailers of band and orchestra instruments, sheet music, radios, and television.

Unless the OPA gets into a smoother pricing policy groove in the manufacture of pianos, for instance, this country is going to run short of Horowitzes, Oscar Levants, and Dorothy Donegans in the next generation for lack of instruments.

This was the blues song yesterday—one of them—concerning 26 members of the music merchants' board of control meeting in the Palmer House in lieu of the annual convention which would bring 3,500 here ordinarily.

A Guinea Pig Two Times

As explained by William A. Mills, executive secretary, the piano industry is a two-time guinea pig—first to get the go-ahead signal to reconvert last October and first to prove that reconversion under OPA's unrealistic pricing plan won't work except in the red, so far as the music merchants are concerned.

Now, Mills said, the piano makers would like to go on being guinea pigs for a third move: Out from under government controls and into free enterprise.

That move, he prophesied, would bring full and complete production with competition that would ultimately result in even lower prices for the instruments plus translating potential unemployment in piano making areas into full employment.

The war, said Mills and E. R. McDuff of Detroit, Mich., president of the organization, has brought an upsurge of interest in music and music has been an important part of the war effort. Men have been taught to play in service and they are given music as therapy in government hospitals.

Could Sell 300,000 a Year

Surveying the market, the retailers say they can now sell 300,000 pianos a year, compared with 159,000 in 1941, the last full year of production. Other figures from the market outlook which they quoted included plans for one-half billion phonograph records per year as contrasted with 141 millions last year, and about 250 millions at the current rate. Comparable increases in musical sales at all levels, as soon as full production can be obtained, are predicted.

But the music retailers can't sell instruments they can't buy. In the piano business, the industry is now at only 10 per cent of production. It was first held up by lack of vital materials. Then came the OPA policy which originally permitted only a 13 per cent increase in prices for producing at higher labor and material costs and proved no incentive. One plant lost $100,000 in seven months and finally closed its doors in the face of the biggest piano market in 20 years.

For one sweet note—apartment dwellers should be happy. If li'l Willie has no piano, li'l Willie can't practice.

MOST DRAFTEES IN ILLINOIS NOW ARE AGED 18 TO 29

Col. Victor Klebber, Illinois deputy director of selective service, said yesterday in Springfield that most of the state's inductees for military service now are between 18 and 29 years of age. Since June 22, when local boards were directed to be strict regarding deferments for men under 30 and more liberal toward those over that age, fewer men in the 30-38 age group have been inducted. Men under 30 who are certified as being in essential jobs still are being deferred, Klebber said.

POSITIONS OPEN IN POSTOFFICE AT HIGHER PAY

Postmaster Ernest J. Kreutgen said yesterday that pay raises granted July 1 are making postal department positions more attractive to job seekers. Raises averaging $400 annually for all Chicago postal workers became effective when the President signed the bill last week. Kreutgen said jobs are open for mail handlers, clerks, carriers, laborers, messengers, and elevator operators. Immediate employment is available, he added, to men and boys over 16 years to assist in handling the large volume of war time mail. Applications should be made in room 425 in the new postoffice at Canal and Van Buren sts.

COUNTY HEALTH BOARD IS URGED BY DR. PISZCZEK

Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, county health director, yesterday expressed concern about possible epidemics in suburban areas and urged before the county board that a county department of public health be created. Four county commissioners from the suburban areas said they were not convinced of the necessity of the proposed new government unit. President Clayton F. Smith of the board said he would appoint a special committee to investigate.

Dr. Piszczek said the proposed department would not have jurisdiction in Chicago, Evanston, Winnetka, and Kenilworth, which have full time health workers, and that it would do little in Oak Park, Cicero, and Berwyn except during major epidemics of communicable diseases.

As health menaces he mentioned undulant fever, scarlet fever, and infantile paralysis from milk; rabies from stray dogs over which the county has no power; stream and ditch pollution, and sanitation in restaurants and nursing homes.

The county board also considered requests from Judge Frank Bicek of Juvenile court and representatives of Chicago social agencies that county aid for children placed in foster homes be increased from $20 to $30 a month and that the subsidization of institutional care be increased from $15 to $20.

Tank on Patrol

Pedestrians in peaceful Evanston are being reminded daily that there is a war going on. Seldom does an hour of daylight pass without some one sidestepping in wonder or in terror a formidable baby tank, bristling with armament and a fighting tank corps commander arrayed in a jungle suit and helmet. The tank guns are wood, however, and the tank is always on reconnaisance patrol. The tank, mounted on a mobile coaster wagon, is a reproduction of a Gen. Sherman, and its commander is Robert Wendt Jr., 10, of 624 Garrett pl. The tank was built by Robert's father, who is a patent attorney.

Galloping Hills Early Arrivals Get a Preview

BY JUDITH CASS

ABOUT 10 automobile loads of would-be horse show spectators who missed the announcement that the Galloping Hills horse show was postponed from last Sunday to next Sunday arrived at the Louis F. Swifts' farm day before yesterday armed with picnic luncheons and prepared to spend a gala day. They spent the day, all right, but not exactly as planned.

Because the children along were so disappointed at the thought of leaving, the men of the families—all strangers to the Swifts — parked their cars, removed their shirts, and went to work helping Mr. Swift with his mowing, Mrs. Swift with her fence building, and Mrs. William Swift with her ditch-digging job. While their fathers were helping to make ready the new outside jumping course which will be used next Sunday, the children had a whirl riding ponies and watching the farm animals, and all promised to return next Sunday to watch the event in which they now feel a personal interest.

Mrs. Swift is patterning the new jumping course after the one at the Bloomfield Hills Hunt club in Michigan, and it will be more difficult than the one used at previous Galloping Hills shows. The number of entries has nearly tripled over last year, and horsemen will have a number of interesting trophies for which to compete.

Mrs. Edward N. Hurley Jr. has contributed a handsome silver appetizer tray in memory of her nephew, the late John B. Murphy Murdock, which the winner of the handy hunter competition will take home. James M. Hopkins has repeated his gift of last year, a Paul Revere silver bowl, which again will be in memory of his stepdaughter, the late Mrs. Kay Goodman King. There will be cash prizes for the first time in the hunters' and jumpers' stakes.

The show will start at 10 a. m. and is open to the public. Admission of $1, plus tax, may be paid at the gate. Spectators are urged to bring their own picnic luncheons. The farm may be reached by taxicab from the railroad stations at Lisle or Wheaton, or by driving west in Ogden or Roosevelt roads and watching for horse show markers west of Lisle.

Visitors Here

The Swifts will have 16 house guests over the week-end, among them Christopher Wadsworth of Kenmore, N. Y., and Brock Fuller of Milwaukee, who will judge. Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. John Blackwood of Bloomfield Hills, and four boys, guests of young Bumpy Swift, are included in the group. The Theodore Mohlmans also are having house guests, among them Mrs. John Kelly of Racine, Wis. An overflow group will be quartered in the Chicago Golf club.

Another household with bulging walls is the Winnetka home in which Mrs. Edward M. Harkness and Mrs. Franklin E. Agnew Jr. grew up and where the Harknesses and their three children now live. Mr. and Mrs. Agnew, who live in Clayton, Mo., and three of their four children are spending three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Harkness. The young cousins, Edward Jr., Kenneth, and Cynthia Harkness and Gates, Hewes, and Suzanne Agnew, are becoming reacquainted. The oldest Agnew boy, Billy, is at camp.

Here from Washington, D. C., for a visit with her mother, Mrs. William B. Hale, in Winnetka are Mrs. Howard F. Gillette Jr., the former Mary Hale, and her young son, Rowdy. Lt. Gillette of the naval reserve will come out in July to spend his leave here and to take his wife and son back to Washington. Mrs. Hale's son, Maj. George E. Hale, also was at home on leave recently but has returned to Arlington, Va., where he and his wife live.

THE QUESTION

Do you think wives should be sent to Germany to be with their husbands who are with the army of occupation?

WHERE ASKED

Merchandise Mart

THE ANSWERS

Florence Janszyn, student, 2723 Crystal st.—Maybe later but not until the war with Japan is over. There may be space to send them to Europe but it would entail a lot of work and this would detract from the war effort. If they remain in Europe for two or three years after the war is over I'd say yes. But not at this time.

Corp. Warren Jechort, 7852 Champlain av.—I can understand the women wanting to be with their husbands and vice versa. If it could be done without hurting the war in the Pacific it would definitely be the thing to do. Complete victory should be the main concern right now and everything else should be secondary.

Irene Pogorzelec, packing engineer, 5359 Lynch av.—The boys are very lonesome. I think the wives should be allowed to join their husbands. If the wives could be with them they wouldn't have to come back to the United States on furloughs until they could leave Europe once and for all. It certainly is a problem.

Gayle Sheldon, private secretary, 6239 Drexel av.—From what I've read in the newspapers, conditions aren't such in Europe that it would be a pleasant place to take any one. Most of the women would get so homesick they couldn't stay there and be happy. When you take everything into consideration, it would be impractical.

C. L. Boe, merchandiser, 3854 Jerome st., Skokie—If the wives lived in Europe for just a short while they'd probably be ready to get on the first boat back to America. Having them over there would be just that many more hungry people to provide for—an added responsibility to our government.

N. W. Benstein, sales representative, 2229 N. Kimball av.—It would only mean thousands more to carry food to in these critical times when food is scarce. The way we complain with all our luxuries, I doubt if the women would survive in Europe. It would only add to the burden of the war conditions.

Thru the Looking Glass

Preferences—and even results—vary in such things, but there's a preparation many women have found particularly satisfactory which temporarily checks and deodorizes perspiration. We like it for several reasons: We've found it efficient. It has an applicator that makes it easy to use. AND the directions that accompany it—they're on the bottle, where all such directions should always be—are specific.

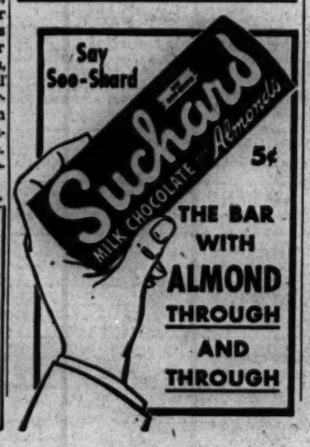

This preparation is a liquid, but there is a cream, too, made by the same manufacturers, which women who perspire lightly can use with great success every day. When you first begin using the liquid, it is applied daily for about a week. Then you synchronize its use with your individual requirements. Some need to use it only once a week, some twice. There's something you learn for yourself. Then, too, there are times, especially when your nerves are on edge, when you'll perspire far more than normally; you can use it oftener then.

It's to be applied to a clean surface, but before you put it on don't scrub furiously. Clean the area under the arms well, but gently. Then apply the liquid freely, not rubbing, but dabbing gently with the applicator—which prevents dripping, by the way. Allow it to dry thoroly before you put on your clothes. Then wipe the area—again gently—with a wet cloth, dry thoroly—with pats rather than furious swipes—and dust the underarms with talc. Don't use this—or any similar preparation, for that matter—after shaving; use it before.

You'll find, we think, that this preparation gives you excellent protection; it will help you be as dainty on any July day as you would be on Christmas. And you'll have no reaction unless you're unduly allergic or sensitive or don't follow directions.

Reopen Louvre Today with Art of 5 Centuries

BY ROBERT SAGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, July 9—While workers were still engaged in scrubbing the accumulation of five years' dust off the Louvre's staircase of honor, members of the press were admitted this afternoon in the freshly decorated Salle de l'Ecole Francaise for a preview of 80 world famous masterpieces of painting which will form the chief attraction when the great museum's doors are again thrown open to the public tomorrow.

The spectacle represented by four score top treasures of the Louvre collections hung about the walls of a single room is breathtaking. Probably never before has so much art of this quality been concentrated in so small a space at a single time.

The pictures displayed, each of which is a masterpiece, include one or more works by virtually every master of the last five centuries. The place of honor, on a panel draped in dark red velvet, is naturally given to Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa." On the opposite side of the panel hangs Rubens' portrait of Helene Fourment, the artist's second wife, and two of her children.

Lining the darkened walls are canvases running from Jan van Eyck's "Virgin of Autun" and a small altar piece by Fra Angelico to Whistler's portrait of his mother and one of Cezanne's studies of card players.

The Italian school is represented by 16 paintings, including works by Giorgione, Giotto, Correggio, Ghirlandajo, Raphael, Titian, Tintoretto, Mantegna, and del Sarto, and "Portrait of a Woman" by da Vinci, which supplements his "Mona Lisa."

The Flemish school is represented by Memling, and three paintings by Rubens, van Eyck, and van der Weyden.

Rembrandt's "Bethsheba" and self portrait, Franz Hals' "La Bohemienne," and an interior by Vermeer are among the Dutch contributions. Spain is represented by El Greco and Murillo, England by Sir Joshua Reynolds, America by Whistler, and Germany by Durer and Holbein.

Chief place is given to French masters from the 15th or 19th centuries. Forty-one of their canvases are on the walls.

Among these are such celebrated works as Watteau's "Embarquement pour l'Ile de Cythere"; Gilles' "Poussins," self portrait, and "Inspiration du Poete"; two sun bathed landscapes by Claude Lorrain; three pictures by Delacroix, including his self portrait; Ingres' "La Source," David's "Madame Recamier," and three works by Gericault.

An interesting feature of the exhibit is the prominent place given to items from the Gaillebotte and Camondo collections, which embarrassed the museum directors as they hesitated to accept when their original owners donated them to the state.

These are modern paintings by Manet, Degas, Cezanne, and Gauguin, Impressionists, and include such treasures at Renoir's "Moulin de la Galette," Manet's "Le Balcon" and once scandalous "Olympia," Monet's "Regatta at Argentuell," and Degas' "L'Absinthe."

At the end of the month the exhibit will be augmented by new paintings that the Louvre has acquired since the beginning of the war.

"Venus de Milo," "Victory of Samothrace," and Michelangelo's "Slaves" are now in their old places, and, together with other statuary and paintings, again offer the cream of the Louvre's treasurers to the public.

The present exhibit of paintings, however, is only temporary, as the lack of coal will oblige the museum's director to pack them up in November and again ship them to the provinces for the winter.

Success of Army's Program to Teach Reading Is Related

The desire to learn is the most important factor in the success of the army's program to transmit reading skill to illiterate and non-English speaking soldiers, Paul Witty, former army major assigned to the program, said last night at Mandel hall on the University of Chicago campus.

Speaking at the eighth annual reading conference, Mr. Witty said the average soldier enrolled in the program acquired the reading skill of a 4th grade pupil in eight weeks. "School people might profitably examine their own programs in terms of the significant features of the army program," he said.

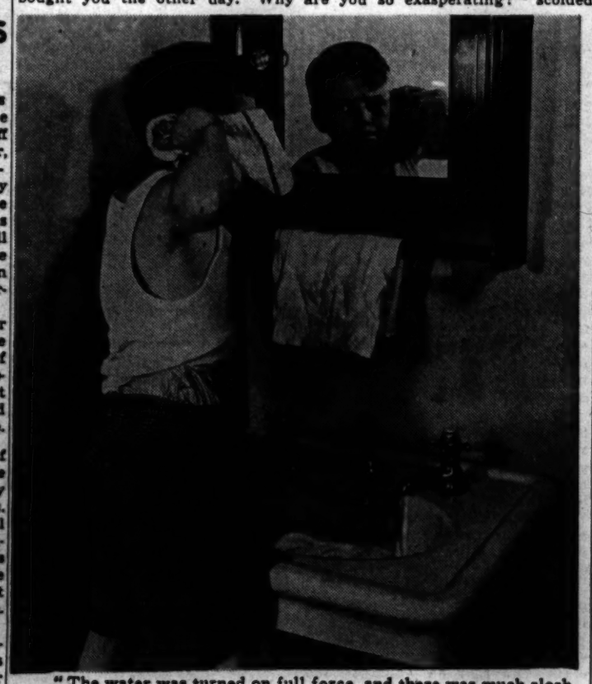

Visual aids and words related to daily experiences are an important part in the program, which utilizes enlisted men as teachers. Most of these have had considerable professional and academic training and expect rapid progress, an attitude which Mr. Witty said develops confidence in the soldier-pupils.

If Youngster Rebels at Soap and Water, Just Be Patient

"Linda, I thought I told you to get dressed to go downtown with me this morning. Go straight upstairs and brush your hair, and for pity's sake fasten it with bobby pins if you've already lost the clips I bought you the other day. Why are you so exasperating?" scolded one mother, shaking her head over her 10 year old daughter's lack of interest in her appearance.

"The water was turned on full force, and there was much sloshing and grunting." (TRIBUNE Studio Photo)

"Wash, wash, wash! That's all I hear in this house," exclaimed Ted, moving slowly in the direction of the bathroom. The water was turned on full force, and there was much sloshing and grunting.

A few minutes later his mother called, "Ted, where are you?"

"Here, Mom. Now, whats wrong?"

"To begin with you seem to have washed with a dirty, damp towel, instead of the face cloth, in spite of all the running of water. Get a clean towel and hang it here. You know Aunt Emily will be here soon. And let me see your elbows, neck, and ears. Why, you never even touched them."

"How spick and span you look, Ted," remarked Aunt Emily, approvingly, just before dinner that evening.

"I had to get slicked up just because you were coming," answered Ted. And he meant it. He was thoroly uncomfortable and thought the whole matter of dress and cleanliness much over done.

Are you going thru something like this in your family? I'm sure you are if you have a youngster, boy or girl, between the ages of 6 and 12. Of course there are exceptions. And do you get annoyed sometimes, and think your child is just being inexcusably trying?

Well, it won't do any good or get you anywhere to be angry or scolding. It's the age, and most children go thru it. All you can do is to be imperturbable, but firm. You may often be suspended between mirth and exasperation, but if you can keep your sense of humor uppermost it will save much wear and tear on all concerned.

Insist upon one good bath a day, reduce the rest of their washing as much as is compatible with sanitary measures, and buy them comfortable clothes in colors that don't show the dirt too much—then grin and bear it. The more routine and the less argumentative you make it, the better. It, like all other phases of childhood, passes.

Reader's Digest of the Dance Continues Its Engagement at Orchestra Hall

A philosophical balletomane at Orchestra hall last night described "Ballet Russe Highlights" as a reader's digest of the dance, and I must say I can't suggest a better definition. Ballet at its most brilliant is a rare fusion of dancing, music, painting, and sculpture—and I think I would include lighting as a fine art, too—and this tabloid version cheats most of those arts to the point of elimination. But if it pulls at the box office, and so far it has, I suppose we are stuck with it.

Last night's program was subject to the usual changes. The promised adagio to Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony was dropped in favor of "The Black Swan," with Irina Baronova and André Eglevsky. Blonde Baronova is always lovely in black [remember how she looked in "A Hundred Kisses"?] and her dancing here as in the evening's earlier "Nutcracker" had more spirit than at previous performances, but it remained pedestrian by prima ballerina standards, and there is no point in dancing a grand pas de deux if you slow it up and leave out the pyrotechnics. Her fouettés were clean but not brilliant, and Eglevsky's variation, in no more than medium form, brought down the house by contrast.

Most of the other dances came under the head of divertissements with Kathryn Lee's "Bumble Bee" almost the same as her "Dragon Fly," except that she danced it with more extravagance and less style. Baronova's "Snow Maiden" was a lively peasant prance with Mona Bradford's rich mezzo singing one of the songs of Lehl from the improvised pit. The brilliant Lazowski danced a tarantelle from "Boutique Fantasque" and there was a faint Chopin echo of "Sylphides" in a negligible pas de trois. "Capriccio Espagnole" came off rather well as a curtain piece, with Massine at his best, and no doubt "Gaité Parisienne" was a gala finale, tho too late for me to see. Massine at his worst bobbed up again in the Bach "Vision," the same sort of thing he was doing years ago in "Jardin Publique."

About "Carmen Jones"

Note from Billy Rose, who brings "Carmen Jones" to the Erlanger Saturday night, Aug. 25: "The week before 'Carmen Jones' comes to Chicago, Oscar Hammerstein, Hassard Short, and yours truly will join the show. It will again be carefully rehearsed and tightened up, if necessary. The production and costumes will get a marcel wave and a facial, and the old girl will come into Chicago hoping to knock the Loop for a loop. We're booked for 19 consecutive weeks, with a firm understanding with the United Booking Office that we won't have to steal out of town if the town still wants to see the show."

Returning

When "Good Night Ladies" returns next month to the Blackstone, Eddie Glover will be playing opposite Skeets Gallagher in the role created by Buddy Ebsen. Mr. Glover replaces Stanly Bill in Washington late this month.

Composer's Complaint

The American Composers' Alliance, headed by Aaron Copland, has advised its members to beware of 'injustices" in the rules governing the Reichhold music award, which carries a first prize of $25,000. The alliance wants to clear up its conviction that the composer, tho forced to spend money preparing score and parts, would be forced to give up rights to his work and would receive no compensation for them if he won honorable mention or a certificate of merit.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

After the War Buying

More replies to the query, "What are you looking forward to buying after the war?," illustrate the widely varied interests of the business girls. A railroad employe answers [1] a little home, [2] a mechanical refrigerator, [3] a lawnmower. A girl working for a utility company wants a new car.

A public library WCG says she wants [1] a radio and [2] a phonograph. Two insurance girls place nylons first on their lists. One adds household equipment as her second choice and a steak as her third. The other, an underwriter, supplements her longing for nylons with [2] a home and [3] food purchased under better buying conditions.

An advertising woman includes dusty pink percale sheets in her interesting list of things she would like. Another imaginative white collar girl wants yards and yards of railroad ticket. And still another, an air line employe, is looking forward to the day when she may possess [1] a pair of ice skates and [2] a convertible automobile with Scotch plaid upholstery.

Minimis

A legal maxim reads: "De minimis non curat lex." [The law is unconcerned over trifles.] But WCG curats a lot and with good reason and authority. Remember Michael Angelo said, "Trifles make perfection and perfection is no trifle." And L. G. Elliott said, "Learn to master details before delegating them to others." We might add Napoleon's "Men are led by trifles" and Pascal's shrewd note on detail, "If the nose of Cleopatra had been a little shorter—or longer—it would have changed the history of the world."

EDGAR PAUL HERMANN

It Sticks in the Mind

The tale of a Chicago boy visiting a New York white collar girl. They were attending one of those stunt programs, a radio auction where bidding sometimes is over some nonsensical thing. The girl bid six cents on a bag of barley beans . . . the gong sounded . . . and the girl [and her boy friend] were presented with the barley plus a diamond engagement ring. When last glimpsed by our correspondent the girl was clutching the barley and the ring—and the boy was clutching his new fiancee.

The scene in the train shed of the La Salle Street station [reported by Jane D.]: A soldier, arm in sling, his wife at his side, baby in her arms . . . a crate full of young calves on a truck alongside the train . . . the calves "mooing" forlornly . . . the soldier stopping to rub the noses of each one of the calves—and the understanding looks of the bystanders who guessed he had traveled many, many miles from his peaceful boyhood on a farm.

The marine, returned from overseas, with his girl marine bride of one hour, in a taxi the other day . . . their happiness . . . and the funny jocular driver so elated over the bride and groom in his cab.

You, Too, Can Have a Lovely Complexion

BY SHEILA DALY

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

A beautiful complexion isn't something you dream about, it's something you dream up, using soap and water, a regular diet, and eight regular hours of shut-eye. Besides good and bad, there are only three kinds of skin—normal, oily, and dry. Those lucky characters who have normal skin have nothing to worry about except giving their faces a frequent and thoro work-out with soap and warm water. For those with dry skin, however, lubrication in the form of a good cold cream is necessary after washing to keep the skin from becoming dry and rough. Oily skins follow the same washing routine as other types but require an astringent lotion afterward to close the pores and reduce the tendency to oiliness.

But for all three types, the washing procedure is the same. First, use a wash cloth wrung out in warm water to remove the surface dirt. Then a thoro lathering with a mild soap, using either the palms of the hands and the fingers to massage the suds into the pores or a wash cloth or complexion brush, used gently. A thoro rinse after the cleansing is completed is one of the most important rules to observe—the film of soap left on the face is one of the greatest reasons for blackheads forming. A quick dash of cold water after the rinse, and there you are, as fresh and wide-eyed as June Allyson.

Next in importance to cleanliness comes correct diet, if you really want to stay in that pink and lovely department. Eating regularly comes among the first requirements; skipping breakfasts and nibbling a hasty lunch doesn't fit in the plan for a beautiful complexion at all. A balanced diet with plenty of fruit and leafy green vegetables is on the must list along with eight glasses of water a day. It helps to drink two glasses of water right after you hop out of bed in the morning and to eat an orange or juice at breakfast. Cut down on the hot fudge and coke consumption, too; try ordering a glass of fruit juice instead when you're out for your mid-afternoon pickup. It's hard work to look lovely but it's worth it. After all, what's June Allyson got that you couldn't work for, including that smooth complexion?

'The Wicked Mrs. Steel'

THE HEIR

Gillian shivered. "I suppose, Gillie, the common sense version is that I'm afraid this will and the rest of it will drive some sort of a wedge between us."

She dropped beside him on the grass, leaned against him.

"There isn't such a wedge," she smiled.

"No, dear, of course there isn't—I warned you I was going to talk nonsense. And now I must go. Babbinger's is probably throwing a cocktail party and the town's on fire. I'll run up again later."

Had the news of Mrs. Steel's death been bellowed thru loud speakers, it could not have spread over the town more speedily.

There was no further news until two o'clock, when it became known that Mr. Tollerman was meeting the relatives at "the house" at three.

"I'd better warn Ruth that they'll probably stay on for tea," remarked Gillian.

"They'll probably stay on until I level them out, but I doubt whether they'll be in a mood for tea," returned Ralph. "Gillie, they may be insulting to you when Tollerman tells 'em. If they are, you run off and leave 'em to me."

"I'd rather stay and help them to see that it isn't my fault," she said. As Ruth came in to clear away the lunch: "Ruth, would you like to be in the drawing room this afternoon and hear what Mr. Tollerman has to say?"

"No. Not if it's all the same to you, miss, thank you," answered Ruth. "I shall know what to do when the time comes without listening to a lot of lawyer's talk."

Gillian and Ralph exchanged glances.

"I have an uneasy feeling that she was with her when she died."

"So have I," he admitted. "Better keep it under your hat, darling. We don't want—complications."

At half past 2 Simon Steel arrived, alone.

"Ah, Ruth! Just tell Mr. Tollerman I'll have a word with him before the others arrive."

"You won't, because he isn't here. And Miss Beynon doesn't want to be disturbed. You'd best wait in the drawing room."

"Well, well! Keep a civil tongue in your head, my good woman."

"Maybe you're thinking she's left the money to you, Simon." It was a remark which caused Simon Steel profound disturbance.

A couple of minutes later he was further disconcerted by the arrival of his daughter Agnes.

"I don't know why you have come, Agnes—it was quite unnecessary," he said. As she made no reply he added: "It can hardly matter my telling you now. The fact is, I was in poor Margaret's confidence in regard to the will . . ."

"So was I!" flashed Agnes. "Did you know she was interested in education, Father? Well, she was." The girl's breath came in short gasps. "She told me her plans—they were wonderful! And I promised to carry them out—to spend every penny on them, taking only a little more than my present salary for myself. The one thing I want to know was whether her mind was poisoned against me at the last moment by that Gillian Beynon."

"So the money goes to you or Gillian—one or t'other, eh!" Simon emitted a long, loud gust of laughter. "To found a lot of schools—te-he-ho! My good girl you've dreamed the whole thing!"

"You've been laughing at me like that for years," Agnes said, "ever since you knew I was not going to grow up attractive and get married. D'you think I haven't heard you and mother talking about 'poor Agnes'! Well, I'm going to laugh at you today, father. As soon as Tollerman tells you whether I dreamed it all or not."

Further altercation was cut short by the entry of Lyle Weston. His brother had not come with him. For Lyle had explained that he had actually seen the will in his own favor—and that he would be reasonably generous to Dennis.

At 26 minutes past, Valerie Weston stepped out of the station taxi. The mood of exaltation was still upon her.

"If Mrs. Simon isn't coming, the vultures are all present," said Ralph. "We'd better join them."

When they came into the drawing room they found the family seated in silence about the room. No one spoke. Gillian and Ralph went together to the bow window. Valerie smiled and bowed. Agnes jumped up and pulled the cover over the cage. Mr. Tollerman came in almost unobserved.

The solicitor, fully aware of the seething whirlpools and cross currents, opened out his dispatch case.

"You are all aware, I think, that the late Andrew Steel . . ."

"We will excuse you the speech, Mr. Tollerman." It was Valerie who had interrupted. "We are waiting for the facts."

No one reproved her—she had but voiced the general impatience. Mr. Tollerman glared at her over his spectacles.

"Such interruptions do not lighten my task. I have certain information to give. I must be allowed to give it in my own manner, for reasons which will later be apparent." He took a long envelope from the dispatch case. "The late Mrs. Steel gave anxious thought to the problem of appointing an heir. She found much to support the—er—candidature of each of the eligible persons. She chose, in fact, first one and then another. To record the events in the order in which they occurred—it was not until the fifteenth of last month that, having discussed the merits of each case with myself, she instructed me to draw up a will in favor of Mr. Simon Steel."

A sigh escaped from the vast bulk of Simon Steel. Taking a second envelope from his case, the soliciter added:

"Three days later—on the 18th—she changed her mind in favor of his daughter, Miss Agnes Steel."

Agnes pointed to her father and burst into wild laughter, which died down as a third envelope was laid on the table.

On the 21st a third will favored Mr. Lyle Weston. And on the 29th—the deceased's birthday—I drafted a fourth will—this time naming Miss Valerie Weston as heir."

"Quite so!" drawled Valerie. "She showed me the will and talked about it when I was here last night."

"But she did not apparently show you a will drawn up on the 4th of this month—in favor of Miss Gillian Beynon."

There was a thunderstruck silence.

The best of summer suppers begin or end with fresh fruit. Because the no-sugar situation forbids cake or a sweet dessert, the fresh fruit platter is more likely to appear at the end of a meal. Then a good beginning, especially if the evening is hot, is a chilled soup.

Many of the same soups we serve hot may be chilled for a first course. Tomato soup, cream of asparagus, leek soup, bouillon are among them. A clear tomato soup or a bouillon usually is jelled, then somewhat broken up in the soup cup for service, and accompanied by a thin slice of lemon.

There are some soups which were intended from the beginning to be served cold. Lobster buttermilk soup is one of these.

Canned lobster is rather expensive, but is available in most fancy groceries. The soup is almost as good with shrimp, or may be made with any cooked flaked fish except a strong-flavored or smoked one.

Cold Lobster Buttermilk Soup
[Serves six]

- ½ 6-oz. can lobster, [or ½ lb. cooked shrimps], chopped
- 1 small cucumber, grated
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1 tablespoon minced fresh dill
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- Salt to taste
- 1 quart buttermilk

Combine ingredients and chill thoroly before serving.

Beet borsch is served cold as often as hot. Its sharp lemon and sour cream flavor make it a splendid appetizer, altho it contributes substantially to the calories of a meal.

Cold Beet Borsch
[Serves six]

- 4 medium beets, pared and grated
- 1 medium onion, grated
- Juice of 2 lemons
- 3 tablespoons sugar or honey
- Salt, pepper
- 2 eggs
- 1 pint sour cream

Cook beets and onion in small amount of salted water until tender. Add lemon juice, sugar, and seasonings. Simmer for 5 minutes. Beat eggs and add cream. Stir egg and cream mixture slowly into beet combination; remove from heat and chill thoroly.

If you are canning fruit—say, cherries or peaches, and have some of the fruit and more of the sirup left over, try a cold fruit soup. Sharpen the flavor with lemon juice, and thicken with cornstarch, if desired. Several tablespoons of port or sherry or another wine may be added to make the flavor more piquant.

Fresh Corn Gems
[Serves six]

- 6 ears corn
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 1½ cups flour
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons margarine, melted

Cut corn from cob with sharp knife. Add eggs; then add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, mixing well after each addition. Add margarine and pour into greased muffin tins. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 30 minutes.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 9—I've wondered why Jimmy Gleason didn't become a producer. Jimmy's done just about everything in show business. He wrote, produced, and starred in his own Broadway shows. He's stolen many a picture from some of our biggest stars, and there comes a time when you should be rewarded for all those good deeds. So 20th has offered him a producer's berth. . . . Ida Lupino's sister in "Why Was I Born" will be Andrea King. Bob Alda's also in the cast. Since America saw his face in "Rhapsody in Blue" they've asked for more. . . . Irene Ryan plays the ugly duckling in "Diary of a Chambermaid," but it was makeup that did the job on her. . . . Monty Woolley says a screen career is nothing but put and take. You take off weight for one picture, and put it on for the next. And if he keeps this up, he's taking chances.

All for One Policy of Filipinos Delays a Film

Linda Darnell is set in the best part of her life in "American Guerrilla in the Philippines." You know what's been holding up that picture? Lack of Filipinos here. They think it's their duty to serve in any capacity until war's over, and regardless of age, they're doing it. . . . Bill Gargan should be twins. When he finishes at Republic, he dashes to Paramount for "Hot Cargo" with Jean Rogers, who retired from the screen two years ago to have her baby . . . Ross Hunter more popular with fans than with Columbia Pictures. They're still pitching "B's" at him. . . . It took Carmen Cavallaro's recording of "Polonaise" only three weeks to become a best seller. . . . Since the war department asked our film companies to stay home and not clutter up the trainways by going on location, all film companies announced they'd make their pictures on the back lots, but that ain't the way we're doing things. 20th has four companies on location—one in Utah, another in Arizona, one in Louisiana, and the fourth in San Francisco. Clarence Brown with Metro's "The Yearling" has been down in Florida lo these many weeks—no, months.

Classy Stuff Gets Big Hand in Yank Hospitals

Florence George Crosby, back from a month of hospital tours thru Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois, and Colorado, will sing at the Gershwin memorial in Hollywood bowl July 14. Then she hops to Salt Lake City as soloist for their symphony orchestra the 17th. Her accompanist, Eda Schlattes, gave out with some high class music on her own which the boys asked for. . . . Claude Rains plays a painter in Merle Oberon's film "As It Was Before." So far they haven't found the artist who can use Claude's hands. Maybe they'll do it in sections like playing the piano for "Song to Remember." Three different men did that job. . . . Noel Coward's shooting in England a film called "Brief Encounter." It is taken from an episode in his book "Still Life." . . . Corp. Harold Greenman has landed and now the pet monkey he picked up in the South Pacific earns his daily bread. The monkey's favorite drink is beer. So what does he do? He drinks it in "Calcutta."

A Soldier's Definitely Sold on Bill Neff

A note from Pvt. Bill Benson. "I missed the train from Los Angeles to Fort Ord, so decided to visit the famous Hollywood canteen. Had a wonderful time. Before I knew it, canteen was closing. I hadn't made arrangements for a room, so not knowing Hollywood I asked a guy for a suggestion as to where to spend the night. That guy was Bill Neff. He insisted I go home with him. I couldn't believe my own ears. Naturally I accepted. I'll never forget my stay in Hollywood. After being in the Aleutians 18 months I'm going out to South Pacific. An All-White Crest Is Riding Fashion Wave

BY REA SEEGER

It's either black or all white for the ideal summer wardrobe. There are enough all white clothes to make an impressive showing in any shop or store. You will find many crisp, spotless white piqué jacket dresses, the kind that are composed of skirt and jacket to be worn as one. The piqué is in the well known waffle weave pattern, there isn't a shadow of a collar, the sleeves are brief and uncuffed, and the jacket buttons primly down the center front. The skirts are four gored and slightly flared.

Other dazzling all-white creations are made of cotton gabardine or a material that resembles sharkskin. These fabrics make sleek, simple, one piece dresses, either short for day time wear or floor length for dinner. The only contrast is the decorative motif of rows and rows of stitching in black, navy, or brown. Sleeves on both models are bands extending out from the shoulder seams. The dinner dresses are especially smart, cool, and sleek. One day time model has a flared skirt to accentuate the tiny, neat waist line and the very wide shoulders of the bodice top. The stitching goes around the slit at the neck line, the neck, and the edges of the sleeves. One model features a bosom shirt top with rows of stitching around that oval outline.

Tailored two-piece white suits come in washable materials and there are costlier ones of rare shantungs. These are the slim, meticulously tailored two pieces in classic tradition, with very sharp pressed plaits in the skirt, fore and aft, convertible collar, patch pockets, and long fitted sleeves to the jacket. Both single and double breasted models are available.

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
2 spades	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Five of hearts.

Today's hand is not offered as an example of good bidding. South, to be sure, was quite guiltless. His response of one no trump left him considerable elbow space and when North refused to give up he was surely justified in taking one more shot. Of North's three bids, one was correct, that was the opening call of one spade.

Thereafter he did nothing proper until he spread the dummy very neatly upon the table after the opening lead. Having very little more than a minimum and holding a very normal hand, North should have passed very promptly to the one no trump response; and having stretched a point to bid a second time, he should surely have passed the two no trump bid, since South is known to have no great strength.

West elected to open the five of hearts, tho a lead from the shorter but more solid club holding would be the safer procedure. From this point on the hand presented an interesting study in the economical use of spot cards. Dummy played the six and East played "third hand high," South winning with the king.

East's play of the jack to the first trick was improper. South surely held one of the honors and whether it was the king or the queen, the play of the jack permits declarer to win all three tricks in the suit. East's proper play is the eight, hoping that partner has the nine and that South's high card will be forced. Note under the rule of 11 South is known to have only one card that can beat the five of hearts. [11 minus 5 equals 6. Dummy has three and East has two, leaving the declarer with one.]

Declarer now proceeded to nullify the advantage gained by East's play of the jack by an unsound play to trick two. He naturally went to work on the spade suit in which at least one trick had to be lost. But he led the nine. This was covered by the king and East's eight became promoted to important rank. The proper play by South at the second trick was the two and not the nine. Since the trick was going to be lost anyway, there is no need to waste the nine. Note what a difference the play of the deuce would have made. Declarer would have scored three spade tricks, three heart tricks, and three club tricks for an undeserved game.

POLICE TAKING POLICY RACKET HINT, JUDGE SAYS

Action Follows Warning on Warrants

BY JAMES DOHERTY

Municipal Judge Charles S. Dougherty said yesterday police had taken a hint from him and a warning from the Chicago Crime commission and had started to do something about Negro policy gambling. As a result, Judge Dougherty said, there were only 15 cases involving the numbers game in court yesterday, compared with 70 on the docket last Monday. The game is said to net its bosses more than 10 million dollars a year.

The crime commission had made a statement that gambling had "reopened" in Chicago, and asked the civil service commission for the best way of taking away the jobs of the police officials responsible. Police Commissioner Allman yesterday refused to comment on the indirect accusation that his department had neglected its duty.

Two Are Fined $25 Each

The only action on the gambling front was in Judge Dougherty's court. There, only two gamblers were fined. Mrs. Savannah Eldridge, 40, of 119 E. 44th st., Negro, arrested July 6 in the beauty shop at 706 E. 43d st., pleaded guilty to being keeper of a gambling house and was fined $25. Carl Birman, 55, owner of the cigar store at 532½ N. Clark st., also was fined $25.

A detective testified he found racing forms and scratch sheets on the cigar counter in Birman's store. Judge Dougherty refused to sustain a motion to suppress the evidence on the ground the entry of the detectives was illegal.

Last week Judge Dougherty advised the entire police department he would no longer tolerate arrests in private rooms and homes without search warrants. He explained yesterday that it is not necessary for the police to have a search warrant when they walk into a public place, such as a cigar store or beauty shop and find gambling.

Question: Who Gives O. K.?

Judge Dougherty and the crime commission took police to task about the same time, and over the same matter. Both agreed that policy gambling had been restored in the Negro sections to its old time proportions. It was for this reason that the crime commission asked: "Who gives the word to let gambling start up?"

"If they want to stop it, the police can do it without much trouble, but they must do it right, and according to law," Judge Dougherty said. "I'll give them all the search warrants they need, but they must get them if they are to enter private flats and offices."

Politically Powerful

It was explained by court attaches that policy racketeers have hundreds of stations in each section of the Negro district. They have 10 or more workers in each voting precinct—workers who call on the voters twice each day to sell them policy tickets—and consequently, they are politically powerful.

"Why don't you find Willie Sharp, the distributor of the policy sheets?" Judge Dougherty asked detectives when he discharged Ralph Knox, 36, Negro, 904 Hudson av. Knox had several policy sheets in his possession, and said he got them from Willie Sharp.

$4,000 BONDS SET FOR WOMAN WHO TOLD OF KILLINGS

Mrs. Virginia Bland, also known as Rosemary Cushing, who recently told police a mythical story about two gangland murders, was ordered held in $4,000 bonds when she was arraigned yesterday before Judge John J. Griffin in Women's court. Arrested by Fillmore st. police June 30 for passing bad checks, she is charged with petty larceny, defrauding an innkeeper, and obtaining property by false pretenses. The case was set for Friday. Mrs. Bland's story that she knew the killers of Jens D. Larrison, alias James Larkin, and James [Red] Fawcett, gangland victims, was branded a "psychological lie."

Dismiss Forgery Charge as Broker Pays Check

Thomas J. Kane, 36, of 337 Essex rd., Kenilworth, a broker charged with forgery, was discharged yesterday by Judge William V. Daly in Felony court. Kane reimbursed Zigmund S. Goodman, owner of the currency exchange at 560 Adams st., for a check for $525 made out in the name of his wife, Marion, to a third party. The indorsement had been forged, it was alleged.

Marital Tangle

MRS. REBECCA JO AVOLOS

Los Angeles, Cal., July 9 (AP)—Mrs. Rebecca Jo Avolos, 22, a crane operator who admitted she married five times in five years, today filed suit for annulment of her fifth marriage on the ground she still was legally bound to her third husband when the No. 5 ceremony occurred. Husband No. 4, Mrs. Avolos told Judge Henry M. Willis, had meanwhile obtained a divorce.

Upon further check into her marital career Judge Willis found:

Her first marriage was annulled because she was only 17; the second was annulled by Judge Willis on the ground she had married before the first annulment was final; until recently, she thought her third husband had obtained an annulment. All five marriages were in Yuma, Ariz.

"You girls can surely make grief for the courts," sighed the judge as he took the case under advisement.

SUICIDE BLAMED ON FAILURE TO PASS WAC TEST

Miss Dorothy L. Hopkins, 35, a stenographer, whose body was found Sunday in the Des Plaines river near Maywood, apparently was depressed over inability to join a women's military service, it was indicated yesterday at an inquest into her death.

The coroner's jury, directed by Deputy Coroner E. J. English, returned a verdict finding Miss Hopkins committed suicide while temporarily insane. The inquest was held in undertaking rooms at 201 W. Lake st., Maywood. Among those who testified were her father, Kenneth Hopkins, 1234 Farwell av. and Miss Erna Schroeder, 28, with whom she lived at 219 N. Grove av., Oak Park.

Police said Miss Hopkins tried to enlist in the WAC, but was rejected because she was underweight. A note, written on a marine corps form letter, indicated she also may have tried to join the marines, police said. Both her father and her roommate testified that she was studious and had no men friends or noticeable worries.

Open Verdict Returned in Jap-American GI's Death

A coroner's jury yesterday returned an open verdict in the death of Sgt. Lawrence Z. Mizumoto, 22, Hawaiian-born Japanese patient at Vaughan General hospital, whose body was found Sunday on a pier along the Chicago river at Lake st. His skull had been fractured. Mizumoto had been under treatment for a tropical disease contracted in the South Pacific.

RECOVER BODY FROM LAKE

The body of a man, tentatively identified as John Horist, 40, a janitor who has been missing from his home at 4954 S. Racine av., was recovered from the lake at 47th st. yesterday.

ARRAIGN GIRL, 21, 4 MEN TODAY IN TRUCK LOOTING

Four men, two of them Negroes, and a 21 year old girl night club entertainer, arrested Sunday night on charges of looting trucks to supply black market meat operators, will be arraigned this morning in Felony court.

They are Lucille Lazon, 927 Wilson av., charged with grand larceny; Hyman Platt, 25, of 920 Wilson av., said to be Miss Lazon's sweetheart, charged with grand larceny; George [Peanuts] Weinberg, 31, charged with receiving stolen property; Thomas McDonald, 1411 Newberry av., Negro grocer, charged with receiving stolen property, and Walter Gardiner, Negro, of 6117 South Park av., charged with grand larceny.

Lucille Lazon.

They were arrested by Sgt. Timothy O'Connell of the cartage detail after a lengthy investigation. O'Connell said some of the thefts of bacon, ham, and butter were committed at trucking depots or from trucks parked at warehouses.

WIDOW OF BARAD GETS PROBATION; MAY QUIT STATE

On the plea of Atty. James M. Burke that she might be the victim of gang reprisals an out of the state probation was granted yesterday to Mrs. Florence Jackson Barad, 39, widow of the slain Maurice Barad. Judge Frank M. Padden of the Criminal court ruled that Mrs. Barad may leave the state and go elsewhere to avoid possible violence by gangsters against whom she had given evidence to the state's attorney's office. She pleaded guilty June 26 to charges of receiving stolen property growing out of the theft of 170 cases of cigarets assigned to military units. Soon after the theft in 1944 Lawrence [Dago] Mangano was murdered and later Mrs. Barad's husband was ambushed and killed. She gave evidence against Paul Labriola, west side gangster, who has never been apprehended. Assistant State's Atty. Alex Napoli told the judge the state would recommend the three years' probation.

PANEL ORDERED TO MEDIATE IN RAIL WAGE ROW

A pending strike by operating crews of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee and the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin electric railroads was postponed indefinitely last night after announcement in Washington, D. C., that President Truman had authorized a three-man emergency panel to mediate a wage dispute between two unions and the lines.

The unions—which have sought raises of 12 to 16 cents an hour—are the International Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

John Zanger, vice president of the Trainmen, said the appointment of the emergency panel will stay any strike action until the panel completes its work, a process that ordinarily takes several weeks.

'THE STOMACH' EATS LIGHT LUNCH—ONLY 7 ORDERS OF CHICKEN

Atlanta, Ga., July 9 (AP)—Diners at an Atlanta cafeteria lost interest in their own food when Pvt. Chester J. Salvatori, the army's eating wonder, placed his $9.95 order.

The Southbridge, Mass., soldier, who weighs 121 pounds, put away: Seven orders of fried chicken, 10 orders of French fried potatoes, nine glasses of orange juice, two quarts of milk, 10 combination salads, five egg salads, two orders of olives, two glasses of iced coffee, two slices of watermelon, five orders of rolls, and five slices of apple pie a la mode.

Salvatori, who had his first pass in more than four weeks yesterday, was eating light. He said six candy bars and a quart of ice cream before dinner had taken the edge off his appetite.

IMPANEL JURY FOR TRIAL OF 3 IN RAPE OF WAC

A jury was impaneled yesterday before Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court in the trial of three men charged with raping a WAC private May 23.

The accused are Nick W. Malatesta, 18, of 5421 Harrison st.; Tony Giampa, 23, of 840 Lytle st., and Peter Ottomanelli, 17, of 1356 Taylor st. Opening statements were made by Asst. State's Atty. Edward Healy for the state and Atty. Roland Libonati for the defense.

Atty. Libonati denied the charges on behalf of his clients and said the WAC asked the defendants to take her for a ride to see Chicago. The WAC, now stationed in Camp Atterbury, Ind., told police that at the time the alleged assault occurred, she had accepted a ride to a railroad station with the men. She will testify today.

A man carrying papers indicating that he was Eugene R. Stickles, 70, of 1022 Oak st., Kalamazoo, Mich., died of a heart attack yesterday in a taxicab at Ohio and Rush sts. while being driven to the Grand Central station.

COURT SHIFTS SCHOOL INMATE TO PRISON CELL

Milton Justus, 16, of Quincy, Adams county, who escaped from the Illinois Training School for Boys near St. Charles in January, was transferred from the Sheridan branch of the school to Stateville prison yesterday by Circuit Judge Charles A. O'Connor of Kane county. Justus had been sentenced to 2 to 5 years for theft of an automobile after his break last winter, but Judge O'Connor ruled that he could serve this term in the school. This order was reversed when Richard Eddy, managing officer of the school, said he discovered that Justus was plotting a new break.

Gloria Swanson Files Suit Against 5th Mate

New York, July 9 (AP)—Mrs. Gloria Davey, described by her attorney as the former motion picture actress Gloria Swanson, today filed suit in Supreme court for separation from William N. Davey, 52. Mrs. Davey seeks $1,000 a week temporary alimony. Miss Swanson and Davey were married Jan. 29. It was the former screen star's fifth marriage. Previously she had been married to Wallace Beery, Herbert Somborn, the Marquis de la Falaise de Coudraye, and Michael Farmer.

RELIEVE FATHER OF SUPPORT FOR GIRL AFTER 18

Judge Joseph Sabath in Superior court ruled yesterday that a father is not obligated to support his overage child when he ordered discontinued the $11.50 weekly payments Abe Weinstein, 40, of 7332 S. Lowe av., a motion picture operator, had been paying for support of his daughter, Dolores, 18.

Weinstein was ordered to continue paying his former wife, Jean, 38, $10 a week alimony. They were divorced Dec. 20, 1940, and Weinstein signed an agreement, which was incorporated into the divorce decree, that he would support Dolores until she married or became self-supporting. She now is a student in a teacher's college.

Weinstein's attorneys, Joseph R. and Norman Becker, argued that continuance of support payments in the case of an overage child is against public policy. Judge Sabath agreed.

"The child could remain in idleness permanently if this agreement were enforced," the court observed.

Then silence all your sighs.

O, try not to condemn them,
Some day you may regret it;
But pick up all the pieces,
And try hard to forget it.

Upon another pedestal
Some distant year from now,
You'll place a second idol,
If your heart will allow.

Yet, if that image also falls,
The fault may be with you.
Perhaps from your own pedestal

SHUTE LEADS IN PRO QUALIFYING ROUND WITH 67

Revolta, 3 Others Turn In 68s

BY CHARLES BARTLETT
[SCORES ON NEXT PAGE]

Dayton, O., July 9—Hermon Densmore [Denny] Shute Jr., lean, quiet native of this state, today led an old folks' parade thru the first half of the qualifying round of the 27th National Professional Golf championship. Son of a pro and himself a feared practitioner in this toughest of all fairway shows since his 1929 debut, the 40 year old Denny shot an elegant 67, five under par for the rolling Moraine Country club.

Trailing Shute by only a stroke in the field of 142 starters who will enter tomorrow's final 18 hole phase of the medal play examination was a quartet of 68 marksmen, none of them what you might call a junior leaguer. This foursome consisted of 34 year old John Revolta of Evanston, Ill., 1935 champion; 32 year old Master Sgt. Jim Turnesa of Halloran General hospital, N. Y., 1942 runnerup; 35 year old Sgt. Ernie Harrison of Dayton and 34 year old Herman Barron, Western Open champion from White Plains, N. Y.

Nelson in 70 Bracket

George Schneiter of Colorado Springs, Colo., 1944 semi-finalist, and Veri Stinchcomb of Portsmouth, O., cousin of Ohio State's famed Pete, followed with 69s. The 70 bracket included Jimmy Hines of Chicago, Sam Byrd of Detroit, Harold McSpaden of Sanford, Me., and a fellow named Byron Nelson from up Toledo way, who won the 1940 crown and was a finalist in 1939, 1941 and 1944. Other fortyish veterans who did well today were Gene Sarazen of New York, three time winner of the title, with a 71, and Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., National Open champion.

Shute, the leader at the halfway mark, is one of the game's all time greats. He won the 1936 and 1937 P. G. A. championships, then won two matches in the 1938 event to run his chain of successive victories to 14, one of the sharpest strings in tournament history. Denny won the 1933 British Open title, tied for the United States Open of 1939, and was runnerup for the last pre-war open crown in 1941.

Hamilton Turns It with 72

The low 31 scorers for the 36 holes of medal play ending today will join with Pvt. Bob Hamilton of Fort Lewis, Wash. in the match play battling which will open Wednesday with sixteen 36 hole matches and continue thru Sunday's championship final. Pvt. Hamilton is exempt from the qualifying round as defending champion but tuned up today with a 33-39—72.

Nelson, now enjoying a streak which embraces seven consecutive tournament triumphs, was obviously not hitting his spots firmly. After the round he admitted his left shoulder blade, apparently pulled in winning the Chicago Victory National driving contest on June 30, bothered him no end.

Shute's card:

Shute Out	434	523	354—32
Par In	443	543	454—36—72
Shute In	443	443	454—35—67

Shute dropped a 25 footer for his first birdie from deuce on the 217 yard second, then sank 5, 8, and 9 footers for birdies at the 5th, 6th, and 7th. Another 9 footer fell at the 13th. He nearly brought off four deuces, but he rimmed the 12th cup and his tee shot to the 15th landed inches from the pin, leaving a divot but rolled five feet past, and he missed.

FELLER FANS 12 AS BLUEJACKETS BEAT A'S, 10 TO 6

A seventh inning rally that netted five runs, including a home run with two on bases by Max Marshall, and effective pitching by Bob Feller, who struck out 12, enabled the Great Lakes Bluejackets to beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 10 to 6, for their 16th victory at the naval training center yesterday afternoon.

It was the third straight triumph of the sailors over major league clubs.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN TACKLE TO PLAY FOR ALL-STARS

BY WILFRID SMITH

Clyde Flowers, 210 pound tackle who was captain of last year's Texas Christian football team, champion of the Southwest conference, has accepted an invitation to join the 1945 All-Star squad which is to meet the Green Bay Packers in Soldiers' field Aug. 30 in the 12th game presented by The Chicago Tribune Charities.

Texas Christian has contributed several of the nation's greatest players to the All-Star competition ir the last decade and the Packers have reason to remember one, Sammy Baugh, since he threw the touchdown pass which defeated Green Bay, 6 to 0, in the Packers' first appearance in the series, in 1937. Baugh's pass admittedly was all-important that night and it wasn't until Cecil Isbell paired up with Don Hutson that Green Bay returned to rule the National Football league and gain a subsequent victory over the All-Stars.

Serves as Captain Twice

Flowers, like all linemen, was overshadowed by the men who carry the ball, but this genial Texan, reared on a ranch near Perryton, Tex., is regarded as one of the fine tackles of the southwest. He earned three varsity football awards and an idea of his value to the team is gained from the fact that he captained the Horned Frogs for two consecutive years.

Flowers' nickname is Old Man, which cannot be traced to age since he's only 23. A second guess might be the fact he is married. Clyde was graduated this year with the degree of bachelor of science in physical education. He has never escaped from an original draft classification of 4-F, which he still resents. He expects to continue in sports and already has accepted a position as teacher and football coach at Plainview, Tex.

No Inexperienced Players

While the 1945 All-Star squad will not be as large numerically as its immediate predecessors—there were 72 players in camp last year—there will be no inexperienced players. Last August more than a dozen players were invited who had played only one year at their respective universities.

Green Bay early contributed to the success of the series since the natural rivalry with Chicago is heightened by proximity. This year this particular score is tied with one victory each altho the professionals have six victories for the 11 games to three for the All-Stars. The 1934 and 1936 games were tied.

Crowd of 90,000 Expected

While all $6.60 seats in Soldiers' field have been sold, excellent seats in the lower priced sections remain. The half time features of the All-Star game have been retained and with return of the contest to the nation's largest stadium, a crowd of approximately 90,000 is expected to attend. Ticket orders now are being accepted by mail. Checks should be made payable to The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and sent to the All-Star Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower.

Yankees Beat Giants, 7-1; Reds Blank Indians, 6-0

New York, July 9 (AP)—Hershel Martin's homer with the bases filled in a six run third inning helped the New York Yankees to a 7 to 1 victory over the New York Giants tonight before 41,267 who paid $50,518 to see the Red Cross charity exhibition in the Polo Grounds. Rain halted the game after eight innings.

George Stirnweiss opened the game with a double off Andy Hansen and scored on Bud Metheny's single to right and there was no more scoring until the Yankees knocked out Hansen in the third when 12 men went to bat.

The Giants averted a shutout off Joe Page, who replaced Ernie Bonham on Buddy Kerr's single, Page's wild throw to first on a pick-off try and Whitey Lockman's single to center in the fifth. Score:

A triple by Steve Mesner started the Reds' winning rally in the fourth and four runs were tallied off Jack Salveson, the losing pitcher, before Rookie Earl Henry came to his rescue. HAWKS ACQUIRE HAMILTON, LEAF DEFENSIVE STAR

BY EDWARD PRELL

The Blackhawks last night came up with a July ice cube announcement, the first of their new era under Johnny Gottselig. At a testimonial dinner in the Esquire grill to their old time star and new manager, President Bill Tobin proudly reported that Reg Hamilton, 29, star defense man, has ben obtained from the Toronto Maple Leafs.

This is the first development in the rebuilding program of the Blackhawks. Tobin said that Gottselig will have unquestioned authority in guiding the Hawks.

"Johnny told us he wanted Hamilton," Tobin explained. "There are three or four other fellows he would like to get, and we'll see what can be done about it."

Hamilton comes to the Hawks in exchange for one of three Blackhawks to be selected later by the Maple Leafs. No cash was involved in the transaction.

Hawks Weak in Defense

Weakness at the defense spots was the main cause of the Hawks' failure to crash the Stanley cup playoffs last season and this is why Hamilton was high priority on the new coach's program.

Gottselig said he plans to retain three veteran and one rookie defense man. This means that Hamilton, Cully Simon, Joe Cooper, Wilf Field, and perhaps George Allen will battle for three positions. The rookie will be 20 year old Ralph Mattrass, whom Gottselig wants to sharpen for major league competition rather than send him out to a minor league. Mattrass has played three years of junior hockey in Canada.

Tobin said that altho the status of the two Bentley brothers, Doug and Max, and George Allen, has not changed the Hawks have hopes these three stars will rejoin the team next season.

In good hockey voice, Gottselig hinted that the Hawks' fans may see a new goalie.

Praises Rookie Goalie

"I am referring," he said, "to Doug Stevenson. This young man was in the nets for us in our last two games when we tied the Canadians and beat the Red Wings for the first time in five years in Detroit. He has a good pair of hands, great timing, and stands erect in front of the cage like a veteran. I would say that Mike Karakas, or any other goalie for that matter, would have his work cut out for him in keeping his job with Doug as a competitor."

Tobin reported that one of the fellows who will report at the Hawks' training camp Oct. 1 at Regina, Sask., will be Bob Carse, left winger, who has been released from the Canadian army after having been a prisoner of war. The Hawks have scheduled two exhibition games with the New York Rangers, who will exercise in Winnipeg.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

The mysterious magic that the White Sox have employed for years whenever confronted by the Cubs was in full operation last night. The American leaguers took Charley Grimm's National league first placers for a 5 to 4 10-inning decision in the one game city series before 47,144 cash customers into the glare of the Comiskey park lights. Approximately $50,000 will be turned into baseball's war relief funds as the result of the gathering.

The so-called Sox magic made up for a deficiency in their hitting as well as the enforced removal of the starting pitcher, one Ed Lopat. The lefty was forced out in the fifth when he slipped into arrears after being presented with a three run lead over Paul Derringer, who in 10 innings surrendered only seven hits. But the removal of Lopat brought in the 40 year old Earl Caldwell and he held the Cubs to a lone hit in the last five and two-thirds innings.

Each Make Costly Errors

While Lopat was plunked solidly—nine hits in his brief term—he wasn't entirely to blame for the freedom with which the Cubs picked up runs. And the same can be said in behalf of Derringer. He gave up three runs in the third after a blunder by Stan Hack had prevented the third out. Floyd Baker, sitting in at third for Tony Cuccinello, did the same in the fourth to aid in two Cub runs, altho there was nothing of a bargain nature about the pair which put the Cubs in the lead in the fifth.

After the profitable Cub fifth the show was mainly a matter of Wally Moses, at least on offense. He tied the score in the seventh with a score to right, his second nonstop clout of the season. And he opened the tenth with a pass that shortly became the decisive run. Dan Reynolds sacrificed and Kerby Farrell was purposely passed, bringing up Johnny Dickshot, who stood pretty high with his constitutents because of an earlier double that drove home two runs. Dickshot did it again, this time with a single that moved Moses across the plate.

Hack Opens with Single

The partisans didn't have to wait long for something to boo or chortle about. Hack opened the game with a single and after two were out stole second, the theft inducing a pass to Phil Cavarretta. Andy Pafko ended this with a force of Cavarretta. In the Sox half, Reynolds singled with one out and Pafko's throw-in of the hit was slightly on the erratic side. It sailed over the infield to the grandstand, Reynolds taking second. But Farrell fanned and Dickshot hoisted to Pafko.

The Cubs threatened to bend Lo-

RICH IRON MASK PURSE WON BY VALDINA LAMAR

Pays $24 at Washington Park; Occupy Second

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

Valdina Lamar, an outsider in a field of six older sprinters, showed the way to the top rated Occupy and Three Dots, a couple of the nation's best in 1944, in the $5,000 Iron Mask purse, featured race on yesterday's Ladies' Day program at Washington Park.

The winner, owned by J. W. Edwards' Utopia stables of Oakdale, Ind., beat John Marsch's former Futurity champion by a head with a great stretch drive under the guidance of Jockey Jess Higley. Miss Ruth Sidell's Burgoo Maid was third and Three Dots fourth.

First Victory of Year

The victory was Valdina Lamar's first of the year and was accomplished with some difficulty as Occupy, Burgoo Maid and A. R. Craig's My Tetrambler broke in front and held sway until the band was half way thru the far turn. Then he moved up to third and took the lead as they made the stretch turn, but Occupy came on again and they raced heads apart the rest of the way.

Valdina Lamar paid $24, $8.20, $6.60. Occupy returned $5.20 and $5, and Burgoo Maid was worth $7.20 to show. The winner's time was 1:11 4-5 for the six furlongs.

A crowd of 19,000 gave the coordinated Arlington - Washington Park meeting its sixth million dollar mutuel handle in 13 days as $1,188,421 poured thru the machines.

Daily Double Pays $265.40

A $265.40 daily double resulted from victories by Breath Taker in the first and Marie Olympia in the second. Breath Taker, purchased earlier in the day by Miss Jeanne Denemark from the Calumet farm, and ridden by Doug Dodson, rewarded his backers with $43.80 for a win ticket. Marie Olympia, owned by Mrs. Ray Freeman and with Bobby Campbell up, paid $18.60.

Seven more big name thorobreds augmented the formidable racing colony at Washington Park over the week-end. Louis B. Mayer's Thumbs Up, Busher, and Whirlabout, along with Emil Schwartz Haupt's Jezrahel and Pukka Gin, and Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Ariel Lad and Sirde, arrived for stake engagements on the rich Arlington - Washington Park program.

Thumbs Up looms as the leading handicap horse now at the Homewood track by virtue of his brilliant victory in the recent $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap. He carried 130 pounds and still equaled Seabiscuit's track record of 2:01 1-5 for the mile and a quarter. The 6 year old son of Blenheim II will be pointed for the $50,000 Stars and Stripes, the $50,000 Arlington, and the $50,000 Washington Park handicaps.

Rullman Buys Madison A.C.; Baim to Stay

BY FRANK MASTRO

The Madison Athletic club, 4723 W. Madison st., has changed hands but will continue its sports activities, it was said last night by Elmer E. Rullman, Oak Park, new head of the organization, which has been an athletic center on the west side since its was built 24 years ago.

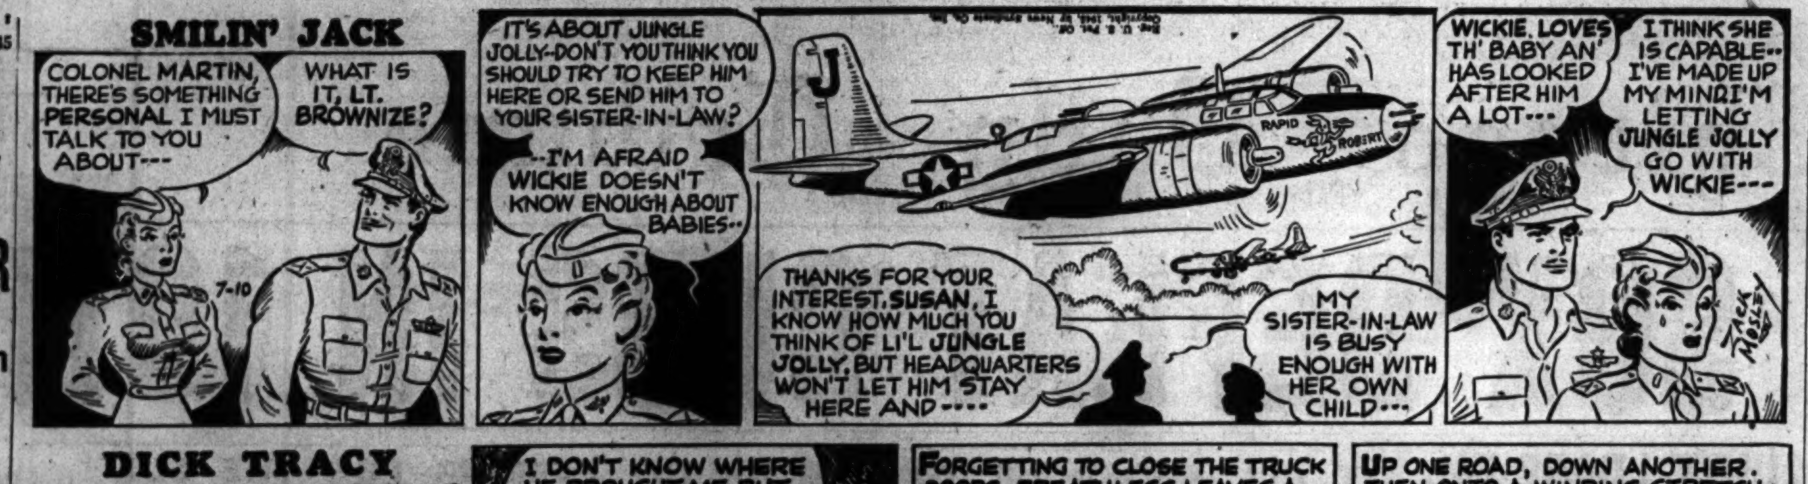

Rullman, who purchased the building from the Chicago Title and Trust company two and a half years ago, took over the place when the 10 year lease of Alexander Baim expired recently. However, Baim, who with Walter H. Buescher promotes weekly boxing shows in the Madison-Cicero outdoor arena, has entered a one year contract with Rullman whereby his boxers will retain the building's gymnasium facilities.

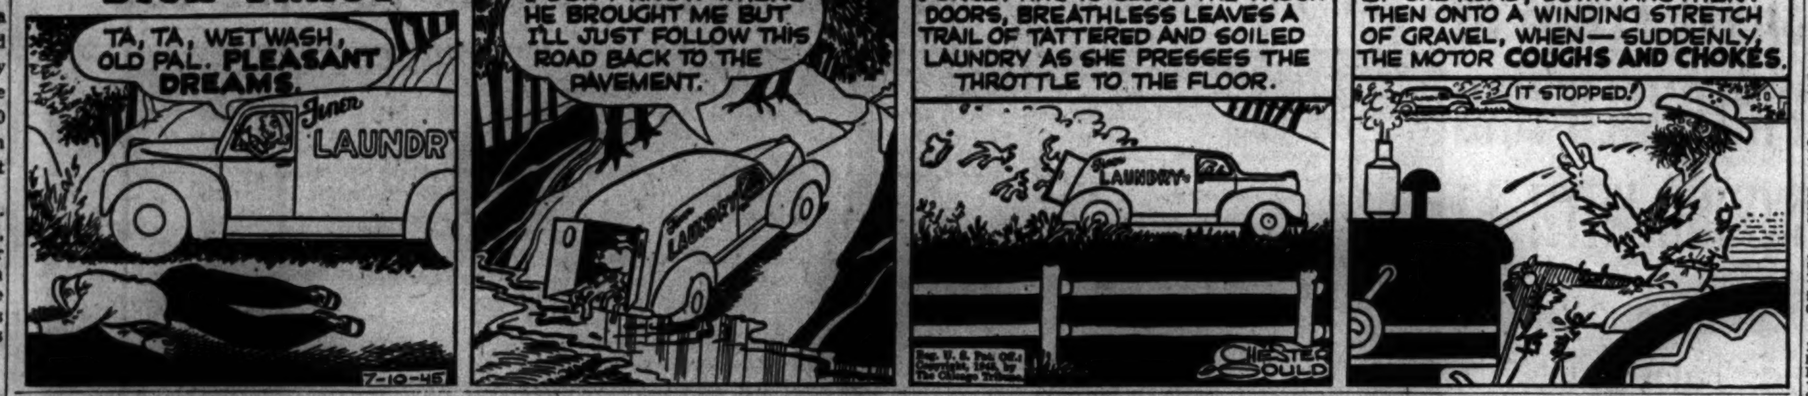

Rullman, former president of the Automatic Instrument company, will have an interest in the outdoor shows. He also will share in the profits on the indoor programs next fall, altho these will be in sole charge of Baim.

Recalling the fine work of the Madison A. C. boxers in this year's city Golden Gloves tournaments, during which the organization captured four individual titles, one in the open class and three in the novice, Rullman said the club will be represented by another strong team in next February's meet.

Dick Jungen Wins Public Links Medal

Dick Jungen, 29 year old Rockford golfer, won the qualifying medal in the 18th annual Midwest Public Links Amateur tournament by shooting a 35—35—70, two under par, at Lincoln Park's Waveland course yesterday.

Jungen who won the Rockford city championship in 1943, and Chick Edwards of Jackson park, who scored 37—34—71, were the only entrants in the record field of 175 to break par for the well trapped nine-hole lake front course. Their tasks were made more difficult by a rain storm that swept the course late in the afternoon. Jungen's foursome played the last four holes in a downpour.

Four of the 32 players who will enter the first round of match play today were exempt from qualifying. They are Former Champions Louis Esposito of Franklin Park, the defending champion; Bob Dougherty, football coach at Harrison Tech, and Harry Wils and Jim Woods, both of Waveland.

47,144 Watch Sox Defeat Cubs in 10th

pat over the ropes in the second inning, but a double play caused them to ease up. Peanuts Lowrey led off with a single and Dewey Williams connected safely in response to a hit and run sign, Lowrey taking third. This was a very pleasing situation for the National leaguers but it got them nothing. After Len Merullo had popped out, Derringer lined into the hands of Lopat who threw to Baker to double Lowrey off third.

Cubs Embarrass Mr. Baker

The Sox fans were too embarrassed to say much for a few moments after their boys had done their second inning bit. Baker opened the session with a single to left and this much was highly satisfactory. A moment later Oris Hockett flied to Pafko. Baker, observing that both Merullo and Don Johnson seemed to be chasing something, figured the something must be the ball, so he hustled to second. Upon arrival there he realized he had been the victim of trickery. He legged it back to first, but didn't arrive soon enough to escape being doubled by Pafko's throw to Cavarretta.

Two of three Cubs who faced Lopat in the third fanned and this was bad enough, but things grew worse rapidly. In the Sox' third, Lopat walked after Mike Tresh had fanned and Moses lined into Lowrey's hands. Reynolds followed with a bounder into Hack's third base section and the old fellow inadvertently gave the ball the boot. Then Farrell poked a dribbler past Derringer and it caromed off second base for a single just as Merullo was about to make a grab. It scored Lopat. Dickshot walloped his double into right, sending Reynolds and Farrell home.

Lowrey Drives in Run

The Cubs bounced right back at the start of the fourth, paced by a single by Cavarretta. Baker put a taint on the rally by fumbling Pafko's easy grounder and an instant later Lowrey whistled a single into center field, scoring Cavarretta and planting Pafko on third. Pafko registered on Williams' fly and Merullo followed with a single but Derringer fanned and Lowrey was doubled trying to steal third.

One was out in the fifth before the Cubs touched off the incident that put them ahead, 4 to 3, and sent Lopat on his way. Cass Michaels made a great stop in deep short of a grounder by Johnson but couldn't get the ball to first in time. Bill Nicholson singled to center and Johnson galloped to third. He scored the tying run on Cavarretta's single that put Nicholson on third. This was where Caldwell came in to end the inning on two force plays, one of them giving Nicholson time to score. And then everything was fairly quiet until with two out in the eighth when Moses dropped his homer into the right field seats to create the tie.

Cubs Just Miss in 10th

The Cubs didn't score in the 10th but they at least came close, raising a hubbub while so doing. Hack led off with a pass, the first to reach base since Caldwell took charge in the fifth. Hack was forced by Johnson and Nicholson doubled to the top of the right field wall, Johnson being thrown out at the plate on Reynolds' relay of Moses' throw.

The Cubs charged up with a double complaint, one that Umpire Cal Hubbard erred in calling Johnson out and the other that Nicholson's drive had been touched by a pavilion spectator, hence was a homer. Hubbard listened but stood pat on his decision. And soon thereafter the final touch was applied.

ARMY HOSPITAL BARS A MARINE, HOUSE IS TOLD

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP)—Rep. Gearhart [R., Cal.] today said he had been informed Walter Reed hospital had refused emergency treatment July 4 to a shell shocked marine veteran.

"The reason he was denied treatment," Gearhart told the house, "is that Walter Reed is an army hospital and this suffering veteran of Guadalcanal was a marine. "I didn't realize that this could happen to an American who has given his best in the service of his country."

Gearhart urged the military affairs committee to investigate the case. He suggested "an appropriate humanitarian policy" should be adopted by hospitals.

A hospital spokesman said a preliminary investigation indicated the veteran was not treated because emergency attention was not required. The spokesman said the veteran, whom he identified as Wallace Reid of Wayside, Ga., became upset by a fireworks display. He said the veteran was taken immediately to Mount Alto hospital and treated and was able to resume his studies at American university the next day.

Day by Day on the FARM

By GAIL COMPTON

July 9, 1945

THE famous insecticide, DDT, which is being used at the farm this year, is suffering from a reaction in scientific opinion. The lavish praise first given the chemical now is being held back pending further tests. The reason for the change is that DDT is so powerful and kills so many insects scientists and agriculturists now are worried for fear it will do as much harm as good.

Countless tests are underway to try to determine how widely the insecticide may be used. Concern has been expressed that if used indiscriminately the chemical might destroy large numbers of useful insects and upset the natural balance in the animal world.

Ineffective on Moths

In one test DDT was used to destroy codling moths. This it did with great effect. It did not harm mites, however, which the codling moth usually eats and the mites multiplied rapidly, attacked the trees causing the leaves to turn yellow and drop off. DDT has been found to be ineffective in destroying such insects as boll weevils, cotton leafworms, melon aphids, Mexican bean beetles, and others.

To discover how far DDT can be used in general applications over wide areas the department of agriculture is conducting an interesting test in Pennsylvania. In a woodland area covering 1,800 acres DDT is being applied by airplane. In different plots thruout the woodlands research experts have made a careful survey of insect, bird, animal, and fish life. After the spraying the experts will make another survey to see the effect of the spray.

Seek Effect on Birds, Fish

They want to find out if birds and fish are destroyed by the chemical or if following the complete destruction of most insects in the area the birds are forced to go to other feeding grounds and the fish die from lack of food.

In Iowa 100 farmers are being supplied with the chemical this year to conduct tests under actual farming conditions. They will use the insecticide in their barns to destroy flies. DDT has been found to kill flies as long as three months after the barn walls were sprayed.

Scientists still have to determine how toxic the chemical is to humans, what effect constant use will have on the soil, and what harm it might do to such animals as cows, horses, and sheep.

The chemical undoubtedly has a tremendous future but much needs to be learned before it can be recommended to the average civilian for use in home or garden.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

THE farm gardener advises home gardeners not to wait too long to uproot their pea vines, especially if a large area of the garden was planted to this crop. Six 250 foot rows of Little Marvel peas produced more than 16 bushels of pods in the farm garden, one of the best yields in many years.

A larger yield could be obtained by leaving the plants in production a little longer, but the gardener believes that during the hot weather of this month the pea production is reduced to such a point that the space can be better used for planting a late crop of bush beans, carrots, beets, cabbages, and other vegetables which still have time to mature.

The garden workers uprooted the pea vines, then picked the mature pods for the final harvest. Pea vines should not be destroyed or burned, but piled in a shady place for later use. Many gardeners use pea and bean vines late in the season for covering tomatoes and celery when frosts threaten.

B. F. GOODRICH COMPANY

In response to war requirements, Goodrich sales rose from $135,700,000 in 1939 to $419,300,000 in 1944, enabling the company to show an increase in common share earnings in the interval from $3.51 to $7.64.

The earnings a share were $7.31 in 1943, $5.73 in 1942, $5.02 in 1941, and $3.12 in 1940. These profits, determined after large contingency reserves each year except 1940, reflect the high operating rate. This made possible a reduction in the expense ratio at a time when war conditions lessened or eliminated competitive practices and raw material fluctuations which had impaired earning power in some pre-war years.

In the five years ended with 1938, earnings averaged only 70 cents a common share. The early post-war outlook is promising because of accumulated civilian needs, but later earnings prospects are not clear. The Goodrich funded debt was refinanced last May with a 35 million dollar bond issue carrying the low coupon rate of 2¾ per cent. The 412,031 shares of $5 preferred stock are callable at $100 a share, but no plans for redemption of the issue have been announced.

The bond indenture places restrictions on common dividend payments, but the current $2 rate seems well protected for the present. Book value of the 1,303,255 common shares exceeded $55 a share at the close of 1944, an increase of $29 since 1939.

Tire sales normally are believed to have represented about 60 per cent of revenues, with a wide variety of mechanical goods, footwear, and other products making up the remainder.

NEBRASKA FIRMS BOREN ATTACKED ARE DEFENDED

Washington, D. C., July 9 [Special]—Rep. Buffett [R., Neb.] today endorsed investigation of holding company activities by a house subcommittee, but defended Nebraska corporations criticized by Chairman Boren [D., Okla.] Omaha Electric Committee, Inc., is "a temporary vehicle to bridge the gap between private and public ownership," Buffett said. Until publicly owned, it will continue to pay taxes and after that will and should have the same freedom from taxes as other government-owned utilities, he insisted.

Boren told the house Friday that Wall st. promoters had found loopholes in the holding company act thru which they were permitted to make millions "by forming trick nonprofit corporations." He said that the Omaha committee which took over common stock of Nebraska Power company is "a synthetic nonprofit corporation" which "deliberately purchased the property at a fictitiously high price."

At Lincoln, Neb., Gov. Dwight Griswold said he doubted Boren "is much of an expert on the value of electric properties."

MIDLAND UNITED LAWYERS' FEES HEARING OPENS

Wilmington, Del., July 9 (AP)—Final action in the 11 year old Midland United reorganization case, an aftermath of the depression era crash of the late Samuel Insull's utility empire, was begun today in United States District court. Arguments for attorneys' claims totaling $2,140,087 were heard by Circuit Judge John Biggs.

The Midland United company and Midland Utilities, Inc., case for reorganization was filed June 9, 1934. Because of the size of the corporations and the Insull utility empire, centered in Chicago, combined with complex financial structures in each instance, the suit dragged on for years.

Following approval of the reorganization plan, one appeal was submitted, but this has been withdrawn by stipulation and the plan put into action with Midland United and Midland Utilities operating utility corporations.

SPEED SURPLUS GOODS DISPOSAL, MAVERICK URGES

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 9 (AP)—Maury Maverick, chairman of Smaller War Plants corporation, today said distribution of war surplus goods must be made "quicker and better, or it will be one of the worst scandals in the country." Because of red tape, it now "takes too long to get this stuff out," he said.

Maverick is making a tour to help discharged soldiers start businesses and prepare smaller business companies for the post-war period. He said surveys showed at least 1 million service men wished to set up their own businesses or in professions after their discharges.

RAILROADS HAUL RECORD 6 MONTH VOLUME OF GRAIN

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP)—American railroads carried more grain and grain products in the first half of 1945 than in any corresponding period in history, the office of defense transportation said today. The 1,243,473 cars moved compared with 1,209,403 cars in the first six months of 1944 and the previous peak of 1,231,081 in 1943.

Director Johnson said a decrease of grain in elevators from 115,016,000 bushels June 23, 1944, to 109,287,000 bushels on the same date this year indicated an easing of the storage situation.

REJECTS PLEA TO LIFT CREDIT CURBS FOR VET

Danger of Inflation Told by Board

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Warning of inflationary dangers, the board of governors of the federal reserve system has rejected a proposal to exempt veterans from war time credit restrictions on instalment purchases. In a letter made public today by Rep. Eberharter [D., Pa.], Chester Morrill, secretary of the board, said such a change might drive prices up and saddle the veterans with debts.

Eberharter had urged exemption for veterans from regulations which require purchasers of durable goods to make substantial down payments and complete payments within a year.

Argues Against Barrier

In a house speech last month, he had protested that this ruling was preventing the returning fighter "with his pittance of pay in service, from procuring the furnishings for a small home, the equipment to set up civilian housekeeping, [and] the things necessary to get or keep a job."

Morrill replied that control of inflation was in the veterans' interest.

"If as a group they should find upon their return that the prices of things they desired were out of all reason, they would not feel that their interests had been protected in their absence," he asserted.

Step Toward Nullification

"Nor would they find it in their interest if it were made possible for sellers who would like to be relieved from this regulation to load them down with goods at war time prices under the lure of easier credit terms.

"The results in many cases would be to saddle them with burdensome debt, which would also deprive them of the means of enjoying the wider opportunities afforded by unrestricted production which we expect to come when hostilities cease.

"Moreover, veterans and their families and dependent relatives are becoming more and more numerous, so that an exemption would be a long step in the direction of nullifying the regulation before that action is justified."

ASKS MASSACHUSETTS INVESTIGATE BOSTON; BANKRUPTCY HINTED

Boston, Mass., July 9 (AP)—Stating that competent authorities described Boston as standing "at the threshhold of municipal bankruptcy," Speaker Frederick B. Willis of the Massachusetts house of representatives today filed an order calling for a legislative investigation of the city's financial and administrative structure.

Willis said that the legislature in this session had appropriated 15 million dollars for development of the Boston airport and that another 15 million dollars was sought for a port of Boston authority to develop the city's harbor facilities.

"While the legislature is in the very process of adopting this gigantic program," Willis said, "we hear persistent warnings that Boston stands at the threshhold of municipal bankruptcy.

"With a tax rate of $42.50, Boston today is the highest taxed city of any of the large municipalities in the United States."

Willis said that records disclosed that the per capita cost of government, exclusive of schools, was $61.13, a larger amount than in any of the other large cities of the United States.

GIs Examine Hardware as Store Opening

Among the small enterprises that are attracting the attention of returning veterans who are planning to set themselves up in businesses of their own are retail hardware stores. The number of these establishments licensed in Chicago has dropped from 1,149 in 1941 to 1,127 as of June 1, 1945.

C. J. Whipple

C. J. Whipple, president of the 100 year old company of Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., Chicago wholesaler of hardware and related lines, believes there will be "plenty of opportunities" for trained and energetic young men in the retail hardware field when merchandise again becomes plentiful.

Training, Ability Essential

Holding to the view that training and ability are the most essential requirements for successful operation in this line, he recommends that every veteran contemplating entry into this business prepare himself by taking a job for one year in a retail establishment, preferably a hardware store.

Whipple believes the average initial investment in inventory and fixtures for an adequately stocked and properly equipped store should be approximately $15,000, but this amount does not necessarily in all cases have to be provided by the veteran if he appears to qualify as a capable hardware merchant.

"In the past, statistics prove, a majority of small business enterprises failed for lack of capital, but in my nearly 40 years' experience I cannot recall a dealer who failed who possessed the requisite training and ability," Whipple said.

Many Dealers Aided

"My company for 90 years has not hesitated to provide the credit and much of the capital for hardware dealers who had the training and ability, but who at the start lacked the cash. There are thousands of dealers in the west whose financial success is due to this backing.

"We plan to continue this policy. When the war is over, and when merchandise again is available, we shall welcome veterans in the retail hardware business, and we shall back them up with all we have. But they must be used to hard work, long hours, and personal sacrifices if they want to work to be their own bosses."

ALMOST 42,000 CONTINUE IDLE THRU STRIKES

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS]

The national total of strike idle fell to 41,987 yesterday, the lowest in nearly a month as strikers returned in Detroit and Cleveland and the threat of a new Akron rubber walkout was averted.

In the only new major walkout a strike of 6,000 AFL machinists and moulders halted all operations at National Cast Iron Pipe company in Birmingham, Ala. The plant is a large producer of 155 mm. shells.

A strike of 524 polishers, CIO United Automobile Workers, ended at the Graham-Paige Motors corporation plant in Detroit.

In Cleveland, CIO United Steel Workers returned to their jobs at Republic Steel corporation's continuous strip mill after a week-long walkout that closed the plant.

In Akron, a threatened tieup of another big rubber plant was averted as normal operations were resumed at B. F. Goodrich company after a week's shutdown for machinery overhaul.

The Firestone Tire and Rubber company, employing 16,500, has been strikebound since July 1. Workers are members of the CIO United Rubber Workers.

TANNERS PREDICT BIG CIVILIAN SHOES GAIN THRU ARMY CUTBACK

New York, July 9 (AP)—The sole leather bureau of the Tanners Council of America today estimated an increase of about 3 million pairs a month in civilian shoes with leather soles and uppers as a result of army order cutbacks, effective after August.

In Washington the army announced the output of combat boots will be reduced in September from 2,100,000, the July-August production rate, to 1,500,000 and service shoes will be lowered from 700,000 to 350,000 pairs. The decreased schedule will be continued thruout the fourth quarter of the year. Announcement at this time provides a 60 day period for the industry to prepare for increased civilian production.

Pullman's Car Output Hinges on Materials

Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company's production of railroad passenger cars before Dec. 31 hinges on the availability of materials, Wallace N. Barker, vice president, said yesterday.

Normally five or six months are required to manufacture a railroad passenger car and volume production requires a steady flow of thousands of items, including textiles which are scarce, he explained.

Barker predicted an accelerated demand for new passenger cars and recalled figures of the American Railway Car institute which showed that about half the 37,940 railroad passenger cars in service Jan. 1, 1944 were more than 25 years old and that 12 per cent were 21 to 25 years old.

Box Car Demand Large

Box car demand is also likely to be heavy. Railroads that have submitted estimates of their equipment needs to the Association of American Railroads and the office of defense transportation indicated they intended to purchase 16,925 freight cars of all types in the first 1946 quarter, Dow-Jones, financial news service, reported.

It said that among the roads that would submit inquiries to car builders soon were Baltimore and Ohio, 500 box cars and 500 hopper cars; Bessemer and Lake Erie, 1,000 hoppers; Canadian National, 300 refrigerator cars and 2,500 box cars; Louisville and Nashville, 1,000 box cars and 1,000 hoppers; New York Central, 750 covered hoppers; Reading, 500 box cars, and Southern, 1,000 box cars.

"It has been the hope of our company to complete construction of some of the hundreds of new design cars it now has on order before Dec. 31," Barker said. "To do so, however, we must have hundreds of different types of raw, semi-finished, and finished materials. Contrary to general belief, on a dollar basis rolled steel makes up only slightly more than 6 per cent of all that goes into a light weight passenger car.

Many Items Needed

"When assembly of the car body begins there must be such items and air brakes, axles, wheels, lighting, heating, and plumbing equipment, flooring, wire, cable, and conduit.

"Even the inner furnishings of railroad cars must be ready for installation two weeks after the frame assembly if production bottlenecks are to be prevented. These include a wide range of items such as seats, blinds, water coolers, doors, plumbing fixtures, ventilators, batteries, and linoleum."

Barker said that delivery of new cars will start late in 1945 if conditions permit.

Synthetic Rubber Plant Will Be Built on Campus

Newark, Del., July 9 (AP)—A synthetic rubber research plant soon will be erected on the University of Delaware campus. The temporary building will be used by researchers to study distillation of butadiene, Dr. Allan P. Colbourn, head of the university's chemical engineering department, said.

STOCK MARKET SWINGS HIGHER IN DULL TRADE

A.T.&T. Advances $6 a Share

New York, July 9 (AP) — Investment demand for "blue chips" with attractive actual or potential dividend yields pushed the stock market higher today in slow trade.

American Telephone was a leader from the start on the belief it was "behind" the market when the $9 dividend was taken into consideration. This issue closed up 6 points at 183¼, a high since 1937.

Sears Roebuck exemplified the "thinness" of the market by rising a point or more between sales. It ended up 4¾ at 120¾. Directors were expected to announce a four-for-one split tomorrow.

Prices rose selectively at the opening, but laggards were plentiful. Dealings were sluggish thruout altho they quickened in tridle in the last hour. Many pivotals closed at or near the highs. Transfers of 800,000 shares, compared with 960,000 Friday, were smallest for a full session since April 10.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was up 0.7 at 66.6, largest advance since May 28.

TELEPHONE BONDS RISE

New York, July 9 (AP)—The 3 per cent bonds of American Telephone and Telegraph company rose 6 points in a slow moving, but steady market today. The advance lifted the telephone company issue to 142½, a new high. Total sales were $4,590,000 against $5,230,000 Friday.

CHICAGO LIST ADVANCES

Prices rose on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday and turnover was 24,000 shares. Active issues included Chicago corporation, Peabody Coal, Libby, McNeill & Libby, and Central and South West Utilities, each down ½, and Commonwealth Edison unchanged.

Cotton Acreage Falls 9.8 Pct.; July Rye, in Wide Swing, Dips

Smallest Since 1885

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP)—Acreage of cotton in cultivation July 1 was estimated by the department of agriculture today at 18,355,000 acres, a drop of 2 million acres or 9.8 per cent from last year, and 30 per cent less than the 10 year [1934-'43] average.

The acreage planted in 1945 is only 40 per cent of the record of 45,968,000 acres planted in 1925. Assuming an acreage abandonment equal to the average of the last 10 years, a total of 18,034,000 acres is indicated for harvest—the smallest in the United States since 1885.

Acreage Cut in Most States

All states except the western irrigated states show smaller acreages than last year. Almost half of the total acreage reduction is in Texas, largely as a result of drouth.

Substantial decreases are also indicated for the Mississippi river lowland areas of Missouri, Arkansas, and Louisiana, where excessive and continued rainfall during the spring interfered with planting.

North Carolina, Georgia, and Florida also show large reductions.

In addition to unfavorable planting weather difficulties in obtaining adequate labor was given as one of the reasons for the reduction in planting.

Grains Close Uneven

Grain markets turned easy in late trading yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade after a firm start, with July rye up 2⅛ cents at $1.48 a bushel. Scattered selling developed and the price fell to $1.41½ before a rally to close at $1.44 to $1.44¼, a net decline of 1¾ cents. Trading in July rye was restricted to liquidation of contracts—7,549,000 bushels at the opening.

Deferred deliveries of rye closed ⅛ cent lower to ⅝ cent higher. Wheat finished ½ lower to ⅝ higher, corn unchanged to ¼ higher, oats, independently strong, up ⅛ to ⅜, and barley unchanged to up ⅜.

Storage Supplies Short

Shorts in July rye were reported to be in a precarious position as the result of a steady reduction in the supply held in storage. Stocks decreased 400,000 bushels last week to 3,260,000 bushels, much earmarked for export to Europe or owned by distillers. A year ago stocks were 12⅞ million bushels.

Hedging pressure, largely in July and September, depressed the wheat market at times, but distant months had commission house support.

Brokers said a natural corner existed in July corn, trading in which will cease July 23. Little corn is available for delivery.

ATTACKS B. & O. FINANCING; ROAD TERMED SOUND

Baltimore, Md., July (AP)—An affidavit in opposition to Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company's financial adjustment plan awaiting United States District court approval was filed today by a New York bondholder who said the company was able to meet all its debts despite contentions to the contrary.

The affidavit was filed by Randolph Phillips of New York, who said that when the company obtained approval of a similar plan in 1939 it said it would require no further adjustment. Phillips said the B. & O. had made a net profit since then of about $134,700,000 plus a profit of about 35 million on purchase of bonds and notes below par.

He contended that the company has on hand 70 million in cash and cash investments and a net working capital of about 40 million. He also reported that its outstanding debts had been reduced to $82,393,114 as of June 25, 1945.

Australian Wheat Farmers Seek to Increase Acreage

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 9—Australian wheat growers have applied for permission to sow more than 13,500,000 acres compared with less than 8 million acres last season and more than 14 million in 1938-'39. More than 3,250,000 acres also will be sown on wheat farms for hay.

National Steel Reduces Funded Debt 14½ Million

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 9 [Special]—National Steel corporation has retired in advance of redemption date 4½ million dollars of serial notes and has purchased 10 million dollars of its 3 per cent mortgage bonds, the company reported today. Reducing its debt by 14½ million dollars, the transactions eliminated requirement for sinking fund payments for 13 years, it said.

ANDERSON PLAN TO BOOST MEAT SUPPLY BEGINS

Admit U.S. Policies Fostered Scarcity

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson today set in motion a plan to increase cleanly operated slaughtering by local packing houses and add their meat to the nation's general supply.

Clinton P. Anderson

His announcement followed a department of agriculture report which expressed the view that government price policies were partly responsible for the meat shortage.

Boost Civilian Supply

A department spokesman said Anderson's program should increase the civilian supply, equalize distribution, and have "some effect in curbing the black market."

The program results from an amendment sponsored by Rep. Patman [D., Tex.] which congress added to the bill extending price control for another year.

It provides for unlimited slaughter by nonfederally inspected plants, if they are certified by the department of agriculture as being operated in a sanitary manner. Their meat is to be made eligible to move in inter-

For many manufacturers the imminence of war contract cancellation poses problems in the financing of their reconversion programs.

Termination loans arranged in advance of contract settlement will speed the release of funds prior to final adjustment of claims and provide working capital for civilian production.

Contractors and subcontractors who have substantial investments in war contracts may find helpful a discussion of this problem with the officers of our Commercial Banking Department. We extend a cordial invitation to arrange such a meeting, now, to avoid delays that may later attend a more general cancellation of war contracts.

THE ALAMO and the oil derrick are truly symbolic of the West South Central States—the one recalling their heroic historical background, the other their rising industrial importance.

Dominating the trade routes from the rich Mississippi Valley to the Panama Canal and to the increasingly important Central and South American markets, new impetus has been added recently to the shipping, manufacturing, trading and banking facilities of these states to that which previously resulted from their own steadily accelerating internal development.

As in other growing sections, outside funds, made available through the facilities of investment organizations such as our own, have contributed substantially to the municipal and industrial development of this area. Investors, in turn, have found this service important in making available advantageous employment of their surplus funds.

Anderson stressed that the government must be satisfied [1] that OPA price, rationing, and other regulations are being and have been observed; [2] that the meat will move in legitimate trade channels within legal price ceilings; [3] that the plants meet prescribed sanitary standards; [4] that meat production will be supervised by qualified veterinary inspectors, and [5] that the plant will participate in providing meat required by governmental agencies.

How Slaughter Is Divided

No specific date was announced when the program would be effective. At present, about two-thirds of the meat slaughter comes from federally inspected plants, and the remainder goes thru plants which are not federally inspected, are under quotas, and cannot ship the meat across state lines.

In effect the department's report agreed with the house food shortage investigating committee which, in recent reports, listed changes in hog price support programs and the ineffectiveness of such programs in preventing a break in hog prices as major causes of a reduced level of pork production.

The department said meat production during the first half of 1945 was about 12 per cent smaller than a year earlier. It predicted that production the remainder of the year will be less than a year ago.

Feed Ratio Unfavorable

This drop in production reflects a decline of 34 per cent in the 1944 fall pig crop and a decline of 9 per cent in the 1945 spring crop. The fall crop provided the country's pork supply for the March-September period of this year.

The department said this falling off in hog numbers reflected "the relatively unfavorable hog-feed price ratios in the summer and early fall of 1944, and the unfortunate experience of many farmers in marketing 1943 crop hogs in the winter and spring of 1944."

"The reduction in the government hog support prices from $13.75 to $12.50 per hundred pounds, Chicago basis, effective Oct. 1, 1944, probably had some influence on farmers' plans," the report said.

SUPPLY OF LIVE STOCK SLUMPS; PRICES STEADY

Meat animal receipts declined seasonally yesterday, particularly hogs and lambs. Twenty principal markets received 203,000 cattle, hogs, sheep, and lambs, 20 per cent fewer than the 255,000 the preceding Monday and 37 per cent less than the 324,000 handled a year ago.

Only 8,500 hogs arrived at the Chicago stock yards, including shipments direct to packers, the lowest Monday volume since April 2, and compared with 23,023 a year ago.

Cattle receipts, at 17,500, were above the 16,211 received a week earlier, but under the 19,114 two weeks ago. Firm prices were paid for most better grades, while others were steady to weak. Top loads brought the $18 ceilings.

Only 6,500 sheep and lambs arrived, including direct to packer supplies, the smallest for Monday since Feb. 26. Prices were steady.

More Meat, Sugar Asked as Aid to Steel Workers

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP)—Steel workers of Colorado Fuel and Iron corporation at Pueblo, Colo., must have more meat and sugar if they are to work overtime shifts, Rep. Chenoweth [R., Colo.] told the OPA today. He said he was informed the men are unable to work required overtime because of inadequate lunches.

CASH GRAIN PRICES

Receipts of new wheat are increasing rapidly, brokers reported yesterday. One firm received six cars of new red winter wheat which met with a good demand. Only part of the arrivals were sold and the balance applied on previous contracts. Large receipts in the southwest, including 1,224 cars at Kansas City, indicated that liberal quantities of cash wheat might be shipped to Chicago as prices in Kansas City are about on a shipping basis. Deliveries of cash wheat yesterday on July contracts included 90,000 bu at Chicago and 80,000 bu at Kansas City.

Country offerings of cash corn remained small, and receipts light. Illinois and Indiana feed manufacturers were reported trying to secure cash corn at Kansas City, but meeting with little success owing to the heavy demand. Ceiling prices are being paid in all leading markets.

Demand for cash oats was active and prices were quoted ½@1c higher.

DRY GOODS

NEW YORK, July 9 AP—The cotton textile market was quiet today as selling houses awaited issuance of the new percentage allocations on goods for the third quarter. Only scattered lots of print cloths and sheetings were reported sold for quick delivery.

Wool goods were also quiet as mills continued to operate heavily on military procurements. Further study was being made on the civilian goods situation following the recent easing in the freeze on worsted goods.
